CORRECTIONS, Issue #807

- The "People & Profiles" feature on Rosalind Wyman incorrectly states that the Wallis Annenberg Center is located inside the library; in fact, it is located inside the old post office. Senator Dianne Feinstein helped Vicki Reynolds obtain this building on behalf of the city.
- "Board of Education Shakeup" mistakenly states that Board of Education member Brian Goldberg's motion to nominate Board member Lisa Korbatov as vice president failed with a 1-4 vote. The final vote was actually 1-3-1, with Korbatov abstaining.

"Bond spending and acceleration"

Next week our BHUSD board is scheduled to consider issuing bonds under Measure E years in advance of the schedule under which Measure E was passed. The object of getting bond money much earlier than the voter approved timing has been termed 'acceleration' and will have the effect of approximately doubling the school district portion of property taxes – despite promises at the time of Measure E and by subsequent boards to not do so.

Let's step back from the legal and moral questions of breaking commitments and review the stewardship of the $100 million+ already used. Here's what we know – the district has just received a judgment against it to the tune of $13 million related to its prior construction management i.e., to Strategic Concepts and Karen Christiansen. Additionally, the board spent literally untold millions – because the amount is under client attorney privilege – in supporting the district attorney's efforts to convict Christiansen in the first place. It's unclear how much this fiasco will cost before it is finally resolved but there was a singular root cause in that the board actively placed an individual in a conflict of interest posi-

Gold sworn-in as Mayor

Anesthesiologist Julian Gold became the 50th person sworn in as Beverly Hills Mayor at their annual installation ceremony Tuesday evening at the Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences. Darrell Weinberg, who donated a life-saving stem cell transplant to Gold in 2006, delivered the oath of office via a taped presentation.

“To be a nice Jewish boy from Queens, New York, who thought the Beach Boys were only kidding, this is surreal,” Gold said in his speech.

A minor controversy surrounding the rotation for vice mayor evaporated when Councilmember John Mirisch was elected to the position.

During a contentious public comment period, several residents, including former Beverly Hills Mayor Robert K. Tanenbaum, argued for the traditional rotation to be observed. Tanenbaum rebuked a letter emailed out earlier that day by the West Hollywood Democratic Club, which called Mirisch “a cantankerous Republican.”

“I notice everybody has organized to bolster John here tonight and that’s fine,” Councilmember Nancy Krasne said. “This Council has the privilege of electing a leader and we elected Dr. Gold and we elected Lili Bosse, but when somebody—whether they violate the rules or do not do things accordingly—there are consequences, and we are well educated and aware of what goes on. When things are repeated that shouldn’t be, those kinds of things have to be dealt with.”

Krasne, who had nominated

Councilmember Willie Brien for vice mayor before the public comment period began, later abstained. Gold and Councilmember Lili Bosse voted for Mirisch; both Mirisch and Brien voted for themselves.

“My goal is not to change the ongoing and very productive work of our city committees and commissions. Those will continue,” Gold said in his speech. “But it is important to highlight areas where we can start to shape our future, where residents and business can come together to create a vision and, to some extent, control our own future.”

COC members discuss Measure E, future of the committee at March meeting

At the Citizens’ Oversight Committee meeting last Thursday, BHUSD Superintendent Gary Woods shed some light on how the district plans to pay the $13.7 million Karen Christiansen judgment.

“Since we are a public entity, there is some language that protects entities like ours in terms of payment,” Woods said. “In other words, do you give them a lump sum; do you spread it out over time? The district would certainly exercise all of its rights and responsibilities according to that particular scope of payment because we are a public entity and our business is to educate kids. There is a long way to go on this thing.”

COC chair Woody Clark and Audit subcommittee chair Joe Safier later referenced a story in issue #807 of the Weekly which reported that both members had asked the publication to leave the briefs cont. on page 4 tion. With Strategic Concepts, a contract employee was being paid to find construction issues for which they were then paid to oversee supposed resolution. It does not take a rocket scientist to guess what happens. Unfortunately, the board has created this exact dynamic yet again with a contractor in charge of identifying facility issues and then being paid to oversee resolution. To be clear this is not any implication other than a failed management structure.

Turning to proposed spending for all the new funds. The plans for BHUSD are just plain awful – terrible land use and a complete lack of vision and creativity for what should be the next 50 plus years. By comparison, the Horace Mann campus currently being reconstructed is an excellent plan, greatly increasing the usability of open space. The only problem with the Horace Mann project is that no one really knows how much it is actually costing.

It’s not that the district shouldn’t do something. It’s that there isn’t a plan or management team in whom we can trust. The bond ‘acceleration’ needs to be put off until the after the next election and a strong new management team under Steve Kessler (our incoming superintendent) has been put in place.

“Extending Venoco’s lease”

For over 55 years, Venoco has partnered with the Beverly Hills Unified School District. This partnership has benefited the school district immensely – in the form of millions of dollars in annual revenue from royalties. This partnership has also financially benefited our community and our neighbors, many of who are royalty holders.

That’s why I am puzzled when I hear the school district is unwilling to sit down and at least have a conversation with Venoco about extending their lease at Beverly Hills High School. It seems to me like this partnership has consistently resulted in a win-win-win situation for decades – so why is the school district making it difficult for this partnership to continue? It just doesn’t make sense to me. Beverly Hills Unified School District needs to sit down with Venoco and at least give them the opportunity to discuss the extension of this lease.

I have been a resident of this city since 1971 and a business owner since circa 1991.

March 13th Audit subcommittee meeting during the discussion of the Measure E Performance Report with representatives from Harvey Rose Associates. Safier called the Weekly's account of the incident a "mischaracterization."

"I don't think that we are allowed to have closed session meetings of the COC because it's supposed to be open to the public," said Legal-Ethics subcommittee chair Jerid Maybaum. "We didn't vote on it but we were discussing it [at the Legal-Ethics subcommittee meeting two months ago] and I believe the consensus of the lawyers in the room was that it would be inappropriate for the Board [of Education] to identify or select individual members of the COC to pull into a closed session meeting and give them information that those members are then supposed to go back and make a recommendation [on]."

An ongoing concern of the COC, the status of Measure E funds also shaped the conversation on Thursday.

"Can I restate it a little bit differently?" said COC member Bradley Gibbons in response to COC member Craig Davis' suggestion that the BHUSD is "running out of money."

"Your point is valid and accurate," Gibbons said. "But it should be put in a different frame of light. It's not that we're running out of money, it's that the projects we're doing are in scope and on budget. The other projects require additional funds for approval by the [Board of Education] and the community."

COC members Clark, Safier, Shirley Zaragoza and Steve Hendry will term out this June. At their meeting next month, committee members will vote on Clark's recommendations for a new chair and vice chair: Joshua Friedman and Gibbons, respectively.

According to Woods, the search for a BHUSD Chief Facilities Officer is still ongoing; no "particularly exciting" candidates have been identified yet.

Planning commissioners discuss automated parking

The Planning Commission discussed the development of a draft ordinance to allow automated parking to fulfill minimum parking requirements at their meeting on March 12.

"I totally agree with my fellow commissioners," said Vice Chair Alan Robert Block. "I think this is the way to go—it's the future and it looks like the future is here. I would prefer the fully automated system rather than the partially [automated system]."

A fully automated system uses sensors, cameras and motorized lifts to shuttle vehicles from an arrival/departure area to a storage area.

A semi-automated parking system uses elevators or hydraulic lifts to lift cars above one another and stack them; it generally requires an operator at the facility to move the cars.

CEO of Auto Parkit Christopher Alan weighed upon the benefits of a fully automated system.

"There are significant environmental impacts," Alan said. "There are a number of studies that will show the amount of emissions that are removed—not removed, but not put into the environment

Goldberg condo purchased by Korbato's nephew; nephew made $65K profit

Los Angeles County property records indicate that Board of Education member Lisa Korbato's nephew Sammy Aflalo purchased an underwater condominium headed for foreclosure from Board member Brian Goldberg and his wife Eleonora for $335,000 in June 2009. Within a month, Aflalo transferred the property to his mother's LLC, 4410 Avocado Street, and then sold it to a new buyer for $400,000, making $65,000 in profit.

At the time of the sale, Goldberg was a Board member, whereas Korbato was running for a seat on the Board; she was elected in November 2009.

The Goldbergs purchased the property, unit #204, upon first moving to Beverly Hills in 2005 for $550,000, with a 10 percent down payment. At the time of the purchase, Goldberg was briefly Director of the Maple Counseling Center.

"One possible interpretation of the public record is that a below-market transaction occurred," said tax attorney Robert Strauss, who is not affiliated with any of the parties. "However, without knowing all of the facts, it is not possible to reach any definitive conclusion."

The condominium was headed for foreclosure, qualifying the transaction for a short sale. A Notice of Trustee's Sale was filed by the lender in May 2009 with a minimum bid of $511,648.

"[In a short sale], because the seller is often desperate to sell, the price is usually lower than fair market value," Strauss said. "That would take it out of the [fair market value] standard because the seller does actually have a compulsion to sell or else the seller is going to lose the property to the bank. Under the circumstances, this transaction would not surprise me very much."

Strauss described fair market value as the amount at which a property and its assets would equitably change hands between a willing seller and a willing buyer when neither is acting under compulsion and when both have reasonably complete knowledge of the relevant facts.

The sale may or may not meet the requirements for an arm's length transaction, which, according to Metrobrokers.com, is when the buyers and sellers of a product act autonomously and have no relationship to each other.

As part of a short sale, the parties involved sign a declaration under penalty of perjury attesting to an arm's length transaction.

Currently, condos in the area are listed in the $700,000 to $1 million range.

Aflalo is an entrepreneur who, among other things, owned the Kosher Subway on Pico.

Beverly Hills Weekly asked Board of Education member Brian Goldberg to answer a series of questions on a number of topics, including his business dealings. Goldberg then leaked the questions, which were published in last week's Beverly Hills Courier. In The Courier article, Goldberg claimed he answered the questions, but The Courier did not publish his responses. The questions are as follows:

1) In your email sent to Beverly Hills Weekly you indicate that you were "last paid by Casa de la Familia in 2011". Yet in the Beverly Hills Courier article of 3/13 pg 22, you indicate that you have "worked there for 8 years". Explain which statement is correct. Why would you make a conflicting statement to the Courier and/or the Weekly?

2) An address in Santa Ana affiliated with Casa de la Familia was listed on the board agenda as the place from which you were calling in to the 3/12 Board of Education meeting. Why would you list this address on an official board agenda if you don't "work" there?

3) Are you now, or have you ever been, a Director for Casa de la Familia?

4) Does your wife/ex-wife Eleonora Kawka aka Eleonora Goldberg receive any compensation from Casa de la Familia, now or at any time in the past?

5) Do you agree the Form 990 and an IRS tax return are signed under penalty of perjury?

6) You indicate in your email that your judgment from SAE Enterprises was satisfied in full, please submit evidence of this. Isn't it true that this judgment was satisfied by a related lawsuit pertaining to a conflict of interest ruling involving a previous attorney who represented you? Did this attorney's liability insurance actually satisfy the SAE judgment? Did you personally make any cash payments and/or garnishments to satisfy the SAE enterprises judgment? Please explain in detail.

7) Did you file for bankruptcy in an attempt to avoid paying the SAE judgment? Please explain.

8) Did you divorce your wife/ex-wife Eleonora Kawka aka Eleonora Goldberg in an attempt to shield her significant income at Amgen from the SAE judgment? Have you since remarried?

9) Explain the circumstances under which you left your home at 462 S La Peer Drive? Was it subject to a foreclosure?

10) Were you fined by the FPCC (Fair Political Practices Commission) for errors and omissions related to your 2007 Board of Education campaign? Please explain.

11) Did you receive any compensation as a "Beverly Hills College Admissions Consultant"? Do you see an inherent conflict of interest for a sitting Beverly Hills Board of Education member to hold such a position for profit?

because the cars are not circling looking for a parking space."

In October 2014, the City Council advised staff to move forward with several parking-related efforts that were considered in the in-lieu parking study completed by the Community Development Department. This included preparation of a draft ordinance that would allow automated parking to fulfill minimum parking requirements for development in the City.

Parking spaces provided in automated parking facilities currently cannot count toward code-required parking in the City.

Beverly Hills Municipal Code (BHMC) Section 10-3-100 and the City's "minimum parking standards" guide govern the standards for parking spaces that may be used to fulfill requirements for parking.

Currently, the City of West Hollywood is in the process of constructing a 200-space public parking garage at its City Hall that is 54,500 square feet. A standard garage would have necessitated 76,000 square feet for the same number of spaces.

Commissioners provided comments and recommendations to staff regarding automated parking, but took no formal action.

City announces major gift to restore Beverly Gardens Park

Beverly Hills, through the Friends of Beverly Gardens Park, has received a $200,000 donation from Wanda Beverly Hills Properties to help restore the City's century-old park. Mayor Julian Gold and Wanda Group Chairman Wang Jianlin will attend a ceremony tomorrow at 4:30 p.m. at the Beverly Gardens Park Lily Pond to announce and celebrate the gift.

The donation will help restore the portion of the park neighboring Wanda's property located at 9900 Wilshire Boulevard. Wanda's eight-acre property and Beverly Gardens Park form the City's western gateway.

The Wanda Group is China's largest real estate development firm and the world's largest movie theatre chain.

Other major contributors to the effort include Hershenson Investments, Steven Gordon Family Foundation, Kennedy Wilson, Lili and Jon Bosse, Larry Field, Robert Zarnegin, Geoff Palmer and Cartier.

“GOLD IS THE NEW ORANGE”

Newly installed Mayor Julian Gold on his goals for the year ahead

By Mina Riazi

What are your goals as Mayor?

I think that the goal of the Council, in general, and certainly my goal, is to put this city in an even better place than it is today. I am excited about building on the momentum that Mayor [Lili] Bosse established to unite and energize this community. There are several major projects that we will have to deal with in this next year and we will have to be able to prioritize them, understand how we're going to afford them and then implement them in the most efficient way that we can. There are already some projects in progress. We are going to hear, for instance, the Water Master Plan. That will come before us in the next month or two. We're going to have to carefully evaluate that and what the City's needs for water are and how we're going to accomplish that in the long term. The Santa Monica Boulevard reconstruction project will be in front of us in the next few months and we also will have to ensure that it gets done as cost efficiently and as time efficiently as we can and that we do our best to mitigate the impacts on the residents. We've begun the utility relocation for the subway at La Cienega and Wilshire. We're beginning the discussion with Metro about the agreement for the station construction. Those are three major projects that will engage the Council in the near term and will have big impacts on the City.

You work as a full-time anesthesiologist at Cedars-Sinai. How will you make time for your mayoral duties?

I am fortunate to be part of a strong anesthesia department; I am the co-Chair of the Department and this provides flexibility in my schedule. Additionally, I've been a councilmember for four years and while I know that the mayor's duties are more time-consuming, I have managed, over the last four years, to manage both schedules—to get them to intertwine reasonably well—and I can get it all done.

How will your mayoral style be different from Lili Bosse's approach?

I think Lili has done a great job. I think that her enthusiasm for what she did and for our city came through in everything that she did and said. She had tremendous energy for the City for an entire year and she also had the good fortune of being the mayor during the year that the City turned 100, which was a year of celebration. My basic style is different, I tend to be a processer, while at the same time reaching out to others to inform my thoughts. I think that the role of the mayor is to represent the city well. I hope to do that; Lili certainly did. Whether you give the speech in an alto voice or baritone, it's still a speech that is in support of the city and whatever you're doing.

Tell us about the major themes of your installation speech.

[I talked about] a future state. I really do want us to focus on a longer term vision. I have outlined specific issues that I think we should deal with. We must also continue some of the things that have been started this year. We may modify them some, but some of the initiatives that [Lili Bosse] started will continue. How did I write my speech? The hardest part was narrowing it down because there are 150,000 things I wanted to do and I knew that I had only a year. There are two elements to it: one is to narrow it to something that's doable, and take the ones that are most important. I hope that some of the initiatives appeal to the next mayor. I hope to create things that can keep going. Some initiatives I hope have a longer duration because they do have a greater benefit over a longer period of time.

How will your administration transition following Mayor Lili Bosse?

I think it will be easy. I think that Lili and I have always worked well together and I've worked well with the other councilmembers; I expect that it should be an easy transition and we'll just continue to do the city's business.

You were on the Traffic & Parking Commission and Recreation & Parks before serving on City Council. What sparked your interest in local politics?

When you talk about the things that are important to residents, most of our happiness, most of our sense of well-being, comes from our immediate community. And if you feel protected and if your streets are pretty and your recreational facilities are nice and your kids have good schools and they like their sport or their band or their dance, whatever their recreation is, you know those are the things that create well-being for a community and those are all things that are controlled by local government. The water is there, the streets are paved, the police and fire show up, the parks are beautiful, the programming is robust—these are all in the control of the local government. In a small town we actually have control over our local government. If we lived in larger cities like Los Angeles, not so much. But in a town of 35,000 people, we have the ability to control our environment and therefore create a sense of well-being for our residents. I really believe that that's why we do this: because we have a goal of making life better for our residents.

Tell us about your family.

My wife is Michele, we've been married for 27 years. We met in New York but were married here, actually in the home we were living in at the time in Cheviot Hills. We moved to Beverly Hills in 1994. Our daughter [Becca] was born in 1991, she's 24 now. We moved to Beverly Hills for the schools and she graduated Hawthorne and then [Beverly High] and went to Carnegie Mellon and came back and worked for a year and is now doing a post-baccalaureate at Chapman [University]; she wants to go to physical therapy school. My dad [Herbert] is 92; he'll be 93 in August. My mom [Carol] is 88. My sister Philippa lives in New York. And Michele's family is all from the Midwest, they live outside of Chicago, and her sister Bobbie and brother-in-law Rick and niece Julie were at the installation, too. Unfortunately, our other niece Karrie had to stay home and take care of her three kids and husband EJ.

—Mayor Julian Gold

You received a life-saving stem cell transplant in 2006. Tell us about that.

Getting sick was like getting struck by a bolt of lightning. I had been healthy all my life and then one day I wasn't; it all happened pretty quickly. I was hospitalized within a couple of days of the diagnosis and spent several weeks, maybe three or four weeks, at Cedars [Sinai] for the first round of [chemotherapy]. And then [I] went home for a few weeks and came back for another round of [chemotherapy]. After that, I went to the City of Hope for the stem cell transplant. The donor was unknown to me—actually was unknown to me for a year—which is the protocol for the donation. A year after we actually met at one of the “picnics” that the City of Hope has on an annual basis for survivors of bone marrow and stem cell transplants. We stayed in touch. He's a very nice man, obviously, and I'm more than indebted to him. He's the guy that when asked “Why did you do it,” said, “It was the right thing to do.” So Michele stays in touch with him by email. And that his why he had a role in the installation.

One year from now, what do you hope to have accomplished as Mayor?

One year from now, the city should be better than it is today. We should have a plan for replacing an aging infrastructure, understand what our technological needs for the next 5-10 years will be and how we can pay for them, have developed a program for the identification and development of new young leaders and confronted the challenge of unfunded liabilities. At the same time, we must maintain the city's strong fiscal position and the residents' sense of community and well being. Accomplishing all of this is a home run. I believe we can accomplish it.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Saeed Dahi Taleghani be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on April 2, 2015 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 79 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on April 8, 2015 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 29 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Notice to Potential Bidders If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a Trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a Trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about Trustee Sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call In Source Logic at 702-659-7766 for information regarding the Trustee's Sale or visit the Internet Web site address listed below for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case, CA08004779-14-1.
