“This Week’s Multiple Choice Question”

The Beverly Hills Unified School District will spend more money for:

A. Attorneys’ fees fighting the proposed route of the subway.

B. Attorneys fees and/or settlements and/or judgments from lawsuits of former superintendents, Christiansen and others.

C. Too close to call between A and B

“Waxman Retires [Issue #749]”

Your interview with [retiring Congressman Henry] Waxman was classic Henry the “know-it-all.” He blames every impasse on the Tea Party and the GOP and never looks inward at his own party’s errors. He talks about compromise as if it were something only Republicans are supposed to do. (Uh, remind me how many Republican votes they got in ramming Obamacare down our throats?)

His own words proved how true my comment about his “limitless arrogance” is. Henry Waxman is incapable of even the slightest empathy for those who disagree with him.

At least he knows it is time to go!

Fenster resigns from COC; Greenberg Glusker to represent Korbatov and Hall

Attorney Fred Fenster resigned from the Citizen’s Oversight Committee, while the law firm Greenberg Glusker et al. was retained to represent BHUSD Board Members Lisa Korbatov and Lewis Hall in recent lawsuit filed by former Beverly High coach Jeff Fisher.

Fenster is a partner with Greenberg Glusker et al. and was recently a COC member. Two engagement letters retained Greenberg Glusker et al. to represent Korbatov and Hall in a lawsuit filed by Fisher. The letters were dated Feb. 5 and signed off by Fenster

To be a member of the COC, members must “not be a vendor, contractor, or consultant of the District,” according to the COC by-laws. By removing himself as member of the COC, Fenster avoids causing a conflict of interest.

According to BHUSD Superintendent Gary Woods, Fenster had submitted a letter of resignation that removes himself from the COC.

“I think this is a very critical time because the plans of the school board is to try to get support from the voters for continuation of the bond money,” COC

Chair Woody Clark said. "I really think the school board and the administration should spend quality time in getting some people [for the COC]."

Fisher filed a lawsuit against BHUSD, Beverly High Principal Carter Paysinger and 25 fictitious does on Jan. 24 on five counts, including retaliation and breach of oral and implied contract.

"This is a clear cut case of retaliation," Fisher's attorney Andrew Tregar said. "The perpetrator appears to have a history of violating the law."

According to BHUSD attorney Gary Gibeaut of Gibeaut Mahan and Briscoe, Fisher's contract was not renewed due to a failed attempt to correct "performance deficiencies."

"The decision to release [Fisher] from his coaching duties was based on what the District and what Paysinger felt were performance related issues," Gibeaut said. "He had been given the opportunity to cure those problems that had been brought to his attention. Unfortunately he did not rectify or correct those performance deficiencies therefore the decision was made to not renew his contract."

Gibeaut would not state what those performance deficiencies were.

An investigation on Beverly High's Sports Academy was conducted last August in effect of Fisher's contract non-renewal. See more on the investigation on the Sports Academy in Issue #749.

Sparks fly at Board of Education meeting

Board of Education Vice President Brian Goldberg disagreed with the Board's roles at a public seminar discussion and also had a verbal confrontation with Linda Brown, former Mayor Ed Brown's wife, Tues. afternoon.

Former BHUSD Board of Education President Mel Spitz hosted a seminar for the Board of Education and Superintendent about good governance and how to establish and implement district policies. It was an open, interactive forum that encouraged discourse.

Spitz said that the main point of the presentation was that the school board sets the policies and the superintendent is in charge of operating the schools in accordance with the policies.

According to Spitz, Goldberg disagreed and said that it's the responsibility of the school board to operate the schools rather than the superintendent.

"I know that he's wrong, but it just ended in a disagreement," Spitz said. "That was probably the main area of disagreement, but that was [also] the main point of the presentation."

Goldberg made a comment during the meeting that the process of how decisions were made between the city council and the school board were the same, and Linda Brown approached him after the meeting.

"I was trying to explain that there are more layers of staff and commissioners in the city council than there are in the school district," Brown said. "Then [Goldberg] said, 'Get out of my face, get out of here.'"

According to Brown, Goldberg said, "Get out of my face, get of here," multiple times to her and her husband.

"When a public official talks like that, it's just not right," Brown said. "They're trying to teach our children to be civil, and he was very uncivil."

Finance Committee member Herb Young also attended the meeting. Young said that he didn't witness what happened, but saw that Brown was "visibly shaken."

"The Board should reprimand him for that conduct," Young said. "[Goldberg] should make a public apology, not a private apology."

Goldberg did not return a phone call from the Weekly.

Carr announces candidacy for 33rd Congressional District

Gang prosecutor Elan Carr announced his candidacy to run for the 33rd Congressional District as a Republican candidate Monday morning.

Elan Carr

"Rather than showing leadership, the politicians we've sent [to Washington] have made it worse and there's no room for compromise," Carr said in a telephone interview Monday.

Carr said that solutions aren't being found for issues such as increasing debt, a health care system that doesn't work for everyone, and an educational system that could be improved.

"All of that is troubling and rather than finding solutions, there's a state of gridlock and dysfunction in Washington," Carr said. "It's troubling not only to me, but it's troubling to Americans everywhere, regardless of party."

Despite running as a Republican in a Democratic district, Carr believes that voters are less interested in party representation and more about what the candidates will do for the district.

Carr mentioned the 33rd Congressional District elections in 2012, when Bill Bloomfield, an Independent candidate, ran against then incumbent Henry Waxman. Bloomfield gained 46% of the votes and Waxman won with 56% of the votes.

"If you look two years ago when circumstances were dramatically different, [an Independent] almost beat Waxman," Carr said. "Now, it's an open seat. I think the voters in this district are interested in sending someone to Washington who is going to work for them, fight for them and protect their interests. That's someone they should expect from their representative in Washington. I think this election this year is going to be less about party and more about the candidates."

Carr comes from a family of immigrants. His mother fled from Iraq to Israel as a refugee and later came to the U.S. His stepfather fled Nazi-occupied Bulgaria to Israel and later came the U.S., and his father also came from a family of immigrants.

"They believed in the American Dream and the opportunity," Carr said. "They worked hard and it was their example that prompted me to take up civic responsibility and service. When I formulated my career path, it was always to try and make society better. That's why I became a prosecutor and that's why I joined the army to protect Americans."

Carr is a criminal gang prosecutor and a military veteran. He joined the U.S. Army and volunteered to be deployed to Iraq where he lead anti-terrorism teams and prosecuted terrorists.

Carr currently lives in Los Angeles with his wife Dahlia Lainer Carr, two daughters, Hannah (6) and Rachele (3), and is expecting a baby boy in the spring. His wife is a 1991 Beverly High graduate.

State Senator Ted Lieu (D-Torrance) and former Los Angeles City Controller Wendy Gruel are the leading Democratic candidates. Spiritual guru and author Marianne Williamson and television director and executive Brent Roske both declared their candidacy to run as inde-

NOTICE OF PLANNING COMMISSION STUDY SESSION DISCUSSION OF THE ESTABLISHMENT OF TIME LIMITS FOR DISCONTINUED LEGALLY NONCONFORMING USES AND CONDITIONALLY PERMITTED USES

At its regular meeting on Thursday, February 13, 2014, the Beverly Hills Planning Commission will discuss a study session item on the establishment of time limits for discontinued legally nonconforming uses and conditionally permitted uses.

DATE: Thursday, February 13, 2014

ITEM: Discussion of the establishment of time limits for discontinued legally nonconforming uses and conditionally permitted uses

TIME: 1:30 p.m., or as soon thereafter

LOCATION: Room 280-A
Beverly Hills City Hall
455 North Rexford Drive
Beverly Hills, CA 90210

Nonconforming uses are uses that were allowed by-right at one time in the past, but are now prohibited or require some form of discretionary review, such as a conditional use permit.

Conditionally permitted uses are uses reviewed and approved by the Planning Commission. The Planning Commission can add conditions of approval to a conditional use permit in order to make the findings necessary to grant the permit and address any potential impacts which the use might have on the neighborhood.

Currently, if property is left vacant for an extended period of time, the City's zoning code regulations allow nonconforming or conditionally permitted uses to be reestablished with no further review. The City Council has directed staff to work with the Planning Commission to discuss the possible establishment of regulations that would limit the reestablishment of these uses after the property has been vacant for a certain period of time.

At the study session, the Planning Commission will hear and consider all comments on this topic. The purpose of this meeting is to consider policy alternatives, and no decisions will be made at this meeting. All interested persons are invited to attend and speak on this matter. A separate, noticed public hearing will be held at a future date to discuss this topic further and consider a draft ordinance. The final decision on this matter will be made by the City Council during a noticed public hearing. Written comments may also be submitted, and should be addressed to the Planning Division, 455 N. Rexford Drive, Beverly Hills, CA 90210.

If there are any questions regarding this notice, please contact Timothea Tway, Assistant Planner in the Beverly Hills Community Development Department, at 310.285.1122. A copy of the staff report is on file in the Community Development Department located at 455 N. Rexford Drive, Beverly Hills, California 90210.

City Council approves CVB local and international marketing campaign funding requests

Julie Wagner

The City Council approved the Beverly Hills Conference and Visitors Bureau's funding request for a local and an international marketing proposal to increase consumer and travel traffic into Beverly Hills.

The BHCVB requested funding to accomplish two marketing objectives: A local marketing campaign to bring in visitors and consumers within a two-hour radius of Beverly Hills and an international marketing campaign targeted to the China travel market.

The local marketing campaign would support Beverly Hills' business owners and residents by expanding marketing to areas within a two-hour drive radius of Beverly Hills, which includes Orange County, San Diego and Santa Barbara.

"If a visitor came here a couple years ago and walked Beverly Drive or any of our shopping streets, I think they'd see a completely different place now," Beverly Hills Board Member and Two Rodeo Drive General Manager Bill Wiley said. "That's why I think this initiative is so important because we want people to come back, to explore and rediscover Beverly Hills."

Estimated costs for the local marketing initiative, which includes print, radio, email and creative work, amounts to $250,000.

Councilmember Julian Gold expressed concerns that the transient occupancy tax, which is a tax charged to hotel rooms to occupants staying less than 31 days, will not do as well as projected to cover the project costs of the campaigns since the CVB is requesting funding early.

"There's still a $300,000 buffer that is part of every budget [and] if TOT were to go south, [the buffer] would be able to cover the difference," CVB Executive Director Julie Wagner said. "But right now I think the City is forecasting a 4% TOT increase and hotels are showing revenues in excess of 10% and I don't anticipate that that's going to be an issue."

Gold also expressed concerns about how the CVB's initiatives will work together with the Chambers and their local marketing efforts.

"What we do and what we want to do is compliment whatever Chambers is doing," Wagner said.

"We're going to be focused on heavy advertising branding campaign [and] our program will reach out to people within a two-hour drive radius as opposed to just the Beverly Hills residents."

Wagner said that the next steps for the local marketing campaign are to finalize the marketing products with city council liaisons and CVB Board members before executing the campaign in early March.

The second objective is for CVB's general managers to host an event at China's International Travel Market to bring in more independent travelers from China.

Wagner said that approximately 38 million people travel internationally from China and about 1.3 million travelers came to the U.S. where California was the number one destination. By reaching out to China's travel markets to build Beverly Hills as a major travel destination, there would be more consumers and visitors to the city.

The estimated budget to hold an event at ILTM amounts to $100,000, which will be allocated to media, a Gala, gifts, a private VIP/government dinner, invitations and agency fees. The general managers will already be attending the ILTM using their personal funds to cover travel costs, and if Vice Mayor Lili Bosse also attends, she will also be using her own personal funds to cover travel costs.

Councilmember Willie Brien raised questions about the money budgeted towards gifts, which is $10,000 for approximately 150 people, and a "mighty rich" private dinner, which is $10,000 for approximately 30 people.

Wagner said that the money budgeted for gift bags include possible costs of shipping items and souvenirs overseas to China.

"Wherever we can minimize that cost, we can, but we want to be able to plan ahead in case that was not possible," Wagner said.

Wagner also said that since CVB will be holding the event for the first time, they used numbers similar to their New York sales mission, until they gain more experience in marketing on an international level.

The City Council approved the funding requests for both CVB's objects despite a few concerns on specific funding amounts.

Traditional Chinese dress fashion show

CVB hosts third annual Chinese New Year celebration

The Beverly Hills Conference and Visitors Bureau hosted an event for the Chinese New Year and the Year of the Horse on Feb. 8.

More than 1,500 people enjoyed the traditional entertainment and speeches on Rodeo Drive.

CVB Executive Director Julie Wagner and Vice Mayor Lili Bosse welcomed the attendees.

Entertainment included a traditional Chinese dress fashion show, ribbon dancers, acrobats, martial artists and a lion dance. Beijing pop singer Michael Ryan performed, and a local personal concierge Nancy Hsieh emceed the event in Mandarin and English.

State Senator Leland Yee (D-San Francisco) closed the show with a certificate of recognition from the California State Senate to honor CVB's dedication to the Chinese community.

The Chinese New Year celebration is part of CVB's "China Ready" strategy to welcome Chinese travelers into Beverly Hills.

Beverly Hills Fire Department inducts six new firefighters

Six newly inducted firefighters were sworn into their positions into the Beverly Hills Fire Department on Feb. 7.

All firefighters went through a series of exams and a four-week orientation training program.

The exams consisted of written examination, a series of interviews and an extensive background evaluation, which included a polygraph test, a psychiatric evaluation, a medical examination and a criminal history check.

The orientation training program included ladders, emergency medical response, fire prevention, and a numerous amount of other topics.

The six firefighters will have a one-year probationary period, which continues training and exams. At the end of the probationary period, they must pass a comprehensive exam on what they learned during the year.

“We are excited that the council has faith in us and looks to our board of directors to help guide the branding of the city,” Wagner said. “This is the first time anybody in any destination has done something like this with China. We’re really excited to see the results.”

Sunset date for ordinance allows Pressman to continue as Public Works Chair

Barry Pressman

The Beverly Hills City Council approved an ordinance with a sunset date lasting until Oct. 1 that allows Commission Chairs to serve two consecutive years.

With the original Municipal code, current Public Works Commission Chair Barry Pressman would not be able to serve more than one year as Chair. Pressman was elected as chair towards the end of his first year term, which would end five months into his second term. Under the existing Municipal Code, Pressman could only serve as chair for seven months into his second term, but the Commission re-elected Pressman to serve a second term as Chair.

“Pressman does an excellent job and he should get a chance to do it more than 12 months,” Public Works Vice Chair Ron Shalowitz said. “We would rather him continue, he would like to continue, how do we allow that to happen?”

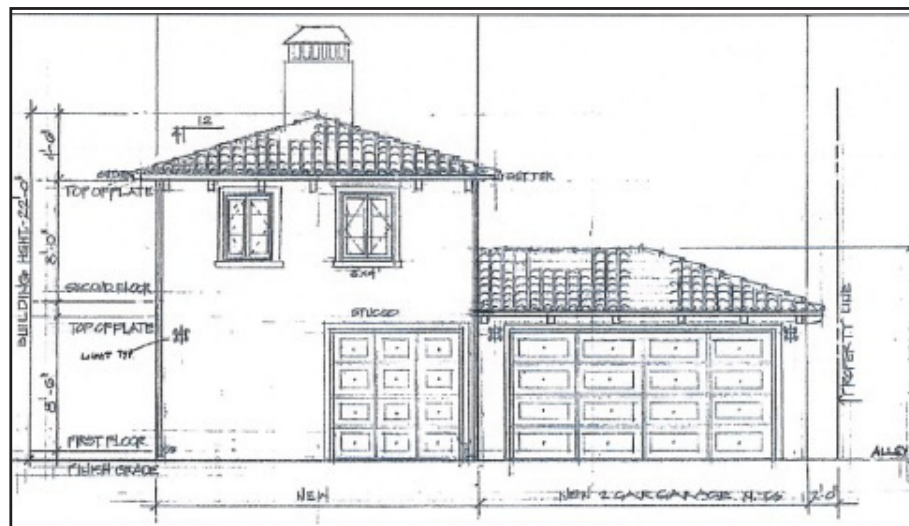

Shalowitz said that the decision was unanimous to have Pressman continue as Chair.

Cartagena explained that Pressman and Shalowitz were both in their first term when they were appointed as Chair and Vice Chair, with the other three commissioners terming out within the year. Cartagena requested to change the municipal code to allow current chairs to serve two consecutive years, which allows Pressman to continue serving as Chair.

Councilmember Julian Gold said that a plan is already being determined that “specifically addresses rotation of chairs [and] seniority.”

“When you see what we’ve done it’s likely to change [the municipal code] yet again,” Gold said. “There’s a clear rotation, there’s real rules to it [and] the matter and timing of commissioner appointments is such as we won’t get into this issue.”

Mayor John Mirisch proposed a sunset date, which allows the municipal code to be changed and be effective up to a particular date unless further action is taken to extend the code.

700 North Linden Drive rendering

City Council approves residential construction exceeding height limitations

City Council approved the construction of a two story accessory structure at 700 North Linden Drive that will exceed the 14-foot height limitation with a 3-1 vote on Feb. 4.

Councilmembers Julian Gold, Nancy Krasne and Willie Brien approved the construction while Mayor John Mirisch dissented. Vice Mayor Lili Bosse owns property within 500 feet of the proposed construction and recused herself from the hearing.

The proposed project will be a 22-foot, two-story accessory structure with approximately 1,062 square feet on the ground floor. Three parking spaces, a storage space and bathroom will be on the first floor. The second floor is 522 square feet and will have a bedroom, a bathroom, a kitchen, a laundry facility and living area.

Several residents spoke at the de novo public hearing and presented letters and a petition with residents against the construction project.

Residents said that the additional eight feet above the maximum height would impose on the surrounding neighbor’s privacy. The unit will also have amenities that will accommodate independent living conditions, and residents were concerned that the applicants for the proposed project would rent the unit for low-income housing.

City Planner Jonathan Lait clarified that the applicant is not proposing low-income or affordable housing.

“One of the objectives that we’re trying to achieve is creating housing opportunities for diverse income levels in the city,” Lait said. “It’s difficult in Beverly Hills to get housing that is affordable to all incomes because of land values and so forth.”

Lait said that family members or caregivers typically occupy the second units in Beverly Hills, and some of those rooms are rented. These units would qualify as “more affordable under the state’s view of our regulation, not that [it is] actually providing or putting low-income or affordable housing for low-income.” Lait also said that the unit would only support one single family, not two.

Planning Commissioner Brian Rosenstein presented the commissions’ findings to approve the secondary accessory building.

“We did not see any impacts on privacy to the properties adjacent,” Rosenstein said. “[There’s] a significant number of properties in the vicinity that have similar type structures. It’s irrelevant to our findings whether this is an investment, a person’s home, or whether or not they intend to rent it.”

Brien, Gold, Krasne and Mirisch agreed that the 26-foot chimney is overbearing and should be removed as an added condition to the resolution.

“The fact that the applicant isn’t even here it’s like they don’t care,” Mirisch said. “Why should they get a minor accommodation or any accommodation if they’re not here? They can’t explain themselves whereas the residents have taken the time to come here and state their views.”

Mirisch said that though there are already structures that are above the 14-foot height limitation, the majority of resident homes comply with the height limitation, and “that should be the standard.”

“It’s really just a ‘there goes the neighborhood’ argument where we’re throwing up our hands and saying whatever,” Mirisch said.

“In terms of principle, we’re not going to want to have any chair to serve for two years,” Mirisch said.

By allowing a sunset on the ordinance, the municipal code would not have to be changed multiple times, which was a concern Councilmember Nancy Krasne brought up.

“It was an unusual circumstance that occurred,” Krasne said.

Mamtek's bankruptcy case continues; Peden sued on four counts

Four new lawsuits were filed in relation to the Mamtek's bankruptcy case, including one against Mamtek's former attorney Steven Peden, in the first week of Jan.

Peden worked for Steptoe and Johnson, located at 2112 Avenue of the Stars, when he provided legal services to Mamtek's President, CEO and former Beverly Hills resident Bruce Cole and Mamtek.

Cole was arrested on Sept. 18 in Dana Point in connection to a failed artificial sweetener business deal between Mamtek and the City of Moberly, Mo. involving a $38 million bond. Cole is being charged with five felonies – one count of theft and four counts of securities fraud. The Weekly covered the charges in issue #677's cover story.

Peden is being sued on four counts, including negligence and breach of fiduciary duties, for failure to perform his responsibilities as legal counsel.

Mamtek's Chief Operating Officer Reena Gordon sent a memorandum

The Scrabble event will be held at The Mark from 6:00 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at The Mark on 9320 West Pico Blvd.

The honorary host committee will be chaired by Mayor Eric Garcetti and includes Mayor John Mirisch, Vice Mayor Lili Bosse, Councilmembers Julian Gold, Nancy Krasne and Willie Brien, Superintendent Gary Woods, Board of Education President Noah Margo, Board of Education Members Brian Goldberg, Howard Goldstein, Lewis Hall and Lisa Korbatov.

BookEnds has been a partner of the Beverly Hills Schools for 15 years, and is a non-profit organization started by an eight year old boy who asked for used books from his classmates for his mom's orphanage. BookEnds has donated more than two and a half million books.

on Sept. 6, 2010 to Cole, Peden and Mamtek's Director and shareholder and former BHUSD Board of Education member Alissa Roston. Gordon raised concerns that Mamtek may have made material misrepresentations with bond documents, according to the complaint filed against Peden.

The memorandum was made for "Mamtek [to] investigate any possible misrepresentations that may have been made in connection with Mamtek's raising of capital and the use of government grants/programs to build a U.S. factory" and the "use of bond proceeds."

Though Peden wrote an e-mail to Gordon stating a review will be conducted, Gordon received no information regarding an investigation into the issues she raised and submitted a letter of resignation on Oct. 1, 2010.

Peden further disputed statements made in Gordon's letter, which included Gordon's claims of Mamtek making misrepresentations to government entities and their agents, bond investors and potential investors. Peden did not make, nor requested any investigation to be made for Gordon's concerns, according to the complaint.

Peden requested that Roston perform the investigation, despite her inexperience in internal corporate investigations. Though Roston prepared a two-page memorandum in Nov. 2010, she did not address the issues Gordon raised.

According to the complaint, if Peden requested a proper internal investigation, the findings would have caused Mamtek to stop drawing money from the bonds and that "Mamtek had made material misrepresentations." Moberly would have then been informed and "refused to permit Mamtek to make additional draws on the bond funds."

The first date for Cole's trial on his criminal case is June 16.

"We're going to present our defenses to the jury to see what the verdict is," Cole's attorney, Moberly District Defender Raymond Legg, said.

Legg did not provide any further comment on the case.

A WALK IN THE PARK

The Weekly's interview with Recreation and Parks Commission Chair Howard Rosoff

By Nancy Yeang

What brought you to Beverly Hills?

Falling in love with a lovely lady [Roberta Haft]. We were introduced by friends. At that point I was not living in Beverly Hills.

How did you become a Recreation and Parks commissioner?

When I moved here I really got to like the city. Jimmy Delshad, who was mayor [at the time], encouraged me to join Team Beverly Hills, which I did. Going through all of the departments of the city, the one that I saw that I liked the best was Rec and Parks because I felt that it had the broadest scope of any other commission. We work with fine arts, we work with the trees, we work with the youth, we work with the seniors, we work with the athletic programs, we work with Greystone, we work with the Farmer's Market [and] we work with a lot of human resource divisions. In my mind, [Recreation and Parks has] the broadest scope of touching more areas of the city and more people in the city than any other department.

The Lily Pond was re-dedicated last week in celebration of the City's Centennial. Tell us about that.

The Lily Pond is a public/private project. It was actually started as the idea of Steven Gordon who was a resident, his business is here, he grew up in Beverly Hills, he's a philanthropist and he wanted to restore the park system along Santa Monica Boulevard to what he called its original glory. [Gordon] went to the city council, city council agreed, and we started working on it. I worked along with [Commissioner] Robbie Anderson as liaison from Recreation and Parks to both the city council and Mr. Gordon and his team and we went over the plans and the first place to be completed would be the Lily Pond because we felt it would make the biggest impact and show citizens what could be done. It turned out to be just absolutely beautiful.

What's the next phase in the Beverly Gardens Park renovation?

There are two things. We want to redo, as the next step, the electric fountain at Santa Monica and Wilshire. At the same time the Friends of Beverly Gardens received a very significant donation from someone whose home I think it's the Foothill/Elm or Elm/Maple block, I'm not sure which one, but this one person came up with enough of a donation that we think we can get that one started also even ahead of the fountain.

The Roxbury Park renovation has been a controversial topic. How do you feel about the current renovation plans?

I think that we're going to have an incredibly beautiful building. It will serve the community very well. Hopefully the seniors get to enjoy it more than they enjoyed the old one before we tore it down and the students will want to come after school and participate. I think they're going to have transition program so that in the later afternoon it will be more for the high school and then junior high school kids and during the morning and early afternoon it will be more for the seniors and the adults.

What was [originally] recommended was a larger facility having some additional space for other activities. The citizens of the city made it known that they didn't want anything that size and so city council authorized redoing the Roxbury Center on the footprint of the old center.

It's under budget by approximately $1.3 million.

We're pleased that we've come in under budget and we're going to be on time, so it's a very happy project.

Will there be any further additions to the park?

We are going to now replace all of the playground equipment, putting in all new playground equipment, plus a water feature. Some of it will be a little newer type of version of playground equipment which the manufacturers and other recreational areas where we went to with these kind of playground equipment pieces are located they will attract more kids and they will also give them more athletic benefit.

Do you think it was a mistake to rebuild Roxbury Park without additional parking?

No, I think there's adequate parking. But like anything else, before something goes into use everybody has legitimate concerns, some of which materializes and some of which don't, and I don't think we're going to have a problem.

When does the park open?

Between May and June. Early spring is when we'll have the dedication.

At the last Recreation and Parks meeting, Commissioner Susan Gersh mentioned that having a sculpture garden would be a great addition to Beverly Hills. What can you tell us about having a sculpture garden in Beverly Hills?

The idea of having a sculpture garden in Beverly Gardens is an idea that has been floated around and has generally been accepted as a goal, but not necessarily an immediate project.

We now have three major pieces there, and there are other locations within that block that would be available for an appropriate piece of art. A lot of people believe that [having a sculpture garden] will create greater use of the park, [and] also be a greater attraction for tourists. There's a positive attitude toward it, but there are other people also who feel that they don't want a concentration of art at this time just north of Wilshire Boulevard. They'd like to see some art going in other places of the city. It is a thought that is there because of the fact that there are already several pieces of sculpture in that particular block that it may be an appropriate place to develop a sculpture garden.

What type of fine art pieces would you like to see be included in this garden?

I think there are two things that are important. One is that the art be something that is not required to have extensive protection. Right now [for] the Kusama [piece], we have a whole lot of discussion because people tend to climb on that. We need to look for art that is not going to require a lot of maintenance [and] isn't going to cause people to inappropriately damage it.

On the other hand if we could get some interactive art, art that is made intentionally made for interaction that would be really great. We're looking for things what we call park are appropriate, meaning they look beautiful in a park, they belong there, they're not dangerous, they don't require excessive maintenance and it might be interactive so that people can come and touch and feel and learn what the art's about.

Roberta Haft and Howard Rosoff

Jake Dicker, Howard Rosoff, Jennifer Dicker, Kevin Dicker and Reilly Dicker

What else is the Commission working on?

We've put in outdoor exercise equipment at La Cienega [Park]. That's turned out to be very successful. We're considering after the Roxbury Center is done, assuming the budgetary situation allows it, to bring in some outdoor exercise equipment for Roxbury. The thoughts are starting about doing some renovation and remodeling at the center at La Cienega Park. We're also continually seeking to find an appropriate place for a dog park. We're having difficulty in finding places that are large enough and far enough away from the residences so that additional traffic and noise would be minimal. We want to finish all of the Gateways to the City, the next two that we'll be working on is at Olympic and one at San Vicente and Wilshire on the east side. In fact we'll be looking at a mock up of that next week I believe.

What is your occupation?

I'm an attorney, since Jan. 1963. I went to UCLA for my law degree and then I went to USC for a masters in law.

Tell us about your family.

I have two children. My son David is the general manager at Osteria Mozza, it's one of the top restaurants in the city. My daughter Jennifer is a former teacher, raising twins who are 12 years old. She was part of the LAUSD system, and taught the third grade.

Is there anything else you would like to tell us?

I am thrilled to be a Commissioner, a little more thrilled to be the Chairman. This was a commission that I wanted to be on because I thought it would involve more elements of the city and it's turned out to be that way. The most important thing I think, [is that] this is a commission that's made up of people who are totally dedicated to doing the right thing for the city. There are no egos, there are no agendas. We really work together excellently as a commission.

Joyner made eight saves.

Hawthorne opened the scoring in the 38th minute on a goal by Francisco Alvarez, who scored twice in a 4-1 victory over the Normans Jan. 15.

"They have a couple of very talented players and after playing them the first time, got a feel for what they were doing."

Ramirez "had an exceptional game," said Rappaport, who also praised the play of Joyner, Cole Offer, Daniel Kahn and Roman Zaragoza for Beverly Hills.

You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale.
