"Board of Education moves forward with radical demolition plan for Hawthorne" [Issue #648]

PUBLISHER'S NOTE: Several letters were sent to the Board of Education to be read at Tuesday night's meeting. Since the board president chose not to read them, we are publishing two of them below:

I am a 1966 Hawthorne graduate, my son 2006.

I was absolutely horrified to hear that in order to update the campus so much demolition of historic buildings is being seriously considered. Of course I want our students to be safe, but they also need to learn to appreciate the historical environment in which they learn. How can they do this if all their school buildings are chipped away? What is learning, indeed what is life, without history?

A costly underground parking is unneeded and unwanted by the faculty. It is pleasant to walk to work under the beautiful

I support "Option 7," which preserves significant aspects of the historic auditorium and courtvard.

Linda Lewis Beverly Hills

As one who attended Beverly Hills schools from kindergarten through high school and still lives nearby, I have retained a strong interest in the vitality of the school system and the Beverly Hills community in general.

I have fond memories of Beverly Vista, where I was a student from 1955 until 1964, when I entered Beverly High. It pains me whenever I go past Beverly Vista to see what it looks like today compared to what it was when I attended there. Although I understand the impact of the earthquake on the structures, the failure to save more of the magnificent Romanesque exterior walls strikes me as a great loss to the culture and history of the city. And so, with an impending decision on the future of Hawthorne, which seems to be facing a fate similar to Beverly Vista's, I write to urge you with all my heart to save as much of the original buildings as possible. "Option 7," albeit less than perfect, seems to me the least damaging of the choices available to the Board.

Beverly Hills has always had the reputation of going a step further than the average community, truly caring about excellence and quality. What I don't understand is why this attitude has not extended to the preservation of important buildings of architectural and historical significance. It is my hope that now is the time the Board will do what is necessary to achieve two goals, maintain a safe school environment and instill in the students and their parents a strong sense that building on the community's history is essential to its future progress.

"History One" [Issue #666]

I read with interest [Rudy Cole's] take on "lessons from the past" in History One. Very interesting! For those of us here in town for fewer than 30 years, say, that history is news. And the more recent context is valuable too-especially for those of us who participate actively.

I campaign for safer streets for cyclists and pedestrians in Beverly Hills (www. betterbike.org) and my work frequently takes me to City Council and various other meetings and hearings. But so often I am alone—the only stakeholder in attendance at committee and commission meetings. And as you know, our City Council meetings attract few callers or public comment speakers.

We can lament the low electoral turnout and the low level of grassroots engageletters cont. on page 7

Board of Education postpones vote on home lease with Woods

220 N. Doheny Drive

The Board of Education announced Tuesday evening it was not prepared to vote on a lease with Superintendent Gary Woods to live in the $1.5-million home that the BHUSD recently agreed to purchase.

"We are close to a negotiated agreement, but we were not there yet today," President Brian Goldberg said.

Goldberg said the Board of Education would consider the item at a special board meeting next Wednesday at 4 p.m.

A proposed lease was attached in the July 17 meeting agenda packet, but the monthly payment and length of contract were left blank, since those terms have not yet been finalized.

Included in the contract was a clause that the home was being made available to Woods in connection with his employment as superintendent.

"Expiration or termination of such employment will be the basis for termination of this Lease by Landlord in accordance with the provisions set forth above," the proposed lease states.

According to the lease, BHUSD is the landlord, and Chief Administrative Officer Dawnalyn Murakawa-Leopard was listed as the contact.

Included in the staff report for the agenda item was a statement that the estimated insurance for the home is $7,040 per year. No other information about insurance was provided.

On Monday afternoon, Goldberg said he did not have a comment on what was included in the insurance estimate, because he had not yet been briefed in closed session, which took place Tuesday afternoon.

In an e-mail, Murakawa-Leopard said Wednesday afternoon the figure is an estimate and has not been finalized.

"The $7,040 is a figure that includes preliminary figures on property and liability insurance, including earthquake coverage," Murakawa-Leopard wrote.

Typically, a homeowner's insurance policy for a small home ranges $400–$600, not including earthquake coverage.

Last month, the Board of Education voted unanimously to purchase the home at 220 North Doheny Drive. The board has agreed to a 15-year loan with an interest rate of 3.7 percent. The estimated expenditure from the general fund is $140,000 a year, or approximately $11,000 a month.

Goldberg did not return a phone call from the Weekly before the deadline.

New office building and parking structure approved at Spalding and Wilshire

The Gores Group is preparing to move its California offices from Westwood to Beverly Hills, following the Planning Commission's unanimous approval July 12 of its new office building and parking structure at 121 Spalding Drive.

The proposed four-story, 45-foot-tall building is part of a project involving the adjacent three-story, 45-foot-tall office building at 9800 Wilshire Boulevard, which is currently undergoing an "extensive remodel," Senior Planner Ryan Gohlich said. The project proposes a bridge connecting the top floors of the two buildings, both of which The Gores Group owns and plans to occupy.

According to its Web site, The Gores Group is a private equity firm that focuses on acquiring controlling interests in a variety of businesses, investing primarily in the technology, telecommunications, business services, industrial, healthcare, media, and consumer and retail sectors. The company also has offices in Colorado and London.

The proposed building at 121 Spalding features a total of 11,000 square feet of office space on the fourth floor and the portion of the ground floor fronting Spalding Drive, three levels of abovegrade parking and two levels of subterranean parking.

The 121 Spalding project, which is 61,000 square feet including underground parking, will provide parking for the 36,000-square-foot 9800 Wilshire building, which currently utilizes a parking structure that will be demolished to make way for the proposed new building.

"The goal is to have the 121 Spalding facility completed around the same time that the 9800 building is finished," Gohlich said.

The Architectural Commission approved the remodel designs for the 9800 Wilshire project in March. The 121 Spalding project still requires Architectural Commission review, as well as City Council review of a proposed alley vacation and right-of-way encroachments. The City Council and Architectural Commission are scheduled to hear the matter on Aug. 7 and 15 respectively.

Although the project involves widening the existing east-west alley between the two buildings from 15 to 20 feet, the project proposes vacating one foot of the existing alley to accommodate the 9800 Wilshire remodel. The alley vacation is proposed to allow the installation of a stone veneer along the building's south wall that faces the alley.

Corman said width of the alley would be made up on its south side, by dedicating six feet of land to establish a 20-footwide alley.

To accommodate the City's large trash trucks and utility vehicles, Corman said the City requests development projects fronting an alley to dedicate 2.5 feet of land to widen the City's existing 15-footwide alleys to 20 feet. Since The Gores Group owns both properties on either side of the same alley, Corman said the 20-foot width could be achieved all at once.

The proposed bridge connecting the two buildings is considered an above-grade right-of-way encroachment that requires

Many of the fees and charges would be adjusted to obtain full-cost recovery. In some cases fees were adjusted by 3% based on the Consumer Price Index (CPI) for November 2011 to reflect the increase in the City's costs. In other cases, the fees were adjusted to reflect a change in service level, or more equitable distribution of costs, rather than by the CPI. The fees would become effective on September 1, 2012.

a permit. The project also proposes a subterranean right-of-way encroachment since part of the underground parking structure would be located underneath a portion of the alley. Corman said the underground encroachment would not interfere with alley operations or any utilities within the alley.

"[This project] was a really good example of an applicant working with staff and working with neighbors in coming up with something that was acceptable to everyone," Commission Chair Craig Corman said. "It looks like it's going to be a beautiful building."

Belzberg Architects designed the project. The Weekly requested renderings of the project from Gohlich, but he said he did not have the latest version. Gohlich suggested contacting architect Hagy Belzberg, who said he did not have permission from the owner to share the renderings.

Frank Stefanik, The Gores Group's executive vice president of marketing and business development, said no one was available to comment on the Planning Commission's approval or the company's planned move to Beverly Hills.

Former Mayor Tom Levyn, who represented The Gores Group on the project application, did not return a phone call from the Weekly.

Beverly High seismic report update says deficiencies are "fixable"

An update from structural engineering firm Saiful Bouquet on its seismic investigation of the Beverly High campus presented Tuesday afternoon to the Board of Education did not paint the gloomy picture that some apparently had anticipated

Saiful Bouquet engineers Saiful Islam and Robert Randall said while Beverly High has some seismic deficiencies, the problems are "fixable" by retrofitting the building. The seismic investigation is ongoing.

"We've done this kind of retrofit work [on other projects] to fix weak diaphragms, to fix the out-of-plane wall anchors, to fix offsetting roof elevations," Randall said.

Saiful Bouquet is a subcontractor working with DLR Group, the architecture firm retained by the BHUSD for design services for both Beverly High and Hawthorne.

The conversation at Tuesday's study session focused on Building B, Beverly High's original building. Based on Saiful Bouquet's preliminary findings, Beverly High Principal architect Andrea Cohen Gehring of DLR Group said, "We're very comfortable with retrofitting Building B."

Randall said additional retrofit work will be needed, but he said a retrofit of Beverly High's Building B that was done in 1936 to comply with the Field Act, which passed following the 1933 Long Beach earthquake, displayed "forward

Planning Commission grants 12 extended hours permits to Thompson hotel

About six months after voting to scale back Thompson Beverly Hills' weeknight rooftop pool-deck and bar hours, the Planning Commission unanimously voted July 12 to allot the hotel special-event permits that will allow the rooftop to operate until 2 a.m. up to 12 times a year.

The commission also agreed to increase the rooftop maximum occupancy from 125 to 150 guests. The increased occupancy is a general modification to the hotel's conditional use permit [CUP], and not limited to during special events.

The special-event permits would apply to events scheduled for Sunday through Thursday nights, since the rooftop currently operates until 2 a.m. on Fridays and Saturdays. The hotel, which is located at Wilshire Boulevard and Crescent Drive, would not be permitted to use more than two special-event permits during any single month.

Thompson Beverly Hills, as seen from Wilshire Boulevard

"The consensus was that although the Thompson hotel has had issues with its neighbors in the past, they seem to have made great strides since January when [we] had the last go-around with the CUP," Commission Chair Craig Corman said of the commission's decision last week to modify the hotel's CUP.

In Issue #638 in December, the Weekly reported the Planning Commission extended Thompson Beverly Hills' CUP but rejected the hotel's request to extend rooftop hours from 1 a.m. to 2 a.m. Sunday through Thursday. Instead, the Planning Commission voted to scale back the rooftop hours to midnight on weeknights due to noise complaints from residents living near the hotel.

In the months that followed, attorney Mitchell Dawson, who represents Thompson Beverly Hills, said his client has made an effort to mitigate noise and reach out to its neighbors.

Dawson said new management has been responsible for the changes. The hotel's general manager, Dene Nui, took over the post in the last six months, Dawson said. In the past year, Roy Marino took over operations of the rooftop and Caulfield's, the ground-floor restaurant. The operator of the hotel's valet parking services has also changed, Dawson said.

"I thought that the commission made a well-reasoned decision based upon the improvements made by Thompson Beverly Hills in neighborhood outreach and noise mitigation and the commission had the ability to realize that 12 [permits] was a more appropriate number, subject to certain appropriate conditions to monitor the use of these additional entitlements," Dawson said.

Staff had recommended the commission allot six permits. A staff report said there have been 16 complaints related to the hotel since January, six of them regarding noise. Four of those complaints occurred in January and February 2012.

One of the conditions the Planning Commission imposed was to require Thompson Beverly Hills to provide a Beverly Hills off-duty public safety officer to monitor noise emanating from special events in the residential neighborhood south of the hotel.

"Complaints are down numerically," Corman said. "Again, it's all predicated on the fact they seem to be getting along better with neighbors. There seem to be less complaints. They're definitely working to be better neighbors."

thinking."

Randall said the original Building B was designed and constructed as a single building, but during the retrofit, the building was separated into six segments with seismic joints in between them.

"What was unique is that as part of the retrofit, they went and gunited, basically applied reinforced concrete to all the interior faces of the brick walls," Randall said. "They did this by removing one layer of the brick, and then put reinforced concrete, essentially a reinforced shell inside the buildings, as well as they anchored the roof and wall diaphragms more positively to the walls to keep them from falling out."

A large portion of the presentation focused on how to test for and mitigate a potential falling brick hazard associated with out-of-plane walls that could occur during an earthquake. Randall said this was not a structural issue, but a potential "damageability" issue that could lead to individual bricks ejecting and potentially blocking building exits during an earthquake.

Recreation and Parks Commission contemplates purchase of outdoor exercise equipment

An initiative the Recreation and Parks Commission is pursuing would provide a new exercise option at La Cienega Park.

Since last year, the commission has been looking into the purchase and installation of outdoor fitness equipment for public use. Each piece of equipment would target a different muscle or area of the body and provide instructions for use.

"We have asked to see budgets periodically from staff," Commission Chair Susan Gersh said. "That gives us an idea whether there are certain things we can move along with. No. 1 on our list is fitness exercise equipment we would like to see put in outdoors at La Cienega park."

The commission discussed the idea at its most recent meeting on June 26. Gersh said the Community Services Department is studying its budget to see if the department has funds available for the exercise equipment.

"I'm guardedly optimistic we'll be able to move ahead," Gersh said. "We'll know more in September."

When asked about cost of the equipment, Gersh said it was too early to estimate a figure.

"It depends on how many pieces we get," Gersh said. "We're waiting for a landscape architect to look at the area to see if there's any work that needs to be done."

Gersh said the commission envisions installing the equipment on the La Cienega Boulevard side of the park.

If funds are available, Gersh said the commission would like to move forward with the process of purchasing the equipment as soon as possible.

"With the beautiful weather we have all year round and people out at our parks, it would be a very good addition and it's something people of all different ages can use," Gersh said.

Gersh said Commissioner Alan Block, who is immediate past chair, originally brought the idea to the commission after seeing the equipment in Israel. Last year, the commission participated in a demonstration of the equipment.

At its June meeting, the commission also received an update from Mia Lehrer, the landscape architect who is working on the Beverly Gardens Park restoration project, a private fundraising effort to restore the park in time for the City's centennial celebration in January 2014.

Gersh said the fundraising committee is planning to begin by focusing on three blocks, which will likely be an area including the Beverly Hills sign. Gersh said reinstating the lily pond in front of the Beverly Hills sign could be part of the project.

asked about the cost of retrofitting per square foot, Gehring said, "The cost of retrofitting is going to be identified once we look at the alternatives. We are not at the place right now to give you those alternatives with cost because they [Saiful Bouquet] haven't completed their analysis, but we will be as soon as they do that."

Gehring said retrofitting could be approached in a number of ways.

"One way is to keep the building intact. You add shear walls. You add structural reinforcing in the roof and in the floors and in the basement, anywhere you need to," Gehring said.

Another option, Gehring said, is to support the building's exterior walls, demolish the interior, and build a new structure within before reattaching the exterior walls

"At Kerckhoff Hall [at UCLA] we did base isolation, which is basically keeping the building completely intact, going into the basement, putting every foundation, every footing on what we call a shock

Reality checks

And village notes
By Rudy Cole

Before we set up barricades to block the invasion of our neighbors in Holmby Hills, who have apparently indicated a desire to be annexed to Beverly Hills, be very calm—it will never, ever happen.

True, we have enlarged our city twice—once more recently in the far southwest when a single street, Hillgreen Drive, was more obviously part of our map and in the 1950s when Paul Trousdale pulled off one of the great scams in real-estate history.

Even the southwest annexation took years of effort and only worked because Beverly Hills neighbors strongly supported the move, and Los Angeles city officials felt the proximity to Beverly Hills made sense, in terms of public safety and convenience.

Trousdale was a blatant use of the political process, one that would be difficult to replicate with today's checks and balances.

Paul Trousdale actually convinced both the Beverly Hills City Council and the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors to agree to an annexation of some harsh, barren mountain area that jutted just north of Beverly Hills. At the very least, the addition gave Beverly Hills a very odd looking map.

With the annexation, the land became not only very valuable but finally quite developable. Many different land owners actually built homes and enhanced the landscape—something that did not happen to many nearby Los Angeles tracts for another generation.

Today, Trousdale homes are among the most expensive and attractive in our city, but the profits made by those who were able to manipulate the system then did not lead to significant payments of fees to Beverly Hills. That too would not now be possible

For Holmby Hills to win approval for annexation to Beverly Hills, they would need approval of both the Los Angeles and Beverly Hills City Councils and, equally important, convince a little known intergovernmental agency named LAFCO (Local Agency Formation Commission) for its blessing—and that body is very cautious and diligent in any boundary movements of this magnitude, often taking years to complete the study and hearings process.

Los Angeles would have little reason to give its approval; Holmby is an important anchor of upscale residential east of Westwood and south of Bel Air.

The complaints by some Holmby residents that they are not being adequately served by Los Angeles, including a failure to respond to needed street repairs, is hardly likely to be an inducement for Beverly Hills to welcome annexation.

Since the passage of Prop. 13, the (Howard) Jarvis constitutional amendment, property taxes no longer are the most important source of city tax revenues, and certainly not in Beverly Hills where the business sector provides roughly 70 percent, or more, of city funding. There is no commercial sector at all in Holmby.

From a purely fiscal point of view, the effort by some residents of the western portion of West Hollywood who made an abortive effort to become part of Beverly Hills when that community was first considering incorporation, made more sense, but gained absolutely no backing in Beverly Hills.

Although the northern portion of Holmby does touch our borders, most of the area is separated from us by the Los Angeles Country Club. It is very doubtful if we could maintain our valued three-minute response time for police and fire services with that barrier.

There is also no assurance that Holmby could become part of our school system—those lines are not actually automatically the same as the city. The schools have a very small area to serve just outside our borders, thus the name "unified" school district.

Yes, we would be able to claim all those bunnies at the Playboy Mansion as Beverly Hills denizens, but we might have to adopt a dress code to assure that Hugh Hefner dons something other than pajamas during daytime hours.

If this was intended to shake up Los Angles city officials to provide more services, good luck. We love you as neighbors, your homes are beautiful and many of your residents exemplary good citizens, and you are certainly more than welcome to shop and dine here, but unless you can reincarnate Paul Trousdale, don't order new stationery just yet.

We made some news, some even mildly accurate, in the venerable New York Times last week—and, of course, the subject was our opposition to the Westside subway route.

Permit me to make some corrections to their report: Opponents never raised the question of "not so prosperous" riders passing through or coming to shop and work here—the issue route objectors have consistently raised is one of safety and the hazards of tunneling under our only high school.

There were some more petty mistakes. Hardly anyone now calls the plan the Subway to the Sea; the likely western terminus will be near UCLA and further extensions are likely to be delayed for decades.

That our community is "synonymous with wealth and privilege" may be true but the dig is lacking in economic reality. NYT might have discovered that a majority of our residents actually live in multi-family units, not expensive houses. Yes, we even have a form of rent control.

Our high school may be celebrated for its "roster of famous graduates and its zip code," but even that is not entirely true. Our high school, alas, is in 90212 zip, not 90210 despite the infamous television series name.

Not sure if the quote from School Board President Brian Goldberg was accurate, but he is reported in the story as denying we oppose the subway, only the route choice. "We've been nothing but supportive since the get-go," are Goldberg's words according to the story.

Not entirely accurate. Not all residents favor any subway, no matter the route, and even in the business district there are many skeptics on its value or benefits. More important, opponents of the high-school route want to have as an option opposition to any subway if it endangers the school.

SELECTED SHORT NOTES:

We have a new City Father, no not an elected official, but the birth of a daughter to our highly respected City Planner John Lait and wife Megan.

This is their second little planner; son Noah is two and a half—probably not named for a city commissioner or school board member.

Speaking of planning, the department recently welcomed a new staffer, our first ever "urban designer," Bill Crouch, an "urbanist" and architect. Before coming to our city, Crouch served the city of Sacramento and Huntington Beach, on that city's Design Review Board. Before coming to California with his family, the Australian-born Crouch managed an architectural firm in Melbourne. He will work closely with the Architectural and Design Review Commissions and "contribute significantly to the city's Architectural Review and Historic Preservation programs," according to Director of Community Development Susan Healy Keene.

Great party at Janet Salter's last Sunday previewing the annual award event for the Beverly Hills Theatre Guild on September 20.

The honorees at the "gala" will be Anne Jeffreys, Norm Crosby and Jim Jahant. The welcoming was handled smoothly by longtime Salter family friend Monty Hall, a community icon.

Many celebrity guests, some I spotted included Michelle Lee, Peter Marshall, Howard Storm, Marilyn Hall, David Solomon and Myra Lurie, Fran and Lou Zigman, Marilyn Ziering, Anita and Loni Marsten, Judson Mock, Dorothy Victor, Mary Cutler, and the Courier's Candace and Clif Smith and Marcia Hobbs. Josette Cole was there too with our guest from Colorado, real estate, land-use lawyer, Tara Sakraida, who will make Los Angeles her new home and professional base.

Had a chance to talk to Monty about a wonderful idea he is supporting strongly: Providing a home for our venerable Theatre Forty in the Annenberg Cultural Center.

That is such a natural good fit, it should be welcomed by the Annenberg and it would certainly help give the community a more direct sense of involvement in this wonderful cultural resource.

Great community service: The Beverly Hills Bar Association Barristers provides a free legal clinic on first Monday of each month from 10 a.m. to noon at Roxbury Park.

Volunteer lawyers from the association offer legal advice on a wide range of issues from landlord-tenant, consumer, small claims, business disputes, wills and trusts and other legal concerns.

absorber, on a base isolator, [and] having what we call a moat around the building that allows the building to move as a whole," Gehring said.

Gehring said DLR Group believes Building B is historically significant.

"Building B is a classic design. It's been called Norman design as well," Gehring said. "In any event, it does have historical recognition. It does have historical attributes in terms of composition, the massing, the tower, the classroom building [and] the way it sits on the side on the top of a hill."

Board of Education President Brain Goldberg said Tuesday's study session was an example of what happens when misinformation is spread.

"The whole purpose of this meeting was because we got wind from someone that Building B was unsafe and needed to be evacuated immediately," Goldberg said

When the report is completed, Goldberg requested it be embargoed.

"The first entity that should see that after staff is the Board of Education," Goldberg said. "Then it can go to other entities. I don't want to hear about it from other entities coming back to us because then we need to react. Because what we heard was we've got hollow bricks and the building is going to fall. That's the message I received as a board member."

Cayabyab said the final report is expected to be completed by July 25.

Copies of the report were not distributed at the meeting because it has not been completed. Paper copies of the study session's accompanying PowerPoint presentation were not distributed at the meeting. The digital file of the presentation was not attached to the study session agenda, which was posted online last Friday.

Goldberg did not return a phone call from the Weekly before the deadline.

City continues Concerts on Canon, kicks off free outdoor movie screenings

The City of Beverly Hills will continue its free Concerts on Canon series tonight with two performances by jazz combo Melvin Lee Davis & Friends at Beverly Canon Gardens at 6 p.m. and 7:15 p.m.

The City's new series of free Sundaynight movie screenings continues July 29 with an outdoor showing of Clueless at Beverly Canon Gardens at 8 p.m.

Beverly Hills kicked off the series last week with a French-themed screening of Hugo, which also featured live music. Later in the summer, film selections include Casablanca and Mirror, Mirror.

Free parking is available to patrons of the shows: Get a coupon at the concert or movie and redeem it for parking in the Beverly Gardens parking structure. The gardens feature plentiful seating and a large, grassy area for picnic blankets. Tables and chairs will be available on a first-come, first-served basis. Patrons are encouraged to enjoy outdoor dining at Bouchon or The Montage, enjoy special pre- and post-show discounts at Beverly Hills restaurants and bars and pick up custom "to-go" boxes from a selection of local restaurants offering picnic options in connection with this series.

ment, but I believe that this pattern is set at the top of City Hall. I don't mean the electeds; I mean the staff.

For two years I have communicated my concerns to the Deputy City Manager for communications, Cheryl Friedling. That includes broken links on the city's website and agendas; illegible agenda-linked documents; meeting e-notices that don't go out in timely fashion; and worst, city commission agendas that are simply never posted online. Or they are posted the day before.

I care and choose to participate, but City Hall often does not make it easy.

Back to elections. I too have been curious about low turnout, and at times I've sought information about how my immediate neighbors voted on this or that ballot initiative. But our Clerk makes scant or no information available about our elections. The Clerk received his performance bonus the last time I checked, but that performance can't possibly include encouraging engagement and making the necessary information available to the public.

As a resident of Beverly Hills, I hope that safe bicycling with routes that serve the best interests of everyone becomes a reality very soon. There are concerns and issues still up in the air, but since we are in a great walkable city, there is no reason not to make it a great place for bikes as well.

Roxbury Park liaison meets Monday

The Recreation and Parks liaison committee will next meet to discuss plans for the Roxbury Park community center this Monday at 3 p.m. at City Hall.

The full City Council will receive an update about Roxbury Park at its study session on Tuesday at 2 p.m.

The City has contracted RTK Architects to design a concept for a new onestory community center and the field restroom on the west side of the park. Representatives of RTK were introduced at the most recent liaison meeting on July

Following that meeting, Mayor Willie Brien, who serves on the committee with Councilmember Julian Gold, said the concept still needs refinement, but he feels the project is heading in the right direction.

Brien said goals include maximizing efficiency and greenspace at the park.

"We have worked really hard on making sure the programming is done in the most efficient way possible, meeting the needs of the community today and in the future," Brien said.

Brien said the committee is also starting to review options for re-doing the irrigation system at the park.

The full City Council last provided feedback on the proposed Roxbury Park Community Center project on May 15, when councilmembers agreed to contract an architect to create a one-story concept emphasizing greenspace.

Board of Education to consider the merits of historic preservation versus new construction By Melanie Anderson

At a time when the City of Beverly Hills is stepping up its efforts to preserve historically significant structures, the BHUSD has proposed construction plans that will demolish significant portions of Hawthorne, the district's oldest school.

Last February, the Board of Education directed staff to move forward with Measure E plans for the campus labeled Option 6, which would preserve the façade along Rexford, the courtyard and the tower, but the rest of the campus would be demolished, including the 1921-constructed auditorium. The auditorium would be re-built as a single-story structure.

Option 6 also includes a basketball gymnasium, one level of subterranean parking and 900-square-foot classrooms.

Approximately five months later, a new concept has emerged, Option 7, which would also demolish the north and south wings of the campus, but would preserve the exteriors of Building Group A, the structures surrounding the courtyard, including the auditorium.

The Board of Education is expected to review both options at a study session next Wednesday, July 25 in the district office boardroom at 4 p.m.

The future of Hawthorne is uncertain, as the Facilities Advisory Committee has pointed out the preservation option is estimated at approximately $3.5 million more than Option 6, which has been estimated at $73 million. Both options include a gymnasium instead of a multipurpose room and approximately 50 underground parking spaces, which were estimated to cost about $9 million more than a previously presented option that did not include those items.

Adding to the uncertainty is the fact that the BHUSD does not currently have money in the bank to fund the Hawthorne project and the district has yet to decide on construction plans for Beverly High, El Rodeo and Beverly

At a City Council meeting last August, dozens of people urged councilmembers to act to stop the demolition of architect Richard Neutra's Kronish House on Sunset Boulevard.

The Los Angeles Conservancy became involved in the preservation campaign, which was launched by the architect's son, Dion Neutra. By the time the meeting took place, hundreds of individuals had sent letters to City Councilmembers protesting the seemingly imminent demolition of the 7,000-square-foot home, even though it was within the property owners' rights to apply for a demolition permit from the City.

The City Council facilitated an agreement with the owners to hold off on demolition for approximately two months to allow time for a preservation-minded buyer to come forward or to make arrangements to move the home to a new location. Eventually, a buyer who intends to rehabilitate the home emerged.

At the same meeting, the City Council directed the Planning Commission to draft a historic preservation ordinance to establish a mechanism to prevent the demolition of potentially historic buildings without review. In January, the City Council approved the ordinance, which also established a Cultural Heritage Commission, led by Chair Noah Furie, to administer the program.

To qualify as historic landmarks, the ordinance requires properties to meet a number of criteria, but school buildings, since they fall under the jurisdiction of separate governing body BHUSD, are not subject to the ordi-

That means when making its decision, the Board of Education does not have to take into account that Ralph C. Flewelling, Building A's architect, appears on the City's recently approved list of master architects, or that Hawthorne is one of five schools within the BHUSD that make up a thematic district, as determined by the City of Beverly Hills in its 1986 survey of historic resources.

"A loss of integrity to the Hawthorne school site would be detrimental to the overall grouping of properties," Furie said.

Hawthorne, which first opened in 1914 as Beverly Hills Grammar School, pre-dates the unified school district. Over a century, the campus has gone through a series of alterations and additions, but historical architect G. Taylor Louden says Building Group A, which was designed by Flewelling, has maintained its architectural integrity since it was built in 1929. Flewelling is the architect of the 1933constructed Beverly Hills Post Office, which is on the National Register of Historic Places. Hawthorne's oldest existing building, the auditorium, was designed by T. Beverley Reim, Jr. and constructed in 1921.

The Facilities Advisory Committee has been studying plans for Hawthorne for at least seven months and the Board of Education has had at least two public study sessions about proposed plans that call for major demolition, but public comment urging the board to preserve more of the Hawthorne campus has been minimal.

When asked why, at least so far, Hawthorne has attracted less public interest than the Neutra house, Vice Mayor John Mirisch, who attended Hawthorne and supports greater preservation of the school, said, "I think as information gets out, people within our community are speaking up. I think there is a desire to try and preserve."

As of Wednesday afternoon, the "Save Historic Hawthorne School" Facebook page started by Kimberly Reiss had attracted 125 followers. The page urges followers to write letters to the Board of Education and comment at the upcoming meetings and study sessions to encourage the board to choose Option 7. On Tuesday night, Reiss said she was aware that 12 people had sent letters to the board in support of historic preservation, although none were read at the meeting.

Advice to conduct a historical review of the school did not go unheeded by the school

In March, the Board of Education approved a contract with Louden, a DLR Group consultant, to conduct a historical assessment of the campus and ordered the preparation of a Draft Environmental Impact Report for both the Hawthorne and Horace Mann projects. Part of the EIR process involves evaluating the existing structure's historic resources.

DLR Group is the architecture firm BHUSD has retained to design plans for Hawthorne and Beverly High.

Based on Louden's historical assessment, DLR Group designed Option 7, which would demolish the north and south wings of the campus but preserve the exteriors of Building Group A, the structures surrounding the courtyard, which Louden described as "the heart of the campus," including the auditorium. The interiors of the buildings are likely to be

At an informal meeting last Thursday morning at Hawthorne, DLR Group, representatives of the Facilities Advisory Committee and BHUSD staff presented options 6 and 7 to stakeholders.

"The auditorium is what's really driving the difference of the schemes," Louden said.

Louden said his report states "the entirety of Building Group A was significant and it should be retained." Building Group A is significant, Louden said, because of its overall composition featuring buildings of different volumes, and its materials. According to Louden the building group was constructed almost entirely of reinforced concrete, including the floors, ceilings, columns, walls and equipment tunnel under the structure.

Louden also highlighted the school's main entrance through an archway into the courtyard, which is surrounded by buildings of varying heights all the way to a "tall tower," and the auditorium's "pronounced ceremonial entrance" off the courtyard. The Spanish-colonial-revival-style building has a "substantial amount of decorative detail," including tile floors and light fixtures, Louden said.

"The notion of Building A is that you can't afford to build a building to that degree of quality level today and it has superior aesthetics, superior to even the later buildings [at Hawthorne] that don't have the same level of significance," Louden said.

Louden said Flewelling designed some of the additions that were made in the 1930s, but they have been altered and do not maintain the architectural integrity like Building Group

"I am pleased to see that the school district has instructed their architects to come up with the options," Furie said. "Obviously from the intent of our ordinance to protect and preserve the character of our city, keeping the original cluster of buildings at Hawthorne would be my first choice."

At past study sessions, Chief Facilities Official Nelson Cayabyab and Facilities Advisory Committee Chair and former Mayor Ed Brown have argued the existing campus is not suited for the 21st-century "learning community" education concept promoted by the district's master planning consultant Tracy Richter of DeJong-Richter.

The concepts feature "learning neighborhoods," which group together classrooms in the same discipline or grade level and provide flexibility for rooms to open up into community learning spaces that can be shared by teachers. Cayabyab has said existing Hawthorne classrooms are "too small," and modifying the existing campus to make larger classrooms would result in fewer total classrooms. DLR Group architect Virginia Marquardt said in February doing so would result in long, narrow classrooms that she said would not be ideal learning spaces.

Brown has pointed out inefficiencies that have resulted from adding on to Hawthorne's north and south wings. At the January study session, Hawthorne Principal Kathy Schaeffer said flow of the campus is important, including grouping the middle-school classrooms together and locating the library in a central area.

"Hawthorne has stairs going up and stairs going down and bathrooms in the wrong places and things that are not effective and efficient." Brown said. "I think it's a problem on the whole school campus. When you're in the playground area, you have to walk downstairs to go to a bathroom."

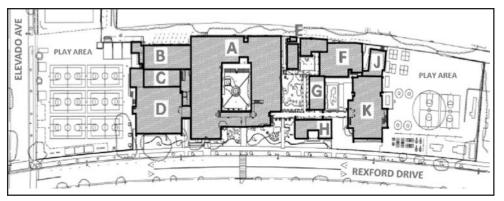

Regarding the auditorium's accessibility, Brown told the Weekly in Issue #637 a new one-story auditorium would more easily comply with ADA requirements than the existing two-story auditorium with a balcony.

Addressing the Board of Education Tuesday night, longtime Hawthorne teachers and members of the site facilities committee Bob Bailey and Stephanie Lehrer spoke in support of maintaining Hawthorne's architectural integrity while meeting educational needs.

"It has seemed from the beginning there were two sides of the room," Bailey said. "We educators listened and offered our opinions while the district listened and told us what we should consider for our own good, while not seemingly knowing exactly what that meant."

Lehrer said she wants to trust the architects, but it has been difficult because of past "modernizations" she has seen at Beverly Vista and Hawthorne.

"Both times the architects told the teachers not to worry," Lehrer said. "They said they knew what educators needed. Both times, in my opinion, have been epic failures with teachers getting less space and functionality in their classrooms in favor of the modern look of the future. Our teaching has suffered."

Existing Hawthorne campus. Under Option 6, only a small part of Building A and the courtyard would be preserved. Under Option 7, the exterior of Building A and the courtyard would be preserved

Last February, the school board agreed to move forward with Option 6, despite the Facilities Advisory Committee and Hawthorne site facilities committee's recommendation of another concept, Option 5A, which would save $9 million because it did not include underground parking and featured a multipurpose room instead of a gymnasium.

According to Brown, cost is a drawback of Option 7 because preserving Building Group A adds approximately $3.5 million to the estimated price tag. It also includes-like Option 6—underground parking and a gymnasium.

California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA)/EIR process for both Hawthorne and Horace Mann. At the study session, the board is expected to review both options.

"I'm hoping that a compromise option can be reached," Furie said. "According to what the historical consultant [Louden] had mentioned at this meeting, the preservation of the façade of the auditorium is important for the overall integrity of the historic resources."

The BHUSD currently does not have access to enough bond money to fund the Hawthorne project. Since the bond passed, only $72 million from the $334-million bond has been issued. Last year, the board approved plans for Horace Mann, estimated at the time at $62

Due to ambitious property assessed value projections that have not been realized, the district may not have access to the next $60-million installment of bond funds until 2014 and access to the total $334 million until 2030.

To access bond funds earlier, the Board of Education has discussed raising the tax rate without consulting voters, despite the previous board's promise to the community that existing taxes would not be increased due to the passage of the Measure E bond in November

Brown said the funding issue might change the school board's priorities in terms of which school campuses it focuses on first.

"What I'm trying to do is be practical and realize that we cannot do everything," Brown said. "We'd like to do it, but we don't have the money to do that and so we've got to do something that is best for the kids and will give them the best possible education and especially under the 21st-century initiative. We don't want to lose sight of that."

It remains to be seen if a compromise can be reached

The Board of Education will meet next ing the columns, the arches and the relationship between the auditorium and the school's entrance through an arch into the courtyard.

Lehrer spoke about aligning the concepts of historical preservation and educational relevance

"Let us continue the study sessions and take a very close look at ensuring Hawthorne's architectural integrity is preserved for the next 100 years while moving ahead into the future," Lehrer said.

Mirisch said he sees Option 7 as a compromise.

"Much of the school is going to be leveled and the less historical parts and I think most of us are ok with that," Mirisch said. "We're really talking about the historical core of the school and that's Option 7, and that in and of itself is already a compromise because the parts of the school to the north and south of that, some of which themselves were designed by Flewelling, are going to be replaced."

Regarding subterranean parking and gymnasium facilities, Mirisch said, "I'm not going to say that it's something we absolutely do or we don't need, but the point is, it shouldn't be used as an excuse to tear down something that is the heart and soul of the campus. If they're going to use a financial argument, I would talk about priorities, and those would not be priorities for me."

At the study session in January, Schaeffer said underground parking is "not an expense we need to have," as long as the faculty and staff is still permitted to park in the alley and along Elevado Avenue, as they have for decades.

Brown pointed out the Facilities Advisory Committee previously did not recommend including underground parking. Board member Lisa Korbatov and other colleagues insisted on including underground parking in the designs.

"It doesn't affect the education that we're giving to our kids if we don't have it," Brown said. "The teachers right now are parking on the street and they're happy to park on the street."

Brown said the proposed underground parking would accommodate community use of the

"The parking they were talking about was 50 parking spaces underneath the playground, but it just may not be possible to do that with the funds that are going to be available, and the school board has to get realistic about these things." Brown said.

Calling Option 6 a "half-baked solution," Mirisch said it does not do justice to the significance of Hawthorne's courtyard and central area.

"It's the heart and soul of the Hawthorne campus, and Hawthorne was the first school," Mirisch said. "It wasn't only built by a master architect, it's [also] beautiful. It's exactly the sort of thing that should be preserved for future generations."

Although the BHUSD is not subject to the City's historic preservation ordinance, Furie said the Cultural Heritage Commission has offered to take a look at Hawthorne in terms of historical significance, but the BHUSD has not responded in any formal way.

The Los Angeles Conservancy has also offered its assistance.

"We have worked with numerous projects involving historic school buildings and can offer assistance and help as the district evaluates various options, including the rehabilitation and reuse of the existing historic campus," Director of Advocacy Adrian Scott Fine wrote in a letter to then-Assistant Superintendent of Business Services Alex Cherniss in March. "In our experience, historic school buildings and campuses can provide a place to educate our children that also serve as important anchors that help define and sustain our communities."

Fine suggested looking into guidelines prepared by the Division of the State Architect, which reviews public-school construction plans in California, called "Rehabilitation of Existing Non-Conforming Buildings For Public School and California Community College Use" that provide some code flexibility in updating

"When the majority of the campus is being re-built, the original cluster, the A buildings, represent our past and our incredible historic resources," Furie said. "The fact that it will cost more to keep them should not be a reason to tear them down. The idea is that many projects combine the old with the new to preserve the character of an institution or a property."

BHUSD Chief Facilities Official Nelson Cayabyab and DLR Group principal architect Brett Hobza did not return phone calls from the Weekly.

The total amount of the unpaid balance with interest thereon of the obligation secured by the property to be sold plus reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is $971,524.26. It is possible that at the time of sale the opening bid may be less than the total indebtedness due. In addition to cash, the Trustee will accept cashier's checks drawn on a state or national bank, a check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state. Said sale will be made, in an "AS IS" condition, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession or encumbrances, to satisfy the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust, advances thereunder, with interest as provided, and the unpaid principal of the Note secured by said Deed of Trust with interest thereon as provided in said Note, plus fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust. If required by the provisions of section 2923.5 of the California Civil Code, the declaration from the mortgagee, beneficiary or authorized agent is attached to the Notice of Trustee's Sale duly recorded with the appropriate County Recorder's Office. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on a property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 1-800-281-8219 or visit this Internet Web site www.recontrustco. com, using the file number assigned to this case TS No. 12-0030422. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. RECONTRUST COMPANY, N.A. 1800 Tapo Canvon Rd., CA6-914-01-94 SIMI VALLEY.
