OPEN LETTER TO THE BEVERLY HILLS CITY COUNCIL

As residents and voters in Beverly Hills, we find the current school board election to be shocking and unprecedented! It's well-known Councilmember Barry Brucker and his wife who are the campaign managers for the reelection of school board president Nooshin

In the past, our city has had a tradition of council and school board member not endorsing candidates. It's important that whoever wins the election be able to work together harmoniously. Since city funds, under the joint powers agreement, flow from the city to the school district, decisions should be made strictly on the merits and not be biased by an acrimonious political campaign. City councilmembers should be above the pettiness and distortions that have emanated from this campaign season instead of being at the core of the prob-

Councilmember Brucker has gone far beyond what has traditionally been considered appropriate conduct in city elections. He is an advocate where the other council members have remained silent to their credit. We believe because of this, Mr. Brucker has forfeited his right to serve as a member of the JPA committee. In addition, he should not be permitted to vote on matters affecting the school district since he has clearly shown he is conflicted. Mr. Brucker was elected to represent the city. He is responsible for the city's affairs, not the school district's. The misuse of Mr. Brucker's office reflects poorly on the council as a whole. We strongly recommend that the council pass a resolution recommending that members of the city council NOT endorse or take a position in future city council or school board campaigns. We ask the city council to request an opinion from the city attorney to look into this matter to determine if any impropriety has been committed and ask the same of the Fair Practices Political Commission.

I want to thank Mr. Hiatt for agreeing that my numbers are correct and acknowledging that the funds we receive from the State of California do not cover the cost of educating any students in BHUSD. I also agree with Mr. Hiatt that we have and should continue to treat each and every student alike, and I appreciate that our teachers, staff and administration model that behavior each and every day in the classroom. Since we seem to agree on this I am at a loss to understand why Mr. Hiatt continues to try and make the case that Opportunity Permit children cost less than res-

Board of Education Candidates to Participate in Election Forum

All four candidates for the Board of Education election will respond to detailed questions at the Candidates Forum scheduled for tonight, Oct. 22, at 7:30 pm at City Hall.

Lisa Korbatov, Jake Manaster, Craig Davis and Nooshin Meshkaty will debate questions provided by moderators Ken Goldman, Nadine Neiman and Chris Biehl during the forum.

The forum will be televised on city and school district channels beginning Fri., Oct. 23.

Beverly Hills Public Library to Partake in Darwin 150th Anniversary

Renowned scholar, best-selling author and critic of Darwinian theory David Berlinski will participate in a series of events timed to the 150th anniversary of the publication of Darwin's "On the Origin of Species" at the Beverly Hills Public Library.

Berlinski's appearance is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 27 at 7:30 pm, and will include a presentation on the controversy between Darwinian Evolution and Intelligent Design.

Berlinski is a senior fellow at the Discovery Institute and author of many books, including The Devil's Delusion: Atheism and its Scientific Pretensions which was just released in paperback and the forthcoming The Deniable Darwin and Other Essays.

The Darwin 150th Anniversary titled "The Darwin Debates: A Forum for Dialogue" — sponsored by the American Freedom Alliance — will be held in various West Los Angeles venues for five days starting Oct. 25.

"It is time to bring this important debate into the public consciousness in a way that allows for freedom of opinion to flourish," said Avi Davis, senior fellow of the American Freedom Alliance. "New scientific evidence makes it vital that we take a close look at the numerous inherent scientific problems of the Darwinian theory of evolution."

Beverly High Graduate Paul Rosen Now Serving in U.S. Dept. of Justice

Class of 1996 graduate Paul Rosen credits his father, former planning commissioner Ron Rosen, for instilling what he says prompted him to pursue a career in public service - a sense of charity.

"From an early age, both my parents, by action more than anything, instilled in me a sense of giving your time and giving back to the community," said Rosen, whose mother is a teacher at a private school in West Hollywood. "I also admired their commitment - whether they were PTA meetings or planning commission meetings or other acts for the community. They were both always committed to making time for those things."

Rosen, who also attended Hawthorne School, said he mostly remembers his Beverly High government classes.

"I look back with great fondness on the government classes I took at [Beverly High]," Rosen said. "It was always what excited me the most.'

Rosen said he is still close with two of his high school friends — Josh Friedman and Ryan Franks, Beverly High's current girls varsity soccer coach. Friedman is a Beverly Hills attorney specializing in person injury for his own private law firm.

"The chance to interact with a diverse and vibrant student body was great, and [BHHS] provided that," Rosen said.

Rosen currently serves as counsel to the assistant attorney general in the criminal division Lanny A. Breuer of the U.S. Department of Justice in Washington, D.C. Rosen advises Breuer on criminal law matters such as major policy initiatives in connection with the department's key law enforcement priorities.

Specifically, Rosen has been involved in efforts to combat international drug and firearms trafficking.

"It's a wonderful experience," said Rosen. "It's a remarkable institution, and it an an honor to work with people who sacrifice so much to work in public service. [They're] very hardworking people [with a] unique set of motivations to do good, to do justice and above all else, be Rosen has also worked with Vice President Joe Biden for many years.

Prior to joining the Department of Justice, Rosen served on the Obama-Biden Presidential Transition Project, where he assisted Biden in building and staffing his office. From 2006 to 2009, Rosen was counsel to then-Sen. Biden on the U.S. Senate Committee on the Judiciary. Rosen also served as staff director to the Senate Caucus on International Narcotics Control, which Biden chaired.

During his time in these positions, Rosen advised Biden on drug control, policy, federal sentencing laws, firearms policy, judicial nominations and various business law and intellectual property matters.

"[What is meaningful about public service is] the chance to really have a hand in shaping national policy, national priorities, and have a meaningful impact on people's lives," Rosen said. "I think being in the senate [and] really shaping what our law looks like, what issues should be debated, when considering laws, what the ramifications are to all people, are all experiences that motivated me to continue pursuing a career in public service in Washington, D.C."

After high school, Rosen went on to college at the University of Colorado, ident students. My data does not come from Dr. Goldberg but rather the budget approved by the Board of Education and submitted by district staff to both the Los Angeles County Office of Education and the California Department of Education. I am also confused with the scare tactics being spread by the Board majority and Mr. Hiatt that if we elect to not renew Opportunity Permits that we would have to let go of teachers or close a school to realize any savings.

Fact: 1) Under Basic Aid we will receive a block grant of funds.

Fact: 2) If we choose non-renewal of Opportunity Permit holders we will have less students.

Fact: 3) We can redistribute the limited funds we have over less students, thereby reducing class sizes, increasing the number of electives and offering more programs with the current staff we have Fact: 4) We are not building a wall around Beverly Hills, providing permit parents a year to plan for their child's education is more than fair and will allow Opportunity Permit families the time to move into Beverly Hills, apply to the private school of their choice or return to their home schools.

The expansion of opportunity permits over the last eight years has not brought the promised benefits to our district, and now, as we enter basic aid status, we will be deterring more resources away from our resident students. This policy of outsourcing our students has resulted in a steady decline in support for neighborhood schools and decreased the incentive for young families to move into Beverly Hills. We have seen what the last eight years has brought to our district. Now is the time to give a new voice and leadership a chance to move our district forward and return BHUSD to its place among the top public school districts in the state.

Lee Lewis Beverly Hills

Thank you Stephanie Lehrer and Bob Bailey, teachers at Hawthorne School, for remembering when our schools were fully staffed and our teaching goals were clear: we wanted each student to reach their full potential, become critical thinkers, skilled researchers, and ethical users of all information available.

The U.S. Department of Education released national test scores that confirmed the need for a library in every school, staffed by a state-certified library media specialist. (Use these keywords for current research: reading scores and tests and librarians.)

This information should come as no surprise to our district staff, administrators and parents. Yet in the same issue [524] of the Beverly Hills Weekly, I read that Karen Boyarsky is the only librarian in the BHUSD at this time. [Coinciding with a cut in hours and staffing at the Beverly Hills Public Library.]

Information on test scores and librarians (and reading specialists) can be found on the Internet by typing keywords – librarians and statistics and test scores.

PS. In the same issue, if "we need to remember that by law, school board and city council races are non-partisan" why does Rudy Cole ramble on for about 14 paragraphs? Party affiliation is not and should not be a factor in our local elections.

Helen Walder-Rogaway, MLS Former Horace Mann Librarian

Councilmember John Mirisch initiated a motion to outlaw cat declawing. The only reason Mirisch pointed to at the hearing for banning the surgery was that if it isn't banned by December 31st, a new state law will keep the city from doing so in the future.

In July of this year over 90 percent of our State Legislature voted Senate Bill 762 into law. SB 762 was specifically designed to place medical issues as complex and emotionally charged as this in the hands of professional, well-staffed and resourced medical boards. The theory is that veterinary medicine and the interaction between veterinarians and their patients should be governed by medical experts, not politicians.

Councilmember Mirisch stated that the Beverly Hills City Council is better qualified than the California Veterinary Medical Board to address this issue, and it was incumbent upon the council to enact this ordinance before the new state law takes effect.

It is true that many people either can't or won't control their cats and too quickly decide to take the cat in to be declawed. Therein lies the rub...some people feel cat owners should never have the option to declaw their animal except for medical reasons. To prevent cat owners from allowing their cat to be declawed, ban proponents believe it should be made illegal and enforced with criminal penalties of up to six months in jail.

Many elderly folks, particularly those taking Coumadin, are at high risk of serious infection and even death as a result of cat scratches. We hear horror stories of households where young children have been disfigured by aggressive cats. AIDS patients have been routinely advised to either relinquish their cat or have it declawed. Should these people be forced to become criminals if they decide to keep their animals?

The AVMA, American Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA), the Humane Society of the United States (HSUS), and many national and local veterinary and animal welfare associations all believe that declawing must continue to be an option of last resort. They believe that when it is a matter of surrender to the pound (and possible Euthanasia) or declaw, then declaw is obviously preferred.

The same holds true for thousands of Medical Doctors, AIDS specialists, Epidemiologists, and caregivers to immune compromised individuals who run an increased risk of serious complications or death from a cat scratch. Those specialists have looked to the literature and found that declawing DOES NOT turn cats into biters nor does it materially alter their behavior.

Instead of a ban, people should be trained on the many wonderful alternatives to declaw that are usually effective. They should be educated and be exposed to organizations that can help them modify their cat's behavior if necessary, not thrown in iail.

But if the city wants to ban declawing they should not rush to judgment. They should instead look at the facts. The amount of manipulation and twisting of the data by the ban proponents is ridiculous. Their statements that declaw bans are widespread are patently false. Their statements that declawing turns cats into litter box avoiders, biters, and cripples are just not borne out by the responsible studies

It comes down to a matter of choice. Should the city council be telling people what's best for them? Should politicians insert themselves between doctors and their patients? Do politicians have the expertise and the resources to legislate on this tremendously complex issue?

Councilmember John Mirisch responds:

Onychectomy, commonly known as declawing, is the practice of amputating a cat's first paw joints, including the claw, at the first knuckle. Indeed, I find this practice to be a prima facie instance of animal cruelty and I don't need Big Brother in Sacramento or a Veterinary Board to tell me otherwise. The ordinance we have proposed, however, also does recognize the need for medical exceptions, and would include a provision allowing for medically necessitated onychectomy for the welfare of the animal.

SB 762, which Ms. Gottlieb refers to, is yet another example of Sacramento usurping local power. Yet again the politicians in Sacramento, who simply don't play by the same rules, want to tell us how to live our lives in our own Community. The utter mess that is our State government is yet another good reason why even more decision-making should be devolved to local communities and why we need to do the right thing even if our State government can't or won't. After we recently passed an ordinance to reduce the feral cat population in a humane way. I feel that it is in the interests of our City and residents to be consistent and ban a practice that is both cruel and unnecessary. And pardon me if I harbor a certain mistrust of state boards, the California Board of Registered Nursing being just the latest textbook example of incompetence. Pardon me if I have a lack of confidence that Sacramento state boards, which have a history of being manipulated by lobbyists and special interests, will ultimately do the right thing.

Ms. Gottlieb tries to portray the issue of declawing cats as a matter of choice, and a ban on cosmetic declawing as unreasonable interference by local government and an example of the City Council trying to insert itself between doctors and patients. This portrayal of the proposed ordinance is simply fallacious. I doubt that Ms. Gottlieb, or any other individual, would make a conscious choice to have her joints amputated to the first knuckle, but if she did, then at least the decision would be her own. The difference here is that cats and other animals can't and don't choose elective cosmetic surgery.

There is nothing complex about ending barbaric and cruel procedures that cause animals needless suffering for the convenience of their guardians. We have to face the fact that perhaps not everybody can or should be a pet guardian. Other countries realize this and contrary to what Ms. Gottlieb writes, there are indeed significant restrictions and prohibitions on declawing in numerous other countries.

I do agree with Ms. Gottlieb that more education about alternatives to declawing would be important and that potential pet guardians should know what they are getting themselves into before they get a pet. Being responsible for the welfare of an animal is a serious commitment, and both the individual pet guardian as well as society as a whole need to be active in safeguarding those who cannot protect themselves. The simple truth is that a kitty is not just for Chanukah.

After law school at USC, Rosen worked as a law clerk to Judge Gary Allen Feess of the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California.

two separate communities: One is inhabited by the very involved and the other by those who just love living and working here, and have no special gripe with "the way things are," to quote a phrase from the movie "Babe."

As an example of this bifurcated condition, the current school board race has engendered enormous energy and considerable disagreement on some basic issues facing our schools: out-of-district student permits, pending lawsuits, choice of the next superintendent, to name a few on the school board plate.

Four candidates, including three challengers and one incumbent, are running for Sometimes I wonder if we don't live in two seats on the board and despite some very vigorous, intense and expensive campaigning by at least three of the contenders, less than 20 percent of the eligible voters will cast a ballot on Tuesday, November 2!

> Although city council elections do only slightly better, there is a failure of many in our city to make the link between the maintenance of first rate public education services and our whole quality of life.

> Inevitably, a deterioration of educational services could lead to lower property values, first in the residential areas, and inevitably in the commercial zones, since they are so interdependent.

> The decline in voter involvement in board races can also be attributed to the declining number of families who actually have children in our schools and the perception that our schools remain among the best in the world.

There is one more reason why this election may have little meaning, even to those involved in the education process: the results are in, this next board will have a very different majority, no matter who

When Steven Fenton and Brian David Goldberg won two years ago, ousting incumbent Alissa Roston and replacing John Millan, who opted not to seek a second term, the board began the change in direction that this election will complete. With incumbent Dr. Myra Demeter deciding not to run for reelection, the trio of Demeter, Myra Lurie and Nooshin Meshkaty will not be in the majority, even if, as expected, Meshkaty wins reelection.

Challengers Lisa Korbatov and Jake Manaster, one of whom is certain to win, are more closely aligned with Fenton and Goldberg, although Korbatov has been the most critical of the current board and Manaster more conciliatory.

I would love to be wrong about the turnout. But some stats from recent elections make that unlikely. There are 21,000 registered voters in the city, but fewer than 3,100 voted in recent board races. The top winner, Steven Fenton, received 2,718 and Goldberg 1,815 barely edging Roston's 1,795. Lurie, who did not campaign nearly as hard as the other contenders came in second with a respectable 1,947.

Board members Demeter, Lurie and Meshkaty all came into school-district involvement, and have and had strong backing, from the various PTAs. Interestingly, the PTA leadership did not or could not find even one candidate from among their leadership to run this year.

For the political junkies among my readers, some other voter insights. In this election, two of the most powerful political families are backing different candidates. Former Board President, Mayor and now Councilmember Barry Brucker is working hard for Nooshin Meshkaty, and current board member Steven Fenton is ABM (Anybody But Meshkaty).

Both Brucker and Fenton came in first in their elections, although Barry has run more often. To compare, although the elections were very different, Barry led the field in his first council campaign with 4,656 votes compared to Fenton's 2,718 board vote. Brucker barely edged the second place winner, who was, yes, Steven's father Frank by 38 votes, giving Barry seniority in the mayoral rotation.

The 2005 vote was inflated because of the Montage Beverly Hills referendum. In his reelection bid, Barry again led, but with 2,983 total votes, much closer to Steven's Does any of this really matter: who endorses and supports candidates? Yes, in many ways it does, but the history of political alliances in our village changes more frequently than Joe Torre yanks pitchers. In a post election analysis this might be fun to examine, beginning with the once-strong political relationship between Publisher Josh Gross and both Meshkaty and

As for endorsements, often a mixed bag of impacts. The poster boy for having them all, literally, was former mayor Steve Webb who was backed by both newspapers, police and fire associations (and their support is often the most crucial in any city race), nearly the entire city leadership establishment, and yet lost. He also had the most lawn signs, by far.

One of the city's most successful candidates, who ran first in two of his three elections, was former mayor Dr. Charles Aronberg who never had the backing of the Courier. But neither did Meralee Goldman, Vicki Reynolds or Maxwell Hillary Salter who all won easily. In fact, Gross' endorsement of John Mirisch in the last council race, probably made the difference in that election.

The endorsement rights of the police, fire and teacher's unions have once again been questioned by that other newspaper. Since the members have bargaining relationships with the people they endorse or oppose, should they even make recommendations?

Although the police and fire unions have a far more careful approach and a much better record of having those they support win, all have a right to make their views known and to campaign for those they support. As much right as any newspaper, financial backer or civic organization.

The teacher's union, BHEA and not to be confused with the non-partisan support group with the similar name, BHEF, Beverly Hills Education Foundation, has even ventured into council elections, last time refusing to give their support to Brucker despite his strong and leading backing of the Joint Powers Agreement.

I totally support the right of the union to make endorsements, but I often wonder if they are really looking at what is best for the kids and not private wars of their own. But the union should not cry foul when some of their members back candidates that do not have the BHEA endorsement. They too have political rights.

About the campaigns and the general condition of political activism: One reason many very qualified candidates never run is the ugly nature of campaigns and the often highly personal attacks that go with public service.

I defend the right to make the attacks, but hate their impacts on the process.

I am far too imperfect a person to ever make judgments on personal lives or business practices, but for the same reason I felt it was a total travesty on political reality to impeach President Bill Clinton for lying about having an affair, as if he was the first man or woman ever to commit that transgression, I was not pleased by the disclosures of Dr. Goldberg's civil legal problems and our own paper's revelations about Meshkaty's renter issues. Too much gotcha and neither directly related to current school board matters. Yes, but in both Bosse, who with her husband are among the most generous supporters of education and other community needs in our village, has taken a major interest in a new book: Angella Nazarian's "Life as a Visitor," an incredible collection of reflections on the author's coming to America from Iran and her integration into our community. The book is far more than a personal story of entering the American, and Beverly Hills, experience. It is thoughtful and incisive reading that will give new insights into all of us, Persian and non-Persian alike, about our values and customs.

However, to help introduce the work, Bosse, with the help of the Friends of Library and city staff, held a highly successful book party at the civic center's boat court last Sunday (see photo on page 2) and before that a celebrity-loaded private party at their home.

Bosse even managed to have the often reclusive movie icon Sidney Poitier introduce the very charming Ms. Nazarian Sunday. Also involved in a major role were city librarian Nancy-Hunt Coffee, who served as master of ceremonies, library staff

I have sufficient trouble comprehending Beverly Hills problems without entering into the woes in the middle-east, but one piece of news hit me last week, and mainly because it was so underreported.

Following the horrendous findings by a UN agency that both Israel and Hammas were guilty of "war crimes" during their recent conflict, a highly-experienced British army officer, Col. Richard Kemp, who led troops in Afghanistan, said of the charges at a UN hearing: "Israel did more to safeguard the rights of civilians in a combat zone that any other nation in the history of warfare!" (Emphasis added.)

Little recognition by the UN that Hammas was using purely civilian venues including schools and medical, to launch their missiles against civilian targets.

What is even more distressing is the incredible loss of support Israel once had among young people, liberals, the labor movements and peace advocates. This is also a war that Israel must reenter – the hearts and minds of world opinion.

How is it even possible for the world liberal/left communities to desert the only democratic nation in the middle east? Where else would a dissent on government policies even be tolerated.? There are antiwar demonstrations in Tel Aviv, can you imagine a 'make peace with Israel' march in any Arab city, ever? What about press freedom, the middle ages approach to the role of women in many Arab nations, the inhumanity of criminal punishments and the hateful lessons taught in many Arab nation schools? Why isn't the message of democracy being promulgated more effectively?

BHHS Football Team Defeats Hawthorne In League Opener

Normans to play host to Santa Monica Friday night. By Steven Herbert

Beverly High was unable to extend its streak of 40-plus point victories over Hawthorne to five games Friday night, but Normans coach Donald Paysinger was "very satisfied" with his team's play in a 35-13 victory in the Ocean League football opener for both teams at Hawthorne.

"They played well," Paysinger said. "They [did] what we taught them all week."

Beverly Hills' defense "played well" as did its offensive line, which did not allow a quarterback sack, Paysinger said.

The Normans (3-3, 1-0 in league play) scored 35 unanswered points after giving up the game's first touchdown on quarterback Noel Campos' one-yard first-quarter run.

Sophomore quarterback Cameron Countryman accounted for each of Beverly Hills' first four touchdowns, running two yards and throwing a 16-yard pass to Daniel Bradbury for second-quarter touchdowns, running one yard for a third-quarter touchdown and throwing a 15-yard touchdown pass to Bradbury in the fourth quarter.

Jon Davidi ran five yards in the fourth quarter for the Normans' final touchdown.

Wayne Pitts ran 80 yards for the game's final touchdown for the Cougars (0-6, 0-1), whose on-field winless streak was extended to 38 games.

What's Next?

The Normans are scheduled to play host to Santa Monica (2-4, 1-0) Friday in an Ocean League game at Nickoll Field beginning at 7 p.m.

Josh Newman, who began the season as Beverly Hills' starting quarterback, will play Friday for the first time since spraining his left ankle in the team's season-opening 34-7 loss to Long Beach Jordan Sept. 11, Paysinger said.

Countryman will start at quarterback. Paysinger did not specify when or how much Newman would play.

"It depends on what is going on in the game," Paysinger said.

Newman's return "will help a lot," Paysinger said, including allowing Countryman to return to receiver, giving the Normans another pass-catching threat.

To defeat the Vikings, Beverly Hills must "play error-free football and stop their running game," Paysinger said.

Morgan was an 8-1 winner at No. 1 singles and teamed with Margolin for an 8-1 victory at No. 1 doubles in the 15th-place match Saturday at the Racquet Club of Irvine.

Zalameda (8-5) and Isaacman (8-4) also won in singles play.

Morgan was named to the all-tournament team.

What's Next?

The Normans are scheduled to play at Santa Monica today in an Ocean League match beginning at 2:30 p.m., seeking revenge for their Oct. 6 loss in a match that was tied on sets, 9-9, with the Vikings prevailing on games, 77-69.

Santa Monica was ranked third in the Southern Section Division II poll released Monday, while Beverly Hills was ranked fourth.

The Normans are also scheduled to play at Brentwood Monday in a nonleague match Monday beginning at 3:15 p.m. and at Inglewood Tuesday in an Ocean League match beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Girls' Cross Country Brea Invitational

Raquel Hefflin was Beverly Hills' top finisher, finishing 11th Oct. 3, completing the course in Carbon Canyon Park in 20:31 in a race won by Corona Centennial sophomore Adriana Olivas in 19:28.

Hefflin finished seven seconds behind Hesperia Sultana sophomore Cassie Bird who finished eighth.

The Normans finished eighth in the team competition with 226 points, eight behind seventh-place San Diego Point Loma. Sultana won with 29.

Boys' Cross Country Brea Invitational

Ali Hatcher was Beverly Hills' top finisher, finishing 97th Oct. 3, completing the course in Carbon Canyon Park in 18:21, the same time as the 94th-place finisher, Anaheim Savanna junior Nick Gudino.

Ammar Moussa of Arcadia won in 15:53

What's Next?

The Normans are scheduled to compete in the Mount San Antonio College Invitational Saturday, with the boys' team's race beginning at 3:27 p.m. and the girls' team race at 3:55 p.m., both on the green course.

North Torrance Tournament

Beverly High won the Silver Division after losing all three of its pool play matches at North Torrance High Sept. 26.

The Normans defeated Burbank, 25-18, in a quarterfinal, Playa Del Rey St. Bernard, 25-11, in a semifinal, and Paramount, 25-19, in the final in Silver Division play, after losing to San Pedro Mary Star of the Sea, 32-30, 15-25, 15-6, the North Torrance JV, 17-25, 25-19, 15-13, and Palos Verdes Peninsula, 25-11, 25-12, in pool play.

"We were finally competitive against Mary Star, but again we're just struggling with consistency," Beverly Hills coach Marla Weiss said. "We'll have 15, 17 points of really strong play and 10 points of a letdown. We're trying to work on minimizing our unforced errors. That's really the focus right now."

The Silver Division games were "the first time we put three games in a row together," Weiss said.

The Normans "rose to the occasion late in the day" after "Syline Kim and Emily Rosen both went for a ball and hit heads," Weiss said. Kim was sidelined for the rest of the tourna-

Setter Brianna Prince "is doing an excellent job," Weiss said. Junior outside hitter Ore Ezer "came in off the bench and did an outstanding job. I'm hoping to get her more playing time," Weiss said.

Brentwood Tournament

The Normans lost to Brentwood, 25-12, 25-18, and Santa Monica Crossroads, 19-25-19, 25-21, 15-13, in pool play matches Oct. 1 and defeated Brentwood Archer, 25-14, 25-13, 25-22, in the fifth-place match Oct. 3 at the Brentwood School.

"We had some really strong moments and then again some very big inconsistencies," Weiss said after her team improved to 1-9. "[We're] still having trouble closing out matches.

"The coaching staff thinks there are three things a team needs — skill, competitiveness and spirit. My team has the skill, which is the hardest to improve. The competitiveness and spirit and that fight is what we're struggling to do on a consistent level. We've got it at times and we don't have it at other times."

Norman senior outside hitter Mallory Smith was named to the all-tournament team. Middle blockers Tamara Skootsky and Michelle Wolff and Prince had "very good matches," Weiss said.

COVERSTORY BEVERLY HILLS LEADERS CALL FOR DIVESTMENT IN IRAN

Sam Yebri and 30 Years After fight against Iran's nuclear and terrorist activities.

By Kimberly Cheng

Sam Yebri — president of the civic-action organization 30 Years After — joined Assemblymembers Mike Feuer (D-Los Angeles) and Bob Blumenfield (D-Sherman Oaks) as they announced new legislation that will bar all contracts between California and companies with $20 million or more invested in Iran's energy sector at a Beverly Hills City Hall press conference Tuesday.

Yebri's attempt to ensure that taxpayer money doesn't end up in the hands of Iran's nuclear program is only one of many steps taken toward political action among Iranian Iews

Amid the ongoing conflicts in Iran, many Iranian Jews in the Beverly Hills community are shattering the silence once held by the vast majority of immigrants who fled Iran 30 years ago.

In an exclusive interview with the Weekly, Yebri — a Beverly Hills resident — discusses his involvement with the new legislation.

Iranians don't usually get involved in politics. How did you get involved?

My first taste was an internship in the office of Congressman Henry Waxman (D-California). As a college student at Yale, I had the opportunity to learn from and hear dozens of prominent leaders speak. After 9-11, my focus immediately shifted from being a premed student to a political junkie, and domestic policy and foreign affairs really started to speak to me. I realized that prudent and effective policy can make the lives of millions of Americans better. I conducted research on many different ethnic communities around the country who have organized effectively, such as the Cubans in South Florida, Armenians or Koreans in Southern California. They have not only elected their own leaders but shown that they can contribute meaningfully in American society.

What transpired in Iran this summer after the election really touched a nerve in the Iranian American community. For us, the election was fraudulent, the leadership was not representative of the people, and we had a strong connection to what was happening such that we had a responsibility to shed light on both Iran's human rights abuses and illegal nuclear program. For months we've been speaking with local elected officials to attempt to strengthen Iran sanctions and divestment legislation at the city, county and state levels. Fortunately, Assemblymembers Mike Feuer and Bob Blumenfield have shown great leadership in fighting to ensure that California taxpayers' dollars do not support Iran's illegal nuclear program.

Most American-born Iranians don't feel a connection with Iran anymore. Why should they care about the legislation?

For several reasons. First, Iran is a global threat to American and Western interests. It defies logic that a country that sponsors terrorism and threatens to wipe another nation off the map can be trusted with the world's most dangerous weapon. So we could very soon wake up to a world that's vastly more dangerous if the Iranian regime has a nuclear weapon. Secondly, as Iranian Jews, Iran is an existential threat to Israel, and we have a responsibility to help ensure the safety of Israel. And third, some of us were raised or born in Iran, and thus have a certain perspective to share on the issues. We know the crimes that the Iranian regime has committed, and we feel that if those Americans who once lived in Iran aren't standing up to that regime,

I do feel that American-born Iranians feel a connection to Iran. They might be reluctant to express it outwardly or publicly because of how controversial Iran is and any frustration they have with the Iranian government.

However, it's a constant conversation among younger Iranians on blogs and Facebook, and we're trying to turn that private passion into public expression through activism.

How did you get involved with the legislation and Assemblymembers Mike Feuer and Bob Blumenfield?

In the beginning stages of 30 Years After, we had simple meet-and-greets with our local elected officials, building relationships with them and exposing them to certain issues in our community. Then, when an opportunity for political engagement came up, specifically with Iran and Israel, we naturally built upon those relationships to explain where our community stands, and we worked with their offices to turn the passion of our community into effective legislation.

We applaud leaders like Assemblymembers Mike Feuer and Bob Blumenfield for their leadership on issues that are so important to members of the Iranian-Jewish community and so many residents throughout Los Angeles and Beverly Hills. They're doing their part in tackling challenging local and international issues. The role of 30 Years After is to help us residents of Los Angeles and Beverly Hills to do our part in strengthening their work.

If California passes the legislation next year, do you think other states will follow suit?

We are exceedingly optimistic that leaders in other states will take this opportunity to send a message to the Iranian regime and to corporations that continue to do business with it. There may be debate at the federal, diplomatic level as to how to approach Iran, but we've experienced no local forces opposing the basic proposition that the tax dollars of any American should not be supporting Iran's nuclear program or profiting companies that do business with its energy sector.

As a young American-born Iranian Jew, why is it important for younger generations to get involved?

As a member of the first generation of Iranian Jews raised and educated in the United States, we feel that we have a stake in the future of our city, state and country. We are moving past the sense of fatalism of our parents and grandparents, who did not share the same sense that they could impact the city in which we live. We know that if we're active and knowledgeable about issues, we can make this a better place for not only our community but the entire Los Angeles community. We also have a sense of responsibility as first-generation Americans. Many of us feel that we have benefited from the American Dream and its unparalleled opportunities. It's time for us to more to give back.

We are blessed with so many opportunities and privileges as Americans, including the right not to speak up for any issue that's bigger than ourselves. But as immigrants and as a minority, we have a responsibility to go outside of our comfort zone and stand up for issues that we believe in. And given our background and heritage, we have a special responsibility to challenge a government in Iran that violates the human rights of its citizens and seeks to obtain nuclear weapons.

Everyone has some connection to someone—either distant relatives or friends or colleagues— who still live in Iran. For the most part, every Iranian American family knows someone still in Iran. That has added a personal motivation to the crimes of this despotic regime.

Tell us about 30 Years After.

30 Years After is an Iranian-Jewish civic action organization that was founded about two years ago by several dozen local Iranian Jews who felt that there was a need for our community to become more active politically and in local civic affairs. We decided to start an organization with that very specific purpose. Over the last two years, we've worked with dozens of elected officials and Jewish and political organizations in reaching out to tens of thousands of Persian Jews and many of our local and national leaders.

Our executive committee consists of myself, Debbie Farnoush, Raymond Zolekhian, Jonathan Yagoubzadeh, Jasmine Oberman and Jason Massaband. Debbie Farnoush and Jason Massaband are leading local philanthropists who are aspiring to combine activism and philanthropy for new generations of Iranian Jews.

The other founders of 30 Years After include two dozen young attorneys, community activists, business leaders, and other Persian Jews who have a strong commitment to making a difference through political action and Jewish community activism. Among these are Eman Esmailzadeh, who is one of the leading forces in the religious Iranian Jewish community, and Raymond Zolekhian and David Peyman, who are both Harvard Law School graduates and prominent local attorneys, and they're both Beverly Hills residents.

What has the organization done to politically integrate Iranian Jews?

We regularly host voter registration drives. Over the last 18 months, we've registered over 1,000 new and first-time voters. We organized a 1,200-person civic action conference this past September timed to coincide with the 30-year anniversary of the revolution in Iran. We hold monthly breakfasts with local officials. We have receptions and workshops on various local political and civic issues, and we also hosted a leadership mission to Israel this past summer

In partnership with the Jewish Big Brothers Big Sisters of Los Angeles, 30 Years After has developed a mentorship program that has matched dozens of Iranian-Jewish high school students with young professional mentors, providing the high school students role models for professional success and community activism.

Our newest project, which we're extremely excited about, is our first community-wide historical, cultural project in which we are collecting hundreds of video interviews and anecdotes from members of the Iranian Jewish community about their lives in Iran and how they started new lives in the United States. We've been working on the project for a few months. The official launch is next month in November.

What does the future hold for Iranian-Jewish involvement in political and civic issues?

One hope we have at 30 Years After is that the Iranian-American community will emulate what other communities have done in uniting and standing up politically. If the Iranian-American community is able to effectively organize politically, our government can benefit from the experiences and perspectives of hundreds of thousands of Iranian-Americans.

LA150243 BEVERLY HILLS WEEKLY 9/24,10/1,8,22,2009

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF WALTER B. STONE

Case No. BP119045

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of WALTER B. STONE

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Ira Kirshbaum in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Ira Kirshbaum be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's lost will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. Copies of the lost will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Nov. 20, 2009 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 9 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
