Courier endorses Krasne

Last week, the Courier gave a single endorsement in the City Council race to Nancy Krasne not based on merit, but rather based on a friendship. Krasne is best friends with the Courier's publisher and owner. They even traveled together to Europe.

Let's examine Krasne's record.

1. TWO HOUR FREE PARKING - Krasne takes credit for protecting the 2 hour free parking. But in fact, all of the council members unanimously voted to retain 2 hour free parking.

2. WATER RAISES - Even though the City has accumulated hundreds of millions in reserves, Krasne voted to increase your water rates.

3. ADHERANCE TO THE GENERAL PLAN - Krasne claims that she has never deviated from the General Plan or given a variance to any developer. But in fact, another Krasne good friend, who hosted Nancy's campaign kickoff, received a variance for extra height with four stories at the NWC of Wilshire & Robertson.

Next, Krasne was the cheer leader to push through a conversion from office to medical office for the Wilshire Robertson new building after her friend sued the City of Beverly Hills rather than accept both the Planning Commission and the City Council decision of no medical use.

Even though Krasne took an oath of loyalty to the City, she broke her pledge by opposing the City with a declaration to the Court in favor of the developer and against the City. Nonetheless, the Superior Court also denied medical use at the Wilshire Robertson property. But, the developer didn't stop there. She appealed the Court's decision with the support of Krasne.

Ultimately, Krasne led the council in settling the litigation by granting medical use and a zone change, which was approved with a 3/2 vote, including yes votes by the two council member doctors, both of whom worked at Cedars at the time.

This change of use will not only will create more traffic, it will generate at least $20 million more in value for Krasne's friend/developer because medical renters pay more rent than office users. Also, thanks to Krasne, the City will now earn substantially less City fees at the Wilshire Robertson building with medical use than it would have earned with office use.

4. NO WASTE OF PUBLIC FUNDS - Krasne also claims she has never wasted public funds. This statement is also false. Krasne allowed another good friend, the President of the Beverly Hills Women's Club, where Krasne is a member, to obtain a City application fee waiver that sought to allow the private Club to expand their hours and use. The Club wanted to rent their facility, which is located in a residential zone, for more private events and longer hours to the detriment of nearby homeowners. In addition, the Club wanted to serve liquor, which is presently prohibited. The application was withdrawn shortly before the Planning Commission hearing because of strong opposition from neighboring residents. Krasne cost our City about $20,000 in staff time to research and prepare the Staff Report on the Club's application.

5. MEASURE HH - Krasne also refused to publically oppose Measure HH, the Hilton initiative for a skyscraper, which fortunately was defeated by the voters. In fact, Krasne made pro HH statements to try to help the Hilton. But, that planned massive develop is not dead. Beny Alagem, Krasne's good friend, is trying his best to get pro-development council candidates elected so he can return and ask for more entitlements, even though he promised to let the residents decide on his massive project.

6. PURCHASE OF BENIHANA SITE - Also, the same owners of the Wilshire Robertson new medical building recently outbid the City in purchasing the Benihana site on N. La Cienega. We will never know if the City's confidential bid was leaked. The City needed the Benihana site for public parking for the adjacent subway portal. Now, there is no public parking for either of the subway stops in Beverly Hills.

Even though Krasne's developer friend promised not to compete with the City on the Behihana property, she did the opposite by paying $20.5 million. The funds for the purchase came from a refinance of her family's Wilshire/Roberson medical building using the Cedar's Sinai lease as part of the collateral. The developers pulled out $40 million from her refinance. If Krasne is re-elected, she will again be this developer's cheer leader in an application for a zone change for the Benihana's site to allow more height and density, which will again enhance her friend's pocket.

7. INFRASTRUCTURE - Krasne has been in Beverly Hills City government for over 12 years, and yet she keeps talking about the need for more infrastructure in all of her election campaigns. She promised in all four of her election campaigns to put the electrical and telephone lines underground, which could cost $600 million. But, once elected, Krasne did nothing to fulfill her campaign promises to relocate utilities underground.

In conclusion, do not put any weight on the Courier's endorsement of Nancy Krasne because it is an endorsement based on cronyism, not on Krasne's record.

Tensions between landlords and tenants rise over Rent Stabilization ordinance

Beverly Hills landlords and tenants grappled over the conditions of the new Rent Stabilization urgency ordinance late into the night at the City Council meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 21.

After several hours of public comment, the Council unanimously approved both an urgency ordinance and a regular ordinance with minimal amendments. The meeting lasted over six hours.

The urgency ordinance, as written, limits annual rent increases and requires the payment of relocation fees to tenants issued 60-day non-just cause terminations. The ordinance also requires landlords to annually fill out a Registration of Tenancy, similar to the Los Angeles Rental Registry.

Landlords expressed several concerns regarding the changes to the code including the violation of privacy with the establishment of a Rental Registry, the ability to evict "problem" tenants, and the lack of notice and data prior to the establishment of the urgency ordinance.

Fred Sutton, who is the Apartment Association of Greater Los Angeles Director of Government Affairs, noted that the landlords felt that the process of passing this ordinance has been rushed.

"We want to help solve the issues the City is facing while ensuring [property owners] aren't severely restricted," Sutton told the Weekly. [There] has been lack of data. We've been asking since the beginning to slow down and have discussion informed with data and not anecdotal stories to make sure we create good policy."

AAGLA represents approximately 219 active property owners, managers and others involved in the industry in Beverly

Annette Saleh

Hills, according to Sutton.

The Council originally passed the urgency ordinance on Jan. 24 with a three percent cap on annual rent increases. It also included relocation equal to those of Santa Monica ranging anywhere from $9,050 to $21,650, according to the staff report. Santa Monica has had a historically strong pro-renters movement.

Prior to the ordinance, there was a 10 percent maximum on rent increases per year and Chapter 6 tenants did not receive any relocation fees with the issuance of a no-cause termination.

The new urgency ordinance passed on Tuesday continues to require the payment of relocation fees to tenants with no-cause evictions and establishes a rent increase application process.

Discussion regarding changes to the tenant/landlord code initially began when the Commission made four recommendations to the Council:

1. Create a database for the approximately 8,600 multi-family units with descriptions of their current conditions.
2. Utilize the database to establish a Rental Registry Program in the City.
3. Change the current no-cause termination ordinance in Beverly Hills to include a relocation fee.
4. Develop methods to limit annual 10 percent rent increases.

The Council followed up by passing the Rent Stabilization urgency ordinance on Jan. 24.

At Tuesday's meeting, Human Relations Commission Chair Jerald Friedman asserted that the Commission never gave specific recommendations in regards to relocation fees or the Rental Registry.

Councilmember Lili Bosse disputed Friedman's statement that there was never direction from the Human Relations Commission on these matters.

"It was talked about," Bosse said. "It was part of our liaison recommendation which initially came to the Council, which the Council then voted on for the urgency ordinance. [Everything] that we see before us which is the database, the Rental Registry, the relocation fees and the three percent [cap], that was all the direction of the liaison. It was not staff. It was something that was talked about."

The liaison committee was made up of Bosse, Friedman, Councilmember Kathy Reims and Vice Chair Sonya Berman.

The Human Relations Commission also held a community outreach meeting on Thursday, Feb. 16 in the Council Chambers to hear the concerns of the renters and the landlords.

The Commissioners ultimately made the decision to recommend that the rental registry, to be utilized in Beverly Hills, should consider the concern for privacy.

Saleh originally proposed a motion which would have recommended that that the registry utilized in Beverly Hills should not include the names of tenants, or the rental rates paid by tenants if the information is going to be made readily available to the public. Instead, it would simply include rental ranges of the entire building complex.

However, Commissioners Ori Blumenfeld and Karen Popovich Levyn felt that the suggestion was too specific.

"I'd really like to leave it open-ended," Popovich Levyn said "and say we'd like to enact a privacy portion to it. We haven't been exposed to a database. We really don't know what's in a database. I'd like it to be more general and say 'we're concerned with the privacy of the tenant and the landlord.'"

Friedman recommended that the registry include business license information.

Again, there was little support from Commissioners.

"I would vote that down," Blumenfeld said. "It's too soon. It's too specific."

During public comment, most of the landlords expressed frustration with the annual three percent rent increase cap and the amount of relocation fees.

"We should relay to Council what we heard today," Saleh said. "Majority of what we heard today is that the landlords want to know where the numbers [for the rent increase and relocation fees] came from. [They feel] that it was haphazardly chosen."

Council candidates get a third shot at addressing the issues

Beverly Hills residents have had ample opportunity to get to know the City Council candidates running for election on March 7.

Following two other candidate forums hosted by the Chamber of Commerce Political Action Committee and the Municipal League, the Southwest Homeowners Association held its open forum on Wednesday, Feb. 15 in the Council Chambers.

The format of the discussion varied slightly from the two events prior. At the start of the evening, all seven participating candidates were asked the same questions; however, the Council hopefuls took to the podium one by one as the remainder sat in the adjacent room as to not hear the questions asked before their turn.

Moderators began by asking the candidates what their top two priorities will be if elected to the Council.

City Treasurer Eliot Finkel, Traffic and Parking Commissioner Les Friedman, resident Vera Markowitz and Recreation and Parks Commissioner Frances Bilak all said one of their top two priorities will be traffic and parking.

Mayor John Mirisch and Metropolitan Water District representative Robert Wunderlich provided alternatives to traffic and parking.

Mirisch plans to advocate for pension reform and the advancement of technology in areas such as autonomous vehicles and closed circuit television.

CCTV will improve public safety, according to Mirisch.

Wunderlich would like to hire an independent internal auditor "that would, on a regular basis, do audits of City operations and finances, which would always be accessible to the public."

Vice Mayor Nancy Krasne said she will prioritize getting the City's utilities underground. When asked how she will fund this project, she did not have a specific answer but she said she "is not going to use the reserves Mr. Finkel says [the City] has because that is set aside."

"If I have to, I will go out and push for bonds to have this done," Krasne said.

Earlier in the meeting, Finkel noted that his additional priority is to increase the Beverly Hills Police Department staff. The moderators questioned if there is money available for this in the budget. Finkel suggested that the City may do so by increasing salaries and benefits. He also indicated there is currently $585 million in the City's reserves.

"The budget, the one I just signed, said that there's $585 million in the reserve fund," Finkel said. "It is a reserve fund that is earmarked for whatever the City wants to do with it. The requirement for operating reserves is about 40 percent of the budget. [$200 million] is specifically set aside for emergencies to keep the City operating."

The candidates were also asked by the moderators to give definitive answers on how they voted for Measure HH and why.

Again Bilak asserted that she voted against Measure H, an entitlement for an 18-story building to Hilton developer Beny Alagem, in 2008. She explained she voted in favor of Measure HH in November because the revised plan allotted for more green space in the City.

In her response, she also noted that she was against the Wanda group's construction of One Beverly Hills, being built across the street from El Rodeo school because she feels it could pose a potential threat for the children at school.

"When our children go to school they should be able to feel safe in their environment," Bilak said. "People can take binoculars and scope out children as they're playing. [The] City is concerned about terrorism. I can imagine a sniper going on top of that building and picking off our kids."

Initially, Vice Mayor Nancy Krasne appeared to be reluctant to answer the question. She asked the moderators if the question was regarding her "personal, private vote."

Moderator Valerie Wisot responded to Krasne's concerns by explaining council candidates should reveal their endorsements.

"You're asking us to support you based upon your policies and what things you endorse, so it is not like a personal thing," Wisot said. "It is a matter of [record]."

Krasne jumped in to complete Wisot's thought. Krasne insisted that her voting record has never gone against the General Plan and that she did not vote in favor of Measure HH.

"I have never, ever deviated [or] violated the General Plan that the City has put forward," Krasne said. "I have never given any developer greater than the FAR that they're entitled to. I voted 'no' on the Hilton when it first came forward. I voted

Source: "Beverly Hills USD Board Presentation" by School Services of California; available online at www.bhUSD.org

At part two of the budget study session on Feb. 16, the Board of Education received an independent financial presentation from School Services of California.

The review emphasized the analysis of the BHUSD salary formula and school configuration.

The most recent budget adoption for 2016-17 shows that the Board has a significant structural deficit. More specifically, Chief Administrative Officer La Tanya Kirk-Carter announced in December that the district is $4.6 million in the red.

Similarly to what was stated in the previous budget study session, the independent analysis showed that the root causes of the district's deficit spending are the automatic salary increases included in the collective bargaining agreement and low class sizes staffed below the contractually allowable maximum class combined with declining enrollment are.

Presenters CEO Ron Bennett and CPA Matt Phillips identified several issues with current salary formula.

They explained that using prior-year data does not allow for an accurate cost projection of current-year salaries and statutory benefits. In addition, it was stated that the formula does not allow for negotiation if property taxes decrease ultimately requiring the district to continue a level of compensation that may not be sustainable under falling revenues.

BHUSD is a basic aid district, so local property taxes meet or exceed its revenue limit. Basic aid districts keep the money from local property taxes and receive constitutionally guaranteed state funding. The district is not paid per pupil.

The presenters went on to discuss the current K-8 model.

It was determined that the benefits of the model include smaller class sizes, support from the community and extended "age of innocence."

Advantages of an alternative model are that the district would be able to staff to contract, have more elective options, less expenses per student and fewer traveling employees, according to the presentation.

The presentation offered two solutions to the issue. The first suggestion was establishing a parcel tax, which would allow the community to directly invest back into its local schools and support the programs it has identified as a priorities such as maintaining the k-8 neighborhood school configuration.

A parcel tax would require two-thirds approval of Beverly Hills voters, which is a difficult hurdle.

It was also noted that the district could consider alternative school configuration models to allow for course consolidation and higher staffing ratios. There could be a stand-alone middle school, retaining three K-5 schools or the district could consolidate into two K-8 schools.

Council appoints Craig Corman to Planning Commission with urgency ordinance

Craig Corman was reappointed to the Planning Commission to replace current Commissioner Howard Fisher at the Council meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 21.

Fisher is running unopposed for City Treasurer. He is expected to be elected to office on March 7.

Corman previously served two consecutive terms on the Planning Commission.

An urgency ordinance was unanimously passed to enable Corman, to serve out the remainder of Fisher's term.

Craig Corman

The interview panel, composed of Mayor John Mirisch, Councilmember Lili Bosse and Vice Chair Lori Greene Gordon interviewed five candidates for the upcoming vacancy. However, panel members came to the consensus to not recommend any of the applicants for appointment at this time.

The Municipal Code states that commission appointees who have served two successive terms shall not be eligible for reappointment to the same commission, according to the staff report. By adopting the urgency ordinance, the Council can allow for this deviation.

Greene Gordon's term is set to end in June. Staff will re-advertise for expected vacancy in May. It was also noted in the staff report that the applicants are encouraged to re-apply and attend as many future Planning Commission meetings as possible in addition to participating in Team Beverly Hills, if they have not done so already.

Principal requests temporary residential street parking for El Rodeo teachers

The Traffic and Parking Commission is expected to review a temporary residential permit parking program for El Rodeo school employees, according to an informational item presented to the City Council in the Feb. 21 staff report.

Kevin Allen

El Rodeo Principal Kevin Allen requested that the City allow teachers and administrative staff to park on adjacent residential streets during the school's construction project, which is expected to last through Fall 2019.

Approximately 60 vehicles have been displaced as a result of the onsite construction staging, according to the staff report.

School employees currently park on nearby residential street blocks that do not have parking restrictions and then take a shuttle to and from the school at designated times throughout the day.

Allen expressed concerns regarding parking for school employees such as the long distances they have to walk to their cars when shuttles are not available, in the event of an emergency employees would not be able to get to their cars immediately, and the four hour parking signs on the west side of Whittier Drive between Elevado Avenue and Lomitas Avenues have recently been enforced.

Ten school employees received parking citations, according to the staff report.

The Traffic and Parking Commission will review a proposal modeled after the Beverly Vista school teacher preferential parking permit program. Council adopted a resolution allowing issuance of temporary permits during Beverly Vista school's seismic retrofit program.

Temporary parking permits were issued for a period of 18 months or until the 75 percent of the onsite parking lot was available for teacher parking.

City staff will include the proposed El Rodeo school parking alternatives on March 2 at the Commission meeting for discussion and public outreach.

Any alternative parking program developed by the Commission will require the Council's approval.

Fine Arts Commission unable to purchase multi-million dollar Lichtenstein sculpture

The Fine Arts Commission announced it will not purchase the sculpture from Roy Lichtenstein's "Brushstrokes" collection at the Feb. 16 meeting.

The piece is currently located on the campus of the Wallis Annenberg Center for the Performing Arts, at the north west corner of Crescent Drive and South Santa Monica Boulevard.

In 2015, the Commission was told that the piece was on a five year loan from the Roy Lichtenstein Foundation; however, the term was actually three years and the loan expired on Oct. 31, 2016, according to the Jan. 19 staff report.

The staff report also indicated that the Foundation had priced the sculpture at $6.5 million, but there was the ability to offer the piece to the City at a discounted price. However, the Commission's offer was not accepted for purchase.

"Unfortunately, the number is substantially larger than I think what the Commission has already expressed it can do," said Chair Alan Kaye. "I think this is a closed issue."

The sculpture, "Coups de Pinceau," was created in 1988 by Lichtenstein as one in a series of heroic-scaled sculptures created during the last decade of the artist's life.

It was originally brought to the Commission for possible purchase in January 2015; however, at the time the commissioners decided against it.

City Clerk Byron Pope told the Weekly the County is conducting the election this year because of the countywide measure on homelessness set to appear on the March 7 ballot.

Mirisch seeks to expand cultural and art activities with potential new commission

At the request of Mayor John Mirisch, City Council was expected to discuss expanding or creating a commission to handle cultural and art activities at the study session on Tuesday, Feb. 21.

The City currently has 11 commissions, each with a specific focus and charge to advise the Council on issues within their scope of responsibilities.

The staff report noted out of the 11 commissions the three that are the most relevant to expanding cultural and art activities are the Cultural Heritage Commission, the Fine Art Commission and the Recreation and Parks Commission.

The Cultural Heritage Commission deals with the historic preservation of the city. This commission inspects, investigates and recommends landmarks and historic districts for designation by the Council.

It also has the ability to develop programs to celebrate historic and eligible properties to recognize outstanding maintenance, rehabilitation and/ or preservation.

The purpose of the Fine Art Commission is to “enhance the beauty of the City through fine art ornamentation,” according to the staff report. The jurisdiction of its duties include initiate and promote the purchase, donation or loan of fine art to the City

The Recreation and Parks Commission is meant to act as an advisory body to Council on matters which relate to recreation and park programs and facilities such as Greenstone Estate grounds and mansion.

The Council has the ability to create a new commission to handle these activities, instead of expanding the charge of a current commission.

West Hollywood, Culver City, Manhattan Beach and Malibu have arts and cultural affairs commissions.

The study session ended before the Council had time to address the item on the agenda.

Megan Saghian added seven, including a first-quarter 3-point basket, and Arbri Gillis and Dominique Petrie four each for the Normans (19-9).

Beverly Hills 60, Avalon 46

Gillis scored 25 points, making four 3-point baskets, and Moawad added 10 of her 12 points in the second half in a first-round game last Thursday at Avalon.

Beverly Hills led 11-10 at the end of the first quarter, 20-14 at halftime and 42-28 entering the fourth quarter.

Petrie added eight, Megan Saghian seven, Rund four, Krystal Brown three on a third-quarter 3-point basket, and Sherin Ebrahimi one.

What’s Next?

The Normans were scheduled to play host to Pioneer in a quarterfinal game Wednesday at the Swim-Gym that began after the Beverly Hills Weekly’s deadline.

If Beverly Hills won, it would play Saturday against the Foothill Technology-Pacific winner in a semifinal.

Girls’ Soccer

La Sierra 1, Beverly Hills 0

The Normans allowed the only goal in the opening five minutes of the second half of a Southern Section Division 5 first-round playoff game last Thursday at La Sierra.

“We had most of the opportunities after that,” Beverly Hills coach Ryan Franks said.

“We were pressing them. We had a ton of corner kicks and throw-ins, but just were not able to put it in.”

Both teams took seven shots. Factors cited by Franks as reasons for the loss included the La Sierra’s “small, bumpy grass field, something that we hadn’t played much on this season” that it used to its advantage, and his team having “a hard time getting through” the Eagles very good and athletic sweeper Yvette Alaniz.

Norman senior goalkeeper Maytal Sarafian was outstanding, making six saves, said Franks, who also praised the play of senior defenders Bianca Castro and Montana Logan and senior forward Tess Reinhardt.

Beverly Hills completed the season 15-6-4, with its first playoff appearance and victory since 2013, after going 5-13-2 in the 2015-16 season.

“Last year we started to turn the corner,” Franks said. “We gained some experience. We knew what we needed to do to prepare for the season. We worked really hard.

“It was a nice combination of some freshman that were able to contribute along with some good senior leadership.

“It was a very successful season. I feel

SURVIVING TERROR

Greg Krentzman's inspiring story of recovery after the Nice, France terror attack

By Madelyn Pariser

Tells us what happened on the day of the attack.

It was Bastille Day and we were in Nice, [France]. We go to Nice pretty much every summer. We have a lot of family and friends there and we had just purchased a condominium [in Nice] a few weeks prior to the incident.

Bastille Day is a big celebration, similar to the Fourth of July, and we were out watching the fireworks show, getting candy, listening to music. We were walking back to the apartment on the Promenade des Anglais, which is kind of like Ocean Avenue in Santa Monica. I was taking a few pictures on my cell phone of some of the festivities. As I'm taking these pictures my wife [Sophie] screamed out my name, "Greg, look out there's a truck coming!" I look in front of me and about 30 feet away is a truck barreling toward us. It's going about 60 miles per hour.

I see my wife and [10 year old] daughter [Lola] who were about 15 feet in front me jump out of way of the truck. My daughter was on her scooter and the wheel of the truck hit the end of her scooter and it ricocheted into my daughter breaking her ankle. They fall down to the ground.

The truck is coming toward me and now it's about 15 or 20 feet in front of me. Of course, I have to act extremely fast. I need to decide if I am going to jump to my right or my left in order to get out of the way. I jump to my left, which was the same direction that my wife and daughter jumped. Right away, I knew it was a terrorist attack. I saw the image of the man and I could see what he was doing. I knew he was trying to kill people.

Unfortunately, my right leg and foot were not able to get out of the way in time. The front of the truck hit my right leg and I fall to the ground. Immediately, my leg is opened up and I'm bleeding profusely from my foot as I'm laying on the ground in shock.

It's total disarray. It's like a war zone. My wife comes over to me, while carrying my daughter and sees that I'm alive. She calls my sister and brother-in-law who are in the apartment and are fortunately able to come to my aid in just a few minutes. My wife and my daughter are ushered into a nearby museum to get out of harm's way as my sister and brother-in-law wait with me for an ambulance to come.

But an ambulance never stopped for me. There were too many other people in worse shape. A good samaritan, a French man, ended up pulling his car over next to me and picking me up to put me in the backseat. He whisked me to a French hospital that was about 15 min away. I went right into a five hour surgery to either repair or perhaps remove my leg and my foot. They did not have to amputate my leg, thank god. I had 12 fractures from my knee down to my foot. I ended up being in the hospital for two months recovering.

I was moved to a rehabilitation center for another two months. Then the last two and a half months, I ended up living in the apartment that we purchased and being with my wife, daughter and mother-in-law to fully recuperate before coming back to America. We were in France for about six and a half months.

The first few months, I really wanted to come home. I felt I was going to get better care in America, we have doctors in the family that could take care of us, and it's our home turf. But then, as I stayed there longer and saw the wonderful care that I was getting, and it was free care, it felt right to stay.

You grew up in Beverly Hills in the late 1970's. Tell us about that.

Well, it was all I knew. It was a good experience. I went to Beverly Vista [school] and attended Beverly High [Class of 1981]. I was an athletic guy. I was on the soccer team and the track team. I had a great group of friends that I played sports with and gambled with. We used to love to play cards. I have a lot of family in Beverly Hills that has always been there with us. We would have Friday night dinners at Grandma's house. I have two brothers, [Adam and Chad] one older and one younger.

My father passed away over this past summer, as well. It was a rough 2016 for us. That happened three weeks before this terrorist attack. We've put our house up for rent in Culver City because I did not get a paycheck for the seven months that I was not at work. We've also moved in with my mom in Beverly Hills, [which is] the house I grew up in. We're kind of doing a kumbaya sort of thing with Mom helping her get through this tough time of not having her husband. We're going to stay with my mom for six months to a year at the house in Beverly Hills.

My wife and I met on international JDate about 12 years ago. She was living in Paris and I was living in Santa Monica. I was single and looking to meet that special person and wasn't having a lot of luck with the L.A. women. I'm an adventurous kind of guy. I love traveling and seeing other countries and meeting people from foreign lands so I thought to look international and I looked on JDate and found Sophie, my future wife.

We communicated through fax and phone call for eight months before I met her. She had never been to Los Angeles. I had been to Paris once many years before. We really hit it off over the phone and she was faxing me love letters and I was faxing her love letters. We actually did a JDate commercial which they aired about eight years ago. It was meant to be. That's another miracle.

My daughter is back at school in Culver City. She's assimilating pretty well. She's a little shook up from what happened, but I would say all in all she's adapting very well and doing well in school. We're really proud of her. She's handling things very well.

Have you been able to return to work?

I work for the L.A. Community College District. We govern the nine L.A. community colleges. I do business development for LACCD and I went back to work recently. It is good to be back and sink my teeth into doing something productive.

We gathered a lot of bills while we were in France so it was really important for me to go back to work and start making money again and for my wife to go back to work as well. We're grateful that our jobs were waiting for us. I'm also really grateful that I am able to work virtually for the first couple of months I'm back so I'm working from home. I'm spending a lot of time rehabbing and doing physical therapy for my leg and my foot here in L.A.

In the scheme of things, work is not as important as our health but it certainly feels good to be productive and to get out there.

How have you dealt with the grief that comes along with surviving a major trauma?

What has made it wonderful for me and my family is that we've had a lot of support, from friends and family, but also still coming in from France. I'm getting emails and texts constantly with so much love and support that it makes it easier for us to transition and to let us know that we're not alone. People are so happy to have us back. I adjusted fairly quickly back to America, I was kind of prepared in my mind to come back. After six and a half months, I felt the time had come.

I missed our dog, I missed driving my car, just kind of the creature comforts I wanted to get back to. I missed going to Starbucks and reading the newspaper and walking down Beverly Drive.

"I feel a kinship now with France. I don't feel fear. I know these attacks are happening everywhere in the world and I'm not going to allow a maniac on one horrific night to change my life."
—Greg Krentzman

We had some counseling in France and we're going to do some family therapy here too in Los Angeles to make sure we're all on the same page and we're all grieving appropriately and as best as we can. Most of it is focused on our daughter. We want to make sure she can handle life's stressors when it comes to school and getting along with her friends and just kind of getting over as much as possible what happened in France that horrific night.

You're wife is from Nice, France. Do you have a unique connection to the country now?

I feel like I have a much stronger connection with France now than I did before. France, before, was a two week vacation laying on the beach in Nice and getting a good tan. Now, I lived there for six and a half months. I have a much better appreciation for the French lifestyle, the people, the culture, and the depth of the country.

The medical system was free and fantastic. I was very well taken care of there. I had the red carpet treatment being the only American survivor from the attack. My wife was welcomed throughout the community. I feel a kinship now with France. I don't feel fear. I know these attacks are happening everywhere in the world and I'm not going to allow a maniac on one horrific night to change my life.

I'm going to continue to live my life the way I always have which is not fear based. We're certainly going to go back to France and enjoy our summers there. We have our condominium there and we might even retire in France. That is something we've talked about even since the incident happened. Life goes on.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF AKBAR VAFAIFARD
Case No. 17STPB01357

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of AKBAR VAFAIFARD

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Hos-sein Silani in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Hos-sein Silani be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on March 20, 2017 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 9 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
