Yaroslavsky criticizes Board's use of money, Courier publisher

At a Rotary Club meeting on Nov. 26, Los Angeles County Supervisor Zev Yaroslavsky criticized the Board of Education's spending and Courier publisher Clif Smith for his attacks on Mayor Willie Brien.

"We allow politicians to speak at our meetings and he does represent our district but we try not to be political," said Rotary Club president AJ Willmer, who said he would not comment to Yaroslavsky's speech.

Yaroslavsky spoke to Rotary members regarding the dispute between Metro and Beverly Hills, in which he addressed the importance of having the Westside subway line. He spoke on the scientific support in regards to the proposed Metro route, and criticized BHUSD for spending money on experts and lawsuits while facing a $3.5 million deficit.

"The school district, which is $3.5 million in the red and is asking taxpayers of Beverly Hills to approve a parcel tax next spring, is spending hundreds of thousands of dollars a quarter on lobbyists and lawyers to file lawsuits against the MTA. The only winners of this are going to be the lawyers," he said. "If the school district wins, all it forces is for us to redo our environmental impact report where it is deficient and then approve it. It's not going to change the routing of the subway tunnel. Just the school district alone will spend millions of dollars on lawyers pursuing a case that in the end they can't win."

He said there was not a safety issue because the proposed tunnels would be eight stories underground.

"MTA has tried to be responsive to some of the concerns even though we don't believe they are legitimate concerns. There are tunnels under schools all over the world, all over the country, all over California and even in Los Angeles," he said. "These tunnels are going to be 80 feet underground. There's no issue of safety here and there's also no issue of being in the way of the school's future construction plans because no school district and no high school is going to build a subsurface structure six to eight stories underground. It's just cost prohibitive and it makes no sense."

Yaroslavsky said the current route would not place the tunnel under any classroom buildings.

OUR DATA SPEAKS VOLUMES

“Our current route does not take the tunnel under any instructional buildings. It goes south of the main building of the campus and it goes under what is now an annex building that is scheduled for demolition,” he said.

At Tuesday night’s Board of Education meeting, while discussing the District’s general fund budget, Board member Lisa Korbato responded to claims that the board had been financially wasteful.

“If this community is upset and outraged and thinks we’re wasteful in regards to safeguarding this campus, I would remind everyone that we have two bond counsel opinions from two different firms that it is incumbent upon us as fiduciaries to safeguard the campus from tunnels that will run shallow down the middle of the campus, at the heart of the campus through methane and hydrogen sulfite fields through oxygenated electrified tubes,” Korbato said.

Yaroslavsky said that Metro cannot accelerate the project and tunneling would not occur under the high school anytime soon.

“So there’s no reason to have a heart attack over all these things. Let’s get in a room. Let’s resolve this. There’s a basis to resolve it without spending money that can be used to educate kids,” he said.

Yaroslavsky also referenced an article that appeared in the Beverly Hills Courier that attacked Brien for attending Metro’s groundbreaking of the subway extension, which was related to phase one of the line and related to moving utilities. Because Measure J failed, the subway extension will be built in three phases, the first phase being from Western Avenue to La Cienega Boulevard, along Wilshire Boulevard.

Yaroslavsky said Brien attended because the La Cienega station will be located in Beverly Hills. He said that no one has objected to the La Cienega station, which has been in the works since the first day. He urged members of the Rotary audience to re-elect Mayor Brien.

“He has not been a fan of the subway tunnel under the school, but he has not been hysterical about it. He has tried to bring people of different opinions together and he’s been an ally to both sides in this regard,” he said. “I can talk to him and school board members can talk to him. He has been a diplomat and a statesman in this context and the thanks he gets for it is to be blasted as a sellout, which is absolutely outrageous, unfair, unjust, and McCarthyistic.”

Yaroslavsky said he felt the hysteria around the issue needed to stop because it bred distrust in the community.

Brien, who had attended the meeting, said he was pleased that another elected official had said such positive comments about him.

“I was very flattered at what he said and I believe that he was speaking candidly and with passion that he always does,” said Brien. “He has tremendous courage to stand up and say what he believes and he’s always been consistent in that.”

Brien said he would continue to act in what he thought was in the best interests of the City of Beverly Hills.

“I will continue to be an independent thinker and an independent decision maker and an independent advocate for all of the constituents in the City, of all the residents and businesses in the City, and I will not be bullied by anybody,” he said. “I will always advocate for the kids in this community, for the seniors of the community, for the residents in the community as a whole, and will always do what I believe is right and in the best interest of the values of the City of Beverly Hills.”

District staff recommends placing parcel tax on May ballot, fails 2-2-1

A proposed parcel tax for the May election failed by a 2-2-1 vote at the Board of Education meeting Tuesday night. Lewis Hall and Lisa Korbato voted against the tax and Vice President Jake Manaster abstained.

At the Nov. 13 meeting, the Board had given direction to staff to place a parcel tax on the March election.

Superintendent Gary Woods said after considering the direction of the Board, staff recommended a May 6 election date. Woods said the Board would not be required to take formal action by form of resolution for the tax until mid-February should the Board choose to go this route.

During the discussion, Hall said he could not vote for the tax now, but he may vote for it in February.

“I want to see what happens with the City, with the efforts of BHEF, the PTA’s and I’d prefer that we make this decision in February,” he said.

Korbato said she could not support a parcel tax saying the community was burdened enough financially.

“I just think it’s a bad time to do it with all the new taxes California is going to be giving, all the tax cuts that may soon set, I think this is imprudent and as I said before we have to think about the bond,” she said. “We haven’t even answered the question about accelerating the bond. We need to figure out if that’s something the community would support and I think that if we promote both, at some point, we jeopardize both. Asking for both, you’ll end up with nothing and I just can’t support a parcel tax.”

President Brian Goldberg said it was important that the district take control of its own finances.

“The reality is that BHEF, the PTA’s and the City of Beverly Hills will not solve our systemic problem with financing in this district,” he said. The only thing that will solve the systemic problem is for us to get off the state’s dime as quickly as possible.”

Goldberg referenced the discussion around first interim budget that had been approved earlier in the evening and brought up the issue of the finances not being in the district’s hands. He also said that in addition to the state, the district also faced the potential of reduced funding should the federal government be unable to avoid the fiscal cliff.

He also said that voting in favor of the tax Tuesday night still gave the Board the ability to look for other alternatives up until mid-February.

“Every 15 minutes” comes to Beverly High

Beverly High seniors and juniors as well as members of the community gathered on the school’s front lawn on Tuesday morning to watch a simulated car accident designed to teach teens of the dangers of distracted driving, as part of the “Every 15 Minutes” program.

Whereas in the past, Beverly High has held the program over a period of two days, this year the program was condensed to one.

“Being one of the liaisons for the school, it’s a tiring day but I think that it went really well. The kids were great,” said Assistant Principal Amy Golden. “We had a program for the 9th and 10th graders in the morning which was apparently a very powerful assembly and juniors and seniors got to witness the crash.”

Golden said there is nothing quite like the program and mentioned various community members who donated their time or services to help make the crash look realistic.

Counselors select participants based on who they think would benefit from the program, said Golden. They also try to select students who are well known throughout different student groups around the campus.

“We want every student to be impacted so we take students of all different groups on campus to participate in the program,” she said.

“What I can tell you about a parcel tax is the money is raised locally and it stays local,” he said.

During the discussion, Goldberg said he was hopeful about the state legislature reducing the requirement for a parcel tax passage from a two-thirds vote to a 55 percent vote, which is why he was in favor of postponing the vote to May.

Manaster did not comment during the board meeting on the parcel tax and did not return a call to the Weekly by press time.

‘Shahs’ fans can expect more drama in second season premiering Sunday Dec. 2

The Bravo show, Shahs of Sunset,

returns for its second season on Sunday, Dec. 2 at 10 p.m. Cast member Mike Shouhed said he is thrilled with season two and can not wait for the world to see what they have been filming for the past couple of months.

“This season is going to be absolutely amazing,” he said. “I’ve watched the first episode myself -- it just pops.”

Shouhed said this season has more drama and meltdowns and fans can expect to be entertained. He acts as the "Phil Jackson" or "Zen master" on the show acting as a mediator for the house, he said.

"For all those people who have been hating, if you don't like it, don't watch it," he said. "It's definitely not for everybody, but people who tune in are in for a huge, huge treat."

He also has a new love interest in the upcoming season.

"There's a new girl in my life who I absolutely adore who is not Persian and not Jewish, so some issues arrive with that," he said.

This season, Lilly Ghalichi, a Texas native, joins the cast. She said she met Reza Farahan when he was showing her houses in Beverly Hills.

"This season you'll see this struggle for acceptance between me and a few members of the group. I'm not exactly your girl next door. I'm obsessed with glam: hair, makeup, fashion, the whole nine yards. I'm definitely a little more on the outrageous side when it comes to that stuff, so I'm easily judged by some of the members of Shahs," she said.

Ghalichi said the season is filled with drama. She is an attorney who has her own bikini line called "Have faith swimmerie," which she calls a new genre of swimwear inspired by lingerie. She also has her own line of false lashes.

"I thought it was a fun, fabulous show, but I felt like it lacked a certain kind of representation as a Persian woman that I am," she said.

Ghalichi said she represented those who are into fashion and may come from wealthy families, but work very hard.

"I thought I could bring that niche to the show of maybe we do have dreams of being designers, but we still educate ourselves and get doctorate degrees. We work really hard. We're not just sitting there spending daddy's money even if we may have daddy's money," she said.

Mirisch speaks about City surplus at Board of Education meeting

Vice Mayor John Mirsich attended the Board of Education meeting Tuesday night to talk to the board members about the City's $10 million surplus and his proposal to allocate $4 million to the school district, which is facing a $3.5 million deficit.

"My suggestion was that we figure out a way to allocate that to the schools specifically, whether it be a loan or enhancement of the JPA, that'd be something we'd have to discuss with all of you," he said.

Mirisch said though he understood longer term solutions needed to be found, he hoped his proposal would be a way to bridge the gap so that the City could work with the schools to achieve fiscal stability.

He announced to the board members that the City Council will further discuss the surplus at future council meetings and said he believed there will be a discussion at the December meeting.

"It will be important to me to be able to, from the perspective of someone who is a City official, do what we can to try and help the situation which could be dire and is through none of your own making. As said, it's fiscal mismanagement at a state level, and unfortunately you and our children have to suffer," he said.

Mirisch spoke in a public comment period and the Board of Education did not respond directly to his proposal or ask the vice mayor any questions.

Bloom still ahead in 50th district State Assembly race

Santa Monica Mayor Richard Bloom is ahead of Assemblymember Betsy Butler (D-Marina del Rey) by 1,246 votes, according to an update released by the Los Angeles Registrar-Recorder/County-Clerk, Wed. Nov. 28.

This is Bloom's largest lead yet in a neck-and-neck race for State Assembly in the 50th district.

"For the Butler race, you have somebody who wasn't a long term incumbent member of the Assembly moving to a seat that would have been better for her politically, but I don't think voters were as keen to embrace the sort of politics of Sacramento with folks moving around to find a better seat," said political consultant Andrew Acosta, of Acosta-Salazar LLC, a political consulting firm in Sacramento.

Acosta said he felt redistricting played a role in unseating other incumbent politicians, such as Congressman Joe Baca (D-San Bernardino) and Assemblymember Michael Allen (D-Santa Rosa) who both lost in the November election.

"There are a few examples of people who moved to try to find a better seat and were challenged by a viable Democrat," said Acosta. "It's not that everybody who moved for a seat lost but when they were challenged by somebody who was viable and actually had a real campaign against them, they ran into trouble and we saw that from a handful of races."

In terms, of the congressional race between Congressman Harry Waxman and Independent Bill Bloomfield, Acosta said though the race was close, it was not very competitive. Contrary to Waxman, Butler had not been in office for a very long time and is being challenged by another Democrat.

While Bloom has maintained a slight lead as the Los Angeles County has provided bi-weekly updates, his lead had previously fluctuated from just under 300 votes to as low as 79 votes. The latest update released on Nov. 28 showed Bloom ahead with 50.34 percent (91,498 votes) of the vote. Butler has

Beverly High alum donates $5000 to science department

Physician Paul Zeltzer, a 1960 Beverly High graduate, donated $5,000 to BHEF in support of the science department and spoke to the Medical Science Academy class Wednesday morning.

Zeltzer, a neuro-oncologist who now lives in Encino, said he was made aware of the needs of the schools when one day he was bicycling in Santa Monica and read a newspaper article that announced that Santa Monica College was shuttering itself for the winter quarter because they did not have enough money.

"I started thinking about what was responsible for helping me have a really interesting life in terms of success both personally and professionally and I traced a lot of it back to some critical moments in high school," he said.

Zeltzer said he had been an average student until he started reading his science book about plants and organizations of kingdoms.

"It was a way of putting order into my otherwise unordered life as an early teen and it just sort of hit me, that there's this rationality in my world even if I didn't experience it at home," he said.

Zeltzer said he went from an average student to the top of his class in a semester. He said his time at Beverly High "created a direction in [his] life that was never there."

"That led to so many different pathways or opportunities that I would have never had had if it weren't for that," he said.

Zeltzer has spent 30 years in the medical field with expertise in neuro-oncology, immunotherapy, and clinical trials against cancer. He is a medical consultant to the Medical Board of California and has directed national clinical trials for leukemia and brain tumors.

He and his wife Lonnie Zeltzer, who is also a physician and director of the Pediatric Pain Program at UCLA, founded the non-profit organization, WholeChildLA Foundation, which provides treatment for children with chronic pain without health insurance.

He is also the author of Brain Tumors: Leaving the Garden of Eden and Brain Tumors: Finding the Ark. He founded GoMed Solutions, a mobile application, and the website, www.navigatingcancer.com.

He said given the state funding issues, he called Beverly High to see what the needs of the science department was.

"I was shocked by [the SMC] closure and I was curious before the election, given the state funding issue how that was going to affect Beverly High," he said. "I had this fond attachment to it."

received 90,252 votes with 49.66 percent of the votes.

"From what I've seen, it looks like it would be tough [for Butler] to make up that margin, but stranger things have happened," Acosta said.

All votes must be counted by Dec. 4.

Planning Commission unanimously approves Thompson Hotel requests

The Planning Commission unanimously approved a conditional use permit, extended hours permit and a revision to a variance for the Thompson Hotel on a 3-0 vote on Monday, Nov. 19.

Commissioner Dan Yukelson did not attend the meeting and the Planning Commission has a vacancy.

"It brings a greater economic stability to the hotel and greater TOT, which is transient occupancy tax, to the City," said attorney for Thompson Hotel Mitch Dawson. "It's probably one of the biggest revenue sources for the City."

The Thompson Hotel had requested to increase hotel guest rooms on the property from 114 to 119, to reduce required onsite parking by seven percent, increase roof top occupancy from 150 to 165, extend roof top hours from Sunday to Thursday to 1 a.m. and maintain roof top hours until 2 a.m. on Fridays and Saturdays and during roof top events.

Under the current conditional use permit, set to expire in January of 2013, the Thompson was authorized to have roof top hours until midnight on Sunday through Thursday and 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday and roof top events, of which they are authorized to have 12. The hotel had been previously authorized to operate roof hours until 1 a.m. on Sunday through Thursday, but in January 2012, the Planning Commission modified the hours to midnight after nearby residents complained of noise.

"Because of exemplary conduct over this entire year, the hours were added back and the additional occupancy was allowed," said Dawson.

The hotel also requested a modification in the language regarding roof top events, changing the words "special events" to "roof top activities." Because the language had said "special event," the hotel previously had to pay $800 for a special event permit, which was unnecessary, according to Dawson.

Vice Chair Brian Rosenstein said that he was happy that the request was going forward because it reflected that the economy is getting better.

Though the hotel is authorized to have 114 rooms onsite, they currently have 107 rooms. Much of the renovations are planned for the second floor, reducing bar and lounge space for the added hotel rooms.

The additional twelve rooms are being proposed to be built within the existing building envelope, which means the building's size would not be increased, and would not exceed the maximum floor area permitted under the variance approved by the City Council in 1961. The increase in hotel rooms would have increased the number of parking spaces required under code but the Planning Commission made the findings not to require additional parking.

During the commission meeting, the Planning Commission imposed conditions on the extended hours permit. The conditions will be approved for 18 months, but Chair Craig Corman asked for a sub-condition, which was agreed upon, that should there be a large amount of complaints within the 18-month period, the director of community development could bring up the permit for review.

The commission also unanimously approved a request for a zoning amendment to establish a surface parking lot on a transportation overlay zone at 9848 Santa Monica Boulevard with the condition that the area along Santa Monica Boulevard be landscaped.

The Planning Commission liaison interviewed seven applicants yesterday for the commission's vacancy. The recommendation will go to the council during the next study session.

Roxbury Park liaison discuss field improvements, playground replacement

The Recreation and Parks City Council Liaison met on Mon. Nov. 19 to discuss field improvements to Roxbury Park.

The meeting was held to provide an update to the City Council liaison, according to Director of Community Services Steve Zoet.

Zoet said they discussed improvements to the athletic field shared by Little League and youth soccer, regarding improvements in field irrigation and drainage, in order to reduce water costs, and installing a new turf.

They also discussed replacing the playground equipment.

"The [play] equipment there is certainly safe but it's become a little aged. We wanted to bring more vitality to the area," said Zoet. "We do have concerns in what's called a need for improvement in what's called fall protection surfacing."

Fall protection surfacing is material designed to minimize the risk of injury should a child fall from the equipment. Currently existing at the playground is a "poured-in-place" rubber, which is reaching the end of its natural cycle. While discussing replacing the surface material, staff found there was also an opportunity to replace the equipment.

"We've gone through a public inquiry process with kids and parents making use of the area to assess where their interests might be in terms of type of the play apparatus," he said. "The council liaison representatives there indicated an interest for us to further explore and confirm the interest of the public since there is so much opportunity for different styles and types of play equipment out there to make sure that whatever's ultimately recommended and presumably installed would be responsive to the public's interests."

Mayor Willie Brien who sits on the council liaison said in addition to having play equipment the children will enjoy, the equipment will also have a shade element from a health and safety standpoint. The area will also have places for parents to sit within the line of sight of the playground.

The liaison also discussed replacing an existing field bathroom with one that would be more cost effective and have

Sanity and reason

And politics, City losses

By Rudy Cole

With the City actually facing the horrors of having a $10,240,000 “surprise” surplus, are you shocked to learn that our “tax and spend” Republicans want to write a check to our schools?

Of course, we all recognize the true importance of our schools in making our community so successful. But the latest rounds of outrageous spending on lobbyists and lawyers by the school board to fight the myth of a subway tunneling under the school’s class rooms brings into question increased City funding, and the district’s plans for a possible parcel tax.

Incidentally, where are the critics of council and staff now that the City looks like a rose in the governmental wasteland producing a surplus while many other governmental agencies are either broke or cutting services across the board? It took leadership and wisdom to make this surplus happen.

But before we rush to do what is politically correct and find ways of increasing the record amounts going to the schools under the Joint Powers Agreement, some reality checks.

Are there municipal needs that have an equal claim on any surplus? Yes, there are, and some increases could actually lead to even more revenue for the City while others could assure public safety.

Safety first. Chief David Snowden is not only an able and charismatic leader, who is highly regarded by the troops, the community and the council, but he is also a team player. When the City manager and financial gurus called for cuts in every department, Snowden took his hair cut with the others.

True, we continue to be well protected and we still have a three minute emergency response time from all our first responders, but it has created a physical and emotional strain on the street cops. We should put recruitment and returning to earlier levels of people working in both the police and fire departments as a first priority -- Yes, ahead of schools -- because that is the responsibility of City government.

Second is assuring adequate staff in code enforcement. Here, too, there were premature cuts that have obviously diminished staff work in a wide range of esthetic challenges. Not a major crisis, but one example: there are promotional street signs at Pavilion’s, banners that are obtrusive and probably not allowed. Is this happening because we are short on staff? Are there other infringements on how we want our village to look and feel? I think there are and that this can be attributed to staff cuts in enforcement.

Let me be clear. Some of the hardest, most dedicated City employees work in enforcement, but if they need a return to earlier staff levels, that should matter as much as giving the school board money to hire lobbyists and lawyers.

To be fair, there are sharp differences on the board on a large number of issues and just maybe some new leadership will restore community confidence. Without that, forget about a parcel tax.

So, what happens when the primary target of the more hysterical anti-tunneling activists, County Supervisor Zev Yaroslavsky, comes to Beverly Hills to speak to one of our oldest and most powerful civic groups, Beverly Hills Rotary? (See story on page 2).

He receives a rare and enthusiastic standing ovation-- not something the laid back Rotarians do that often.

Yaroslavsky wasted little time in decrying what he termed the witch hunting hysteria unleashed against Mayor Willie Brien and other City officials for their responsible approach to the tunneling choices.

“Of course, it is politically motivated,” he said, “but the irrational, McCarthy-like smears must be rejected.”

Yaroslavsky made it clear that Mayor Brien has consistently opposed tunneling under any classrooms. “Under his leadership, reasonable people can still sit down together and make that happen.”

Interesting, and it has certainly not always been true, but this Rotary at this time in our history, is probably far more representative of real community values than all the flame throwers who have put reason aside and fallen victim to political opportunism and witch hunts.

As for Zev, we have known him as a true friend of honest government through all of his years of service, first as an organizer of the Council on Soviet Jewry, the group that fought to allow immigration of mostly Russian and Ukrainian Jews to America, then as a member of the Los Angeles City Council, and finally as a strong leader of the Board of Supervisors. Does anything in his long and outstanding involvement in civic and government affairs even begin to suggest that he would put private interests ahead of people’s needs? Do we really feel he is less interested in kids’ safety than the critics of the route choice?

A compromise will and can be achieved, if rational, reasonable people are willing to put aside their private agendas and public hysteria and there will be no tunneling under any school classrooms, ever.

Willie and Zev can make it happen and maybe the new board leadership can play a key role in assuring responsible governance. This community is far too smart not to know when it is being used for purely political purposes, and reason does usually prevail in time.

Don’t want to make the mistake CNN did in 2008 when it called the election for Al Gore, giving him Florida, but I think it is now safe to say that Santa Monica’s Richard Bloom has won the election for State Assembly in our district, and he can credit Beverly Hills for proving the margin.

On issues, the differences between Bloom and Assemblymember Betsy Butler were minimal; the real variable was their support among district clubs and party leaders. On both, Butler led by far, and yet lost.

Bloom did not even win the endorsement of the Santa Monica Democratic Club, in his own community, and he was not endorsed by Democratic clubs representing Beverly Hills and West Hollywood.

Bloom did have some important support in Beverly Hills, including early backing from then Mayor Barry Brucker – still a potent political force in our village. Bloom also carried the endorsement of the highly regarded Beverly Hills Firemen’s Association.

Does this mean the clubs are no longer a potent political force on the Westside? Not exactly, but the club movement needs to return to its roots and take a more viable and meaningful role, not only during elections, but basic and ongoing City and school issues.

For the record, Bloom supported the MTA-backed measure J as did a strong majority of our own voters.

We need to pay some attention to two major closures that may be too far along to even prevent: the abandoning of our post office on Third Street and the closing of our mammoth Beverly Hills court on Burton Way.

Losing both will have serious impacts on public convenience and necessity and our economy, Promises were made when the United States Postal Service closed our historic post office in the early 1990’s opposite city hall. The same level of customer service would be provided on Third, including carrier routes, customer windows and postal boxes. If the USPS goes forward with the closing, arguing that it is a purely economic decision, we will not retain anywhere near the postal services we now enjoy.

Historical note: The USPS did not abandon Crescent Drive so that we could create a cultural center, later named the Annenberg. The cultural center followed and worked thanks to the efforts of civic leaders such as then mayor Vicki Reynolds and others.

Loss of the courthouse could even be more serious. The filing of civil lawsuits and the ability of our police to go a short distance to appear in court are only two of the important elements of having our own court.

Jury service, access to public documents and the peripheral value of lawyers, court attaches and court users dining and shopping here are not minimal values.

It took decades to win the battle to have our own court, actually called the Beverly Hills-West Hollywood Court. We have had some truly outstanding and colorful jurists serve in this court, including the late Judge Andrew Weisz and all the current incumbents.

Since the building of our city hall, the original Beverly Hills court was located inside that building. Court sessions were held in what is now the space used for receptions and art shows in the south part of the second floor.

The building of the major court structure on Burton Way did not come easy, but succeeded largely because of the support of the Beverly Hills Bar and then Supervisor Ernest Debs.

When state proposition passed, consolidating municipal and superior courts, making them all “superior,” we lost the ability to elect our own judiciary. The last judge to win in the community district of West Hollywood and Beverly Hills was Richard Stone Jr., and he has been and continues to be an outstanding jurist. But now all judges are elected county-wide, not in smaller districts.

Just maybe our civic groups including the Chamber of Commerce can join with others and the city council to prevent these losses – at least the effort should be made. Am certain, the well organized and led Beverly Hills Bar Association is not letting the loss of our court go silently in the night.

“We’re proposing that [the bathroom] be in essence demolished and [that] a new facility that is constructed be cost effective to utility hook ups and things to that effect,” said Zoet. “It would just be a little more aesthetically pleasing.”

According to the presentation given at the meeting, the estimated cost for field improvements in the athletic field ranged from $503,688 to $561,800. The estimated cost for an upgrade in playground equipment is $425,000. The estimated cost to demolish the field restroom and build a new one in its place was $300,000.

The improvements to the field have already been budgeted in the Master plan and the recent meeting showed that the plans were still within budget.

“I think it’ll be a great opportunity for the community to enjoy not just a great community center, but the updated park facility that they’ll be able to enjoy for a long time,” said Brien.

Zoet said the next step is to continue gathering public input in terms of the playground equipment and formally retaining a landscape architect to formalize construction drawings, which he expects would occur at the beginning of the 2013 calendar year.

Rosenstein first official candidate in City Council race

Planning Commission Vice Chair Brian

Brian Rosenstein

Rosenstein filed his nomination papers for City Council Monday afternoon.

Rosenstein is the first person to pull papers to file them.

“I think it was just more of my eagerness to get the campaign underway and really get to work,” he said on filing first.

Other candidates who have pulled papers for the nomination are Mayor Willie Brien, Vice Mayor John Mirisch, former Councilmember Nancy Krasne, and Beverly Hills resident Michael Talei.

Treasurer Eliot Finkel filed his papers for the Treasurer nomination and is running unopposed.

Board of Education approves first interim budget

The Board of Education unanimously approved a first interim budget outlining $3.85 million in reductions on Tuesday night.

“We are faced with the challenging situation in that we are required to provide a budget that goes out for three years in a situation [when] the state’s budget is not nearly as clear or as far reaching,” said

Chief Administrative Officer Dawnalyn Murakawa-Leopard.

The school district is required by law to provide a budget with a positive certification to the Los Angeles County Office of Education.

“I would suggest to my colleagues that rather than spending a lot of time this evening, on what we don’t like in this and what we prefer to cut versus what we don’t prefer to cut that we approve this

BLACK FRIDAY SALES UP, LOCAL RETAILERS SAY

But will shopping continue to increase through December?

By Andrea Aldana

In what is usually the busiest day of the year for consumers, Beverly Hills retailers said they saw an increase in sales from previous years.

Jim Jahant, general manager of Brooks Brothers said they opened the store an hour earlier than usual at 9 a.m. as they always do on the Friday and Saturday after Thanksgiving.

Just two hours into Black Friday, Jahant said they were already “significantly ahead of last year” and found people waiting outside for them to open at 9 a.m.

He said the people waiting outside the doors at 9 a.m. were local people, though they began seeing tourists throughout the day, the tourists were not the ones waiting for the store to open.

“From my humbled opinion, I think the economy is a little better,” said Jahant. “People seem to be buying a little bit more units than they bought last year.”

John Carroll, owner of Carroll & Co., said he was overall pleased with the sales from the Black Friday Weekend.

“The weekend was very strong compared to last year. I don’t think there was as much traffic around the City as a year ago but the people who came into our store did buy,” he said. “We had some very nice big ticket items go out so that was very helpful.”

Carroll said the store does not participate in sales or promotions, but did see an increase in sales which he attributed to the store being a familiar face in town and having more merchandise this year in the store than they had last year.

“If you look at Beverly Hills, there are a lot less vacancies than we had last year. They’re really filling up quickly. That’s a good indicator the economy is picking up.” -- Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Alex Stettinski

“We do not do any promotions or any sales, so there wasn’t a sense of urgency on that day, but nonetheless, we did have nice business and we did have some new business, too,” he said. “We did see some people in the store that we haven’t seen before.”

Tom Blumenthal, CEO of Gearys, said he saw consistent sales this year compared to previous years, but that Black Friday was not particularly a big day for Gearys or Beverly Hills when most people are in malls.

“It’s a good day and it is busy and all that, but it is not the busiest of the season,” he said. “That usually happens the 10 days before Christmas, but as Black Fridays go, it’s just fine.”

Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Alex Stettinski said he had heard from a few local businesses that business was up this past Black Friday weekend.

“Overall the trend is that business is going up. People are shopping more again before the holidays since the recession started,” he said. “Last year as I remember correctly was somewhat stagnant. People were still a little cautious about spending money.”

Stettinski attributed the increase of sales to an overall boost in the economy.

“If you look at Beverly Hills, there are a lot less vacancies than we had last year,” he said. “They’re really filling up quickly. That’s a good indicator the economy is picking up.”

He also said he believed on personal levels, people may be more willing to spend than they have in years past.

“I think people are now just ready again to enjoy themselves a little bit and be a little bit more courageous in spending money since they’ve been holding back for a few years now,” he said.

first interim budget and focus our energies on creating more revenue so we don’t have to make these budget cuts,” he said.

Goldberg said the board would have the opportunity to discuss and debate specifics of the budget before it goes into effect.

During her presentation to the board, Murakawa-Leopard presented some positive developments.

The state of California has created a block grant program, which mandates class reimbursement for costs related to procedures that the district is required by law to go through. The BHUSD expects to be reimbursed for $123,000, she said.

With the passing of proposition 30, the district’s fair share reduction has been reduced. The district is expected to receive more money in the amount of $400,000, she said.

However, the district may face additional shortfalls in the budget if federal legislators do not reach an agreement. She said that the budget assumes the federal legislators will avoid the fiscal cliff. If they do not, “sequestration” will occur. Sequestration is a reduction in federal funding, she explained.

“For our programs in our district, it is an 8.2 percent reduction. We estimate that’s about $150,000,” she said. “Most of that is special education funding, so although the federal funding would be reduced, our obligation to provide the services currently supported by those funds would remain.”

The $3.85 million reduction would be for the 2013 to 2014 school year and be an ongoing reduction in the coming years. Programs could be restored if the district receives additional revenue. The $3.85 million maintains the three percent reserve that is legislatively required and eliminates deficit spending.

“The fact of the matter is in order to reach this positive certification, we are talking about layoffs and that’s all there is to it,” said Vice President Jake Manaster.

Manaster also took the opportunity to address criticism toward the Board of Education.

"I've seen some criticism recently in certain outlets that is very fair but clearly misunderstanding why we are in this situation," he said. "There is a shortfall here because the state of California is paying us less money to do the same job. Period. It has absolutely nothing to do with any expenditures of Measure E, of the bond fund, related to buildings, related to seismic studies, related to MTA and so forth."

He said there wasn't a $3 million expenditure made by the Board where money was spent on seismic studies or lobbyists that impacted the general fund or put the district in a dire financial situation.

"We are not looking for people to go out of their pocket or ask the City to replenish money that we have spent on lobbyists or anything else for that matter out of a non-general fund," he said. "The general fund is about money into the classroom. We're not trying to figure out ways to make it okay to spend more money on lobbyists or lawyers or anything like that."

City Council unanimously agrees to approve ordinance to allow disabled to deviate from City code

The City Council unanimously agreed at the City Council meeting on Nov. 20 to adopt an ordinance that would allow a person with a disability or their representative to request an accommodation from code requirements if the person can show the requirements would prevent him or her from using and enjoying his or her home.

State code requires local governments to adopt a procedure for a disabled person.

The best example in modifying the code would be access ramps for residents who are handicapped, said Senior Planner Peter Noonan.

The maximum area allowed as hard space in a front yard is 40 percent. The remaining area needs to be landscaped, according to Noonan. This ordinance allows a disabled resident go over the allotted hard space by requesting a "reasonable accommodation" from the City codes.

The applicant must explain how a section of the code prevents use and enjoyment of his or her home and why the requested accommodation is necessary.

In the event the house is sold, the new owner would have to remove the accommodation and comply with City codes.

During the discussion, Councilmember Julian Gold asked Director of Community Development Susan Healy Keane, who presented the Ordinance to council, whether the word "reasonable" was too a broad term.

Keane said the City had specifically outlined what would be required as a reasonable accommodation and the City also had the ability to look at possible alternatives that may suit the needs of applicant without deviating from the code.

BHHS Runner Wins State Championship

Sydney Segal became the first Beverly High runner to win a CIF state cross country championship in the event's 26-year history Saturday.

Segal completed the five-kilometer course through Woodward Park in Fresno in 17 minutes, 40 seconds to win the Division III girls' race. Segal finished nine seconds ahead of runner-up Bethan Knights of Northwood, who also finished second behind Segal in the Southern Section Division 3 championship a week earlier.

"It was a hard-fought victory," Norman coach Jeff Fisher said of Segal's victory Saturday. "She led from pretty much after the first 800 (meters). She took control of the race and just kept extending her lead. By the last mile she had about a 12-meter lead.

"It was very impressive the way that she won. It's just rare to win a state championship race" by that large of a margin.

In its first state championship appearance, the Beverly Hills boys' team finished 12th in the 23-team Division III race.

The Normans finished with 291 points, 37 fewer than 13th-place El Dorado, but 28 more than 11th-place Placer. St. John Bosco won with 70.

Eli Flesch was the top Beverly Hills finisher, finishing 28th overall and 18th in the team competition in 16:10, five seconds behind Josh Lopez of St. John Bosco, who was 27th and 17th.

Aidan Goltra of Campolindo won in 15:18.

"We were disappointed at our result," Fisher said. "We felt we had the team that could have been in the top five."

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of JEREMY MICHAEL TONG

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Michael J. Seibert in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Michael J. Seibert be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Dec. 10, 2012 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 9 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250.
