"What's Next for Hawthorne?" [Issue #668]

Kudos to letter-writer Steve Spitz in [last week's issue] for his on-target take on the BHUSD Board's plans for Hawthorne's destruction (oops, renovation)!

He got the Board so right: egos, subterfuge, smoke screens, lack of common sense, and plain dumb.

I might add to his list: Willful and/negligent disregard for Hawthorne's residential neighborhood and its taxpaying, voting neighbors.

Now, we can only hope that the Board knows how to read and understand the points he made in his letter. Perhaps they might need Steve's letter read to them ... daily.

City Council resumes Roxbury discussions Tuesday afternoon

The City Council will take a look at two options for a new Roxbury Park community center at Tuesday afternoon's study session.

Last week, the City Council reviewed four conceptual options for a new one-story community center. The City Council directed staff to bring back more information about one of those concepts, Option D, and bring back an additional concept, Option E, which would situate the new community center on the footprint of the existing building.

Option D would be situated over part of the existing footprint and extend north, requiring an east-west reconfiguration of the existing outdoor basketball court.

Councilmember Lili Bosse requested Option E after learning the City would have to relocate the City's storm drain, which is under the existing community center, in order to build Option D. At a previous meeting, the City Council was told it could not construct a new building over the existing storm drain or move the storm drain. City staff estimates relocating the storm drain would cost roughly $250,000.

"Once I found out they indeed could build over the [existing] storm drain, my suggestion is that's great news, because that's what the community had said at all the meetings: 'Let's go and bring back a new building exactly where this building is,'" Bosse said Tuesday in a phone interview.

By requesting an additional concept, Bosse said it did not mean she would not support Option D, but she said she would not support Option D without first studying Option E.

When Option D comes back before the City Council, it will include a multipurpose room but not a basketball court. Last week, the majority of councilmembers supported removing the indoor basketball court, but maintaining outdoor basketball courts.

Bosse said she thought Option E would be advantageous because it would not require repositioning the existing outdoor basketball court to an east-west orientation, which could be problematic for participants depending on the location of the sun.

"I think the community will feel that we've respected the character of the park and we're not going to be taking away any mature trees or taking away any green space," Bosse said. "I would hope that we could then have a unanimous 5-0 on that. I think that would really show the community that we've put a lot of time into this, we've come a long way, but we're all on the same page with the community and we can move forward, and I think Option E represents that."

When asked if Mayor Willie Brien thought a unanimous consensus would be possible, Brien said, "I never speculate on how my colleagues will vote on things but I believe whether it's unanimous or not, input has been taken. Whatever the final design is, it may not be exactly what each person would have designed, but there will be elements in it from each and every councilmember's input and certainly input from the community."

Having spent months working with the Recreation and Parks liaison committee on revising the project, Brien said he felt the process has been open and positive.

"I think it is time to get this project moving. I think it's something the seniors deserve and the children deserve and I believe in the end the residents deserve," Brien said. "I believe they will be happy to have a clean facility that preserves green space, enhances the programmatic opportunities for each of those stakeholder groups, yet builds flexibility that

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Council of the City of Beverly Hills, at its meeting to be held on Tuesday, August 7, 2012, at 7:00 p.m., in the Council Chambers of the City Hall, 455 N. Rexford Drive, Beverly Hills, CA 90210, will hold a public hearing to consider:

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF BEVERLY HILLS AMENDING SECTION 10-3-1618 B. OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE REGARDING PARKING RESTRICTIONS FOR EXERCISE CLUBS.

The proposed ordinance would allow exercise clubs located outside the Business Triangle to request a Conditional Use Permit to allow the joint use of parking facilities for the purpose of satisfying parking requirements. Currently, only exercise clubs located inside the Business Triangle are permitted to make such a request. The requested amendment is associated with the establishment of an LA Fitness exercise club at 9100 Wilshire Boulevard.

This ordinance has been assessed in accordance with the authority and criteria contained in the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), the State CEQA Guidelines, and the environmental regulations of the City. The City has determined that the ordinance will not have a significant environmental impact and is exempt from CEQA pursuant to Section 15305 of Title 14 of the California Code of Regulations.

At the public hearing, the City Council will hear and consider all comments. All interested persons are invited to attend and speak on this matter. Written comments may also be submitted and should be addressed to the City Council, c/o City Clerk, 455 N. Rexford Drive, Beverly Hills, CA 90210. The comments should be received prior to the hearing date.

Please note that if you challenge the Council's action in regards to this matter in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered to the City, either at or prior to the public hearing.

If there are any questions regarding this notice, please contact Ryan Gohlich, Senior Planner in the Beverly Hills Community Development Department at 310.285.1194, or by email at rgohlich@beverlyhills.org. AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF BEVERLY HILLS AMENDING BEVERLY HILLS MUNICIPAL CODE SECTION 10-8-106 REGARDING TROUSDALE VIEW RESTORATION PERMIT PROCEDURES AND CONSIDERATION OF AMENDMENTS TO BEVERLY HILLS MUNICIPAL CODE SECTION 10-3-2616 REGARDING DEVELOPMENT STANDARDS FOR WALLS, FENCES AND HEDGES IN THE TROUSDALE ESTATES AREA OF THE CITY.

The proposed Zoning Code amendment would change the public notice requirements for a Trousdale View Restoration Permit and amendments to the Trousdale Estates wall, fence and hedge standards, particularly the definition of hedge, would also be considered.

Trousdale Estates is defined in the zoning code as all property located north of Doheny Road and east of Schuyler road, except that land zoned R-1.X, and that portion of lot A of the Doheny Ranch Tract northwesterly of Tract Numbers 24485 and 24486, commonly referred to as the Greystone Mansion Property.

The amendments propose limited changes to the previously adopted Trousdale View Restoration Ordinance and the related Trousdale Wall, Fence and Hedge Ordinance for which a Negative Declaration was adopted after the project was assessed in accordance with the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), the State CEQA Guidelines, and the environmental regulations of the City and no significant environmental impacts were identified.

At the public hearing, the City Council will hear and consider all comments. All interested persons are invited to attend and speak on this matter. The City Council will be reviewing the above items, which are components of a new commercial building on the property located at 121 Spalding Drive. The new building was previously approved by the Planning Commission on July 12, 2012; however, the alley realignment and alley encroachment permits require final review and approval by the City Council.

Planning Commission approves ground-floor medical use at 8536 Wilshire

A vacant ground-floor storefront on Wilshire Boulevard has prompted the building’s owner to seek a change of entitled use from retail to medical, which was supported by the Planning Commission last week in a 3-2 consensus.

Commissioners Nan Cole, Howard Fisher and Dan Yukelson supported the conversion, while Chair Craig Corman and Vice Chair Brian Rosenstein voted against it.

Wilshire-Le Doux Medical Plaza, the group owner of the 8536 Wilshire Boulevard office building that contains medical offices occupied by Cedars-Sinai’s heart transplant team, has not found a tenant for the 5,780-square foot ground-floor retail space since the building was completed in 2010. A pharmacy occupies additional ground-floor space on the corner.

Former Mayor Joe Tilem represented the owner, which requested a 20-year term to lease the space for medical use, but the Planning Commission approved a 15-year term.

The issue was raised that perhaps the building’s green-tinted windows and planter in front of the window made the storefront undesirable to potential retail tenants, but Tilem said he believed the location was the problem.

Fisher said he assumed a potential tenant, if interested in the location, would have inquired about changing out the windows.

“I think they tried long and hard enough to find a tenant and they had apparently virtually no interest in the space,” Fisher said.

Fisher said by allowing medical space, the commission was not precluding the space from being used for retail.

“The question is, are we going to force him to do it?” Fisher said.

Corman said he voted against the conversion because he believes it is more beneficial to the City to have retail in the location than medical.

“The question is whether it’s viable. There are other retail establishments [in the area] there currently,” Corman said. “I was not comfortable tying up the ground-floor space for 15 years given the fact we would rather have retail there and the building was entitled for retail there.”

Corman said if the Metro Westside Subway Extension moves forward in accordance with the accelerated America Fast Forward plan, there would be “demonstrably increased demand for retail at that location before 15 years is up.” A subway station is proposed at La Cienega and Wilshire boulevards.

Allowing the conversion of the space from retail to medical requires the owner to provide 12 additional parking spaces off site, at 99 N. La Cienega Boulevard.

Based on a parking demand study, City staff says existing on-site parking would likely satisfy the demand for parking for the ground-floor medical use in addition to existing use, but the spaces at 99 N. La Cienega would be available in case of a shortfall.

“I think they did the right thing,” Tilem said. “It was better for the City to have somebody there and have at least somebody paying rent and somebody paying taxes than to leave a store empty for years without any prospects of renting it because it just is not a rentable space for retail uses.”

The resolution related to the medical conversion as well as a second resolution related to modifying the conditional use permit to allow the building owner to charge tenants for parking are expected to come back for the Planning Commission’s final approval on Sept. 13. Tenants would still be required to offer free parking to patients, customers and employees.

little larger room you get more functionality. You'll see in the design the ability to divide rooms into different sizes. It gives you more flexibility for different programs."

Bosse and Brien said parking still needs to be addressed in both options.

"I don't support having subterranean parking and I think the community made it clear they didn't as well," Bosse said. "What I would say is I would like for us to provide the most amount of parking that we can, try and be creative with our way of parking, without taking any green space away."

Bosse said she would also like renovation to be a part of Tuesday's discussion.

"I've had a number of residents contact me saying they feel that the whole option of renovating the existing building kind of has fallen off the radar screen," Bosse said. "What I would ask is when we have our meeting about Roxbury that those numbers be presented so we can make an informed decision."

Historic parts of Hawthorne safe, for now

Hawthorne's historic Building Group A and auditorium has been spared from the wrecking ball, at least for now.

The Board of Education was presented with two construction concepts for the school at a study session July 25, but held off on selecting either one. Option 6, estimated at a total of $85.9 million, would preserve only part of the façade of the 1928-constructed Building Group A, the tower, and the courtyard. Option 7, estimated at a total of $92.6 million, would preserve the exterior of Building A in its entirety including the auditorium.

Options 6 and 7 both included a $4-million gymnasium and a $3.1-million parking structure with 50 spaces.

The preservation aspect of Option 7 has been estimated at $3.3 million. BHUSD facilities consultant Julio Palacio attributed the remaining cost difference between the two concepts to a higher contingency for existing buildings.

The board directed staff to see if an additional option involving preservation would result in cost savings. President Brian Goldberg proposed addressing Building Group A's mechanical, electrical, plumbing and civil engineering (MEPC) issues but otherwise leaving it intact, and focusing on new construction on the north and south ends of the campus.

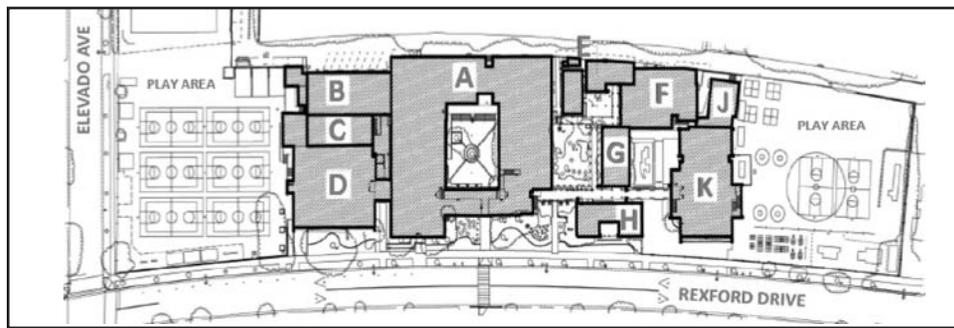

The Board of Education agreed to look into this option in order to save money and avoid demolishing the historic building.

"I want to see if we can get our educational uses in for closer to what we had talked about, when this bond was passed [which was] $45-48 million," Goldberg said.

When the concepts were previously presented in February, Option 6 was estimated at $73 million. Palacio said the most recent estimates are totals for the entire project, including contingency.

"I don't believe there was ever any intention or knowledge by the folks who went out for the bond that they would be replacing Hawthorne. That's evidenced by the purpose of the bond, which was to do fire, life safety and other things," Vice President Jake Manaster said in a phone interview Tuesday.

Manaster said the board started looking at re-building most of the campus based

Existing Hawthorne campus. Last week, the Board of Education directed staff to provide information on a concept that would preserve Building Group A, but demolish the rest of the campus on recommendations from Tracy Richter of DeJong-Richter, who was hired to create a master plan for the district.

Manaster said he would support creating a working master plan for each campus, and perhaps taking a phased approach to accomplishing goals for the campus. As an example, Manaster said the multipurpose room/gymnasium or parking structure could be reserved for later phases in the interest of addressing educational and MEPC needs first.

"I just simply don't want us to lose what the end product is supposed to be because we don't have funding," Manaster said.

At last week's study session, board members responded to community members' concerns about potential demolition of the historic campus.

"I've heard a lot of what the community has said about all this, since I went to the schools here and watched what Beverly Vista

Will they run?

Other notes on the village

By Rudy Cole

This may be too much to expect, but try to keep your emotions under control: Just six days after America elects the next president of the United States, filing will begin for Beverly Hills City Council!

Exact date for likely council candidates to take out nomination papers is November 12 for the March 2013 municipal elections. The city will also vote for City Treasurer, and so far no official announcement from incumbent Eliot Finkel on whether he will seek another term. In the event he doesn't run, Planning Commissioner Daniel Yukelson has indicated he might be a candidate.

However, we will have a contested council race and no matter the intensity of the campaign efforts, fewer than 30 percent of eligible voters are likely to participate.

Three incumbents are all expected to seek re-election: Mayor Dr. Willie Brien and Vice Mayor John Mirisch for a second term, and Councilmember Barry Brucker for a third. The most serious and announced challenger will be Planning Commission Vice Chair, Brian Rosenstein.

Former Mayor Nancy Krasne, who barely lost a bid for a second term two years ago, has indicated she may run again. Both she and Rosenstein would have well-funded campaigns.

The one name missing from the "likely" list is former school board president Steven Fenton. The son of the prominent political family—father Frank had a record for holding the most public offices in city history: School board president and member, councilmember, mayor, city treasurer and commission chair; mother Judie has managed dozens of city elections and is head of a well-known event planning firm—Steven will not run.

Fenton, now married to a popular and successful media personality, Leeza Gibbons, has moved to a Valley home with his new family.

There was some interest, or, at least speculation, on what had been an apparent split between Fenton and Brucker and how that might play out in an election. For reasons that now seem vague, the two had some testy public disputes when Fenton was board president and Brucker mayor, Fenton even making an unprecedented demand for Brucker to remove himself as school board liaison—something that received no traction.

With three incumbents and at least one and possibly two strong challengers, who is most vulnerable?

Of the two, Commissioner Rosenstein is least likely to do any kind of negative campaigning, running on his own record of service and his fourth-generation roots in Beverly Hills. Krasne is far more likely to raise both personal and political differences with one or more of the incumbent contenders.

What will be lacking are high-voltage issues that have impacted recent elections. No hotel referenda and no major development problem is likely to create strong voter interest. There is hardly a fraction of differences on how to oppose the subway route and even here only a question of methodology and not the basic question of fighting tunneling under our high school.

Despite some distractions on budget questions, Beverly Hills is in very strong fiscal shape and has achieved historic agreements with the city staff, including very workable contracts with both fire and police unions. Compromises on Roxbury Park improvements will probably remove that issue from the campaign.

Will any of the five school board members run for city council? Very unlikely, not only because of some clearly unresolved internal, school-related controversies, but none have expressed much interest. Vice President Jacob Manaster would have been the most formidable, but he has reportedly told friends his one term on the board is likely to be his last in elective office. He does have a solid base and would be a tough candidate if he decides to seek office in some future city race.

Noah Margo, who set some records, matched only by a similar successful campaign by Barry Brucker, in a 2011 write-in election, which is always difficult, will only have been on the board for two years as has Lewis Hall. Neither they or board president Brian Goldberg nor past president Lisa Korbatov are expected to run.

So, of the three incumbents seeking re-election, are any more vulnerable than the others? (In some past elections, all three had the endorsement of the Weekly)

Dr. Brien's real challenge will be in convincing his base to actually vote. Few people who have ever served our city are as much admired as Dr. Brien. His intellectual and professional talents, his strong sense of moral values and wanting to do what is right, are big pluses but that could also lead to an assumption by his base that he should have no problems in winning a second term. What could help? Recent personal attacks on his voting record just might galvanize his more laidback supporters and actually assure his re-election.

Brucker is probably one of the best campaigners in our city's history. He does extremely well in person to person retail electioneering, especially when he walks the city. Wife Sue is a wizard on campaign tools, including first-rate mailers. Anti-development zealots will find it hard to attack his voting records—he strongly opposed the Hilton development plan. (However, the voters gave the concept their approval.)

Mirisch is by far the most volatile of the three, and depending on the size of the vote, could be the most vulnerable. A light vote could benefit Mirisch and Krasne, a heavier vote Brien, Brucker and Rosenstein. Although similar on some issues, don't expect Mirisch and Krasne to run as a team. There are considerable residual past differences that could surface in the campaign.

Mirisch does well in forums and his family name resonates in the entertainment industry. Krasne's outspoken candor, often leading to conflicts with both staff and city leaders, is both a strength and a weakness.

Yes, there have been some differences on a few issues by the five councilmembers, but few of these are likely to impact the election. Mostly, the candidates will win or lose on personal popularity and effectiveness of their campaigns.

Strong leaders who are not likely run this year? Noah Furie and Planning Commission Chair Craig Corman. As for this writer, as in the past I will run from not for public office.

One side impact of Univision's decision not to go forward with plans to develop the former Friar's Club site again raises a big aesthetic problem for the city.

How can we assure that developments will go forward before we permit demolition of existing structures? Gone forever is the Friar's club building and what we will see is an empty lot. Fortunately, the owners have provided some landscaping that blocks a view of a surface blight, but there has to be some method that prevents tearing down without a guarantee that a building plan will actually happen.

For many years the city has considered, but not adopted, rules that would require bonds assuring development prior to issuance of demolition permits.

The most troubling possibility is a proposed construction that would include major excavation and then not be completed. Just imagine what our Wilshire gateway would be like if Robinsons-May had been demolished?

There is one possibility for the Friar's property that has been rumored but not close to being confirmed: Purchase by the owners of the Peninsula for a possible annex—either for banquets, suites or both. Events are among the most profitable for hotels and the Peninsula had tough restrictions on public assembly uses, and heights, when it won city approval.

Another idea being floated is for the Peninsula to obtain property on the north side of Little Santa Monica, in what has been dubbed part of the Gateway overlay plan, and actually connect with a pedestrian bridge across the street.

Hotel economic news? All good. Very high occupancy reported at the Beverly Hilton, Peninsula, Beverly Hills Montage, Beverly Wilshire and the Beverly Hills. The Hilton continues to score with major, prestigious events filling their ballrooms every day and night.

Speaking of hotels, of course my deepest appreciation to all those who pointed out my error in the spelling of the founders of the San Francisco Fairmont's name. It is the Swig family, not Zwig. Not the first reader to call was Sam Freshman, and he should know. The author of many important books on real estate, Freshman has been involved in numerous hotel deals with the Swig family.

Fortunately, Beverly Hills did not fall into the same trap as Newport Beach and try to bill the president's campaign for costs of security during visits to the city.

I assume Newport Beach, as Beverly Hills, spends considerable tax dollars promoting tourism. I can think of fewer visible exposures than a visit by President Barack Obama, or any other president.

Very good turnout for the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce's Membership appreciation night held in the city park adjoining the Montage.

We spotted two former mayors and their spouses: Drs. Charles and Sandra Aronberg—Sandy is just completing her fine service as a member of the Health and Safety Commission, and the Joe Tilems.

I would never have noticed without Josette's alerting me to the number of mini-skirted young women making visits to the various refreshment venues.

We were joined by Tara Sakraida and Los Angeles Business Journal real-estate reporter, Jacqui Ryan. Good job by Chamber staffers, including Michael Rasch.

Maybe we should trade one of our cats, just kidding Golda and Asa, for a 14-year-circa computer wiz, but my apologies to Ellyn Snowden, Patti Tanenbaum, Marty Geimer and others for not including notices of good events they emailed, but the monster crashed again. Hopefully, we will restore next week.

Rudy Cole served for eight years as a member and chair of the city's Recreation & Parks Commission. He was also President of the Greystone Foundation and served on three other city committees. Rudy can be reached at: Rudy@bhweekly.com.

became and what it was, but I'm always more apt to preserve some of the historic nature of our buildings," Board member Noah Margo said. "I think what we're doing at Horace Mann is a representation of having new and old and making it work."

The Horace Mann project involves preserving the auditorium and Building A, the main campus building that houses the offices, and building a new two-story building on the corner of Charleville and Robertson that will contain the middle school, library and a new multipurpose room among other things.

Board members shared varying opinions about Hawthorne's auditorium, which historical architect G. Taylor Loudon said is important to maintain Building Group A's architectural integrity. Through DLR Group, the Board of Education contracted Loudon to conduct a historical assessment of Hawthorne's campus.

In his report, Loudon determined Building A, including the auditorium, was significant and should be retained in its entirety. DLR Group designed Option 7 based on Loudon's recommendations.

"I think the outside of the auditorium is beautiful and it's unique, but I don't think the inside of that auditorium is conducive to anything productive," Margo said. "I would love to keep the façade of the auditorium. I think that grand entrance going through the courtyard, looking at the arches, is unique."

Margo said since the auditorium was originally designed for a grammar school and not a K-8 school, he believes the inside is not ideal for both educational and community uses. Board member Lisa Korbatov expressed concern that preserving the auditorium would not result in a larger stage and performance space for students.

Board member Lewis Hall said he had attended performances in the auditorium and said the space "worked."

Prior to the board giving its direction, DLR Group principal Brett Hobza said the auditorium could be re-purposed as the library, but a location for a new auditorium would have to be determined.

"I'm profoundly grateful to the school board for recognizing the value of preserving Building A, while at the same time considering the costs of what Option 6 and Option 7 was going to do to the overall Measure E budget," said Kimberly Vinokur Reiss, founder of the "Save Historic Hawthorne School" Facebook page. "I'm looking forward to hearing viable alternatives that are in the best interest of all parties involved with the outcome of Hawthorne."

It is unclear if plans for Hawthorne will move forward any time soon, since the board learned last week from its financial advisors Keygent Advisors that the district will likely run out of Measure E funds before completing construction at Beverly High if it moves forward with Horace Mann and Hawthorne first.

The Board of Education will likely discuss its plans for Measure E at a study session later this month on a date to be determined. For more about Measure E financing, please see next brief.

Measure E funds unlikely to cover all five BHUSD schools

For months, the Board of Education has been studying concepts that would rebuild significant portions of the campuses at Horace Mann, Hawthorne and Beverly High. With the $334-million Measure E bond fund, the board also intended to fix up El Rodeo and address remaining issues at Beverly Vista.

Last week, the board learned from its financial advisors Keygent Advisors it will likely run out of money before completing construction at the high school if plans for

MEMORIES OF MUNICH

Guri Weinberg criticizes the International Olympic Committee on the 40th anniversary of his father's death at the Munich Olympics

1990 Beverly High graduate Guri Weinberg's father, Moshe Weinberg, was one of 11 Israeli athletes and coaches killed at the 1972 Olympic Games in Munich by Palestinian terrorists. Weinberg, an actor, played his father in Steven Spielberg's 2005 film "Munich." Weinberg plays Romanian vampire Stefan in the upcoming Twilight movie, "Breaking Dawn—Part 2."

Your father Moshe Weinberg, an Israeli wrestling coach, was the first to encounter the Black September terrorists at the 1972 Munich Olympics. Tell us what happened.

What happened is that the PLO [Palestinian Liberation Organization], eight of them, knocked on the door of the room where my father and others were staying. When the door was opened, one of the guys realized that it was terrorists and he slammed his body against the door and yelled, "Terrorism!" and they came in. My father woke up from his sleep, grabbed a knife that was in the kitchen and wanted to fight, but he got shot in the face, which went in from one cheek and went out the other. Then they asked him to lead them to the head of the Israeli Olympic Committee, and my father, instead of doing that, led them to where all the weightlifters and wrestlers were at because they thought they'd have a better chance of overcoming them. At that point when they got everybody together, he told one of his wrestlers to make a run for it and when he did, my dad knocked out one of the PLO guys and then got shot twice, once in the chest and once in the head, and that's when he died. Later they threw his body out naked for everyone to see.

At that point, Mr. [Yossef] Romano, who was a weightlifter and was a very good friend of my dad's, had a chance to escape but decided to try to fight and got shot multiple times. In one room they had tied everybody's hands behind their back and had them sit on two beds that were opposite each other and put Romano's body in the middle where he was still alive, dying slowly in front of the rest of the athletes and coaches. After a few hours of negotiations, the German negotiator came up, saw Romano on the floor, begged them to let them take the body so they can try to save him. They said no.

And the rest of the story is known, that they asked for helicopters to go to the airport so they could get a plane to fly out to Libya, and there was a botched attempt to rescue the athletes. They were put in the helicopters with their hands tied behind their backs. While the gunfire was going on, they were trying to help each other to release their hands, with their mouths trying to release the knots. At that point the Palestinian terrorists turned their guns on the athletes and put a grenade in the helicopter and killed them.

You were one month old when this happened. When did you first learn what happened to your father?

When I was in Kindergarten, when I could actually hold a conversation is when I asked questions: "Why am I the only one that doesn't have a dad?" I'd always seen pictures of my dad around the house and could never understand. That's when people started explaining to me, but as I was a kid they didn't give me all the information. It was slowly and as gently as they could.

The older I got, people were more apt to share more of the gruesome details of what happened. It progressed through the years. After a while nobody really wanted to talk about it anymore and felt weird talking to me about it. I kept pushing and asking and that's when they started talking about it.

When I was a kid, weird enough, I was a little angry with my dad for fighting back. I never understood why he didn't just sit there and do what he was told. And then I had the chance to play him in the movie Munich. For me it was a private journey to really try to understand why he did what he did, and it was just extremely therapeutic to me.

Tell us about the process you went through preparing to play your father in Steven Spielberg's film Munich.

The process was a little shorter because I learned about him from other people and learned about the occasion. For me it was just really showing up and putting myself in that position and going through the steps and following what the director wanted to capture. At that point, I pretty much switched from the son to an actor, or else I wouldn't have been able to do it.

Was that challenging?

Yeah it was. When you're all of a sudden playing [your dad] on a set that's built to be precisely the way it was back then, in underwear, and have actors playing the terrorists and finding myself in that position was very emotional, but it was a tug-of-war of how do I keep calm, keep focused, do-your-job kind of thing.

Tell us how it turned out to be therapeutic.

As I said before, for years when I was a kid I was always angry why he did what he did. Then I understood why for Israelis, especially back then, they were the first ones to really understand what terrorism was all about. When you hear the terrorists are there with a gun, you know you have one of two choices—fight or not—and you're going to die anyway. At that point, I understood why my dad did what he did, understood that the only chance they had to get out alive was to fight.

How did your family end up in Beverly Hills?

Ever since I was a kid, I wanted to be an actor. My mom and I moved to Beverly Hills when I was 14 to start high school because we heard Beverly High had a good drama department. We lived in a one-bedroom apartment. It was difficult to go through that financially but it was well worth it.

You graduated in 1990 from Beverly High, where you were heavily involved in performing arts, appearing in productions opposite Gabriel Macht, Monica Lewinsky among others. Tell us about that.

It was a very special program. It's one of those programs where they really try to make it as professional as possible so you really understand what it's like. I've never seen it anywhere else. I've gone to other high schools to see their performances and it just didn't come close to Beverly High because everybody comes from families in the entertainment industry. They really take it seriously to make it as professional as possible and really go all the way with it. You really get to know everybody very well. You hang out a lot, a lot of rehearsals. It's funny all these names that you bring up. Gabriel and Monica. Monica used to do wardrobe.

[Choral director] Joel [Pressman] was awesome. Joel was extremely funny, but very serious about his work and actually getting the notes right, and practicing and making sure our grades were right. He would take offense if somebody let their grades go down because of the [performing arts] department.

What's your take on the controversy right now pertaining to the International Olympic Committee's decision not to have a moment of silence at last Friday's Opening Ceremony?

The biggest problem with the IOC—I'm

2008 Measure E campaign mailing

Horace Mann and Hawthorne move forward first, leaving no money for Beverly Vista and El Rodeo.

The $62-million Horace Mann project is already proceeding to the construction document phase, following direction from the board at last week's study session. Hawthorne was most recently estimated at between $85 million and $92 million. The Beverly High concept presented last week was estimated at a total of approximately $180 million, including contingency.

Chief Facilities Official Nelson Cayabyab said Measure E funds would likely run out in 2017 or 2018 with only 60 percent of the high-school project completed, if Hawthorne is prioritized.

Keygent Advisors presented a second bond schedule option that would focus on Horace Mann and Beverly High, but not Hawthorne, and would leave the district with approximately $28 million to address issues at the remaining campuses.

Vice President Jake Manaster said in a phone interview Tuesday the Board of Education would next discuss its Measure E plans at a study session later this month.

"I'd say the first thing we need to define is what exactly are we spending and when and to get what, and I don't think that that's been fully formulated yet," Manaster said. "I hope we've seen enough as a board to give direction as to, 'here are the limitations within which we would like everybody to operate going forward.'"

Since the district is already moving forward with plans for Horace Mann—which Manaster pointed out combine new construction with preservation, underground parking, a new field and are "not coming in at some outrageous amount of money"—Manaster said the board needs to assess how to spend the remaining funds wisely.

"I'm looking forward to tuning and truing this up to what this community needs, wants and can afford," Manaster said.

Both scenarios presented by Keygent Advisors assumed the board would approve a tax increase of $60 per $100,000 of assessed value, the maximum allowed under Prop. 39 without holding a referendum, but Keygent Managing Director Tony Hsieh said the district has missed the deadline to raise the tax rate for fiscal year 2012-2013.

The board has discussed raising the tax rate without a referendum to accelerate the bond schedule, which is lagging behind projections made in 2008.

Currently, the BHUSD does not have the money to fund the Hawthorne or Beverly High projects. So far, $72 million has been issued, but the next $60-million installment of bonds will not be available until 2014. If the board does not raise the tax rate, it will likely not be able to access the total $334 million until 2030.

Hsieh said if the board raises the tax rate, the initial rate will be $114 per $100,000 of assessed value, but by 2034 the rate will level out to approximately $60 per $100,000 of assessed value until the bonds are paid off.

"All that extra capacity you have by raising the tax rate is right now," Hsieh said. "What you did forgo is one year of raising the tax. I think as the board moves forward on to its decision-making process it would be best if we could try to hit the 2013-2014 tax rolls."

Hsieh said BHUSD would not have to let LACOE know its final decision until spring 2013.

When Measure E passed in 2008, the Board of Education at the time promised the existing tax rate—$49.71 per $100,000 assessed value—would not increase.

In Issue #654, the Weekly reported under Prop. 39, BHUSD can legally levy a tax rate of up to $60 per $100,000 assessed value for Measure E, to add on top of the $54-per-$100,000 rate for Measures K and S that will be paid off in 2030. Measure E would be paid off in 2055.

When Goldberg asked if the board had financing options other than raising the tax rate, Hsieh said bond anticipation notes (BANs), or bridge financing, would allow the BHUSD to access bond funds before scheduled bond sales. Hsieh said interest rates are currently low for BANs, but the district would risk interest rates increasing during the course of repayment.

Goldberg did not return a phone call from the Weekly.

Tour-bus headset requirement hits legal snag

For years the City has sought a solution to reduce the impact of noise from loudspeakers on open-air tour buses traveling through Beverly Hills' residential neighborhoods to catch a glimpse of celebrities' homes.

Last November, the Traffic & Parking Commission voted to recommend that the City Council adopt an ordinance requiring open-air tour buses to install headsets, but Commission Chair Julie Steinberg said the commission was told at its July 12 meeting the City cannot pursue the ordinance because of existing law in the California vehicle code.

"We had the city attorney review [the proposed ordinance] and they determined that there's a California Vehicle Code [section] that it's a violation if you have amplified sound [that can be heard at distances] greater than 50 feet," Deputy Director of Transportation Aaron Kunz said. "The city attorney determined it was a preemption of a state law."

City attorney Larry Wiener said he could not speak publicly about the advice his office gave to the transportation department regarding the proposed ordinance, because of attorney-client privilege.

According to Starline Tours director Philip Ferentinos, the company has been voluntarily using headsets in its open-air tour vehicles that cruise through residential areas for more than two years.

In a phone interview July 26, Ferentinos said Starline Tours will not change its practices with respect to headsets based on the news Beverly Hills won't be going forward with the ordinance.

"We feel that it's responsible tourism to be doing this and we're really saddened the other companies don't feel the same way," Ferentinos said. "We understand that since the industry has gone from closed buses to topless buses, we needed to make an adjustment in best practices, which we did in conjunction with Beverly Hills, understanding their concerns and the concerns of the City of L.A., too."

Next year, Ferentinos said the company plans to install headsets in its larger double-decker tour buses that only drive through non-residential areas.

"We don't want buses blasting through like portable juke boxes, which is really what they can become," Ferentinos said. "We don't want that to be the case, even in industrial areas."

When asked about the cost to equip its vehicles with headsets, Ferentinos said the company does not share that information publicly, but he said the cost is "significant."

"It is the responsible thing to do," Ferentinos said. "We hope all companies eventually understand that's the way it should be done."

Kunz said the City would continue to reach out to tour-bus companies to encourage voluntary headset compliance and to educate them about the amplified sound limitation in the vehicle code.

"We want to keep going to try to minimize the impacts of these tour buses and we're working with staff, with the visitors bureau and also with the Traffic & Parking Commission," Kunz said. "We're going to continue doing everything we possibly can to reduce impacts."

BHUSD support staff to get raises only if tax initiative passes

Margo Bender

In a year when the Board of Education approved the purchase of a $1.5-million residence, two district-office administrators got significant raises, and teachers got a 3-percent salary increase, the board approved a modest salary increase for the district's non-certificated staff, but only in the event that Governor Jerry Brown's tax initiative passes in November.

In June, the Board of Education approved an agreement with the district's office, technical and business services (OTBS) staff authorizing a 3-percent raise if the tax initiative succeeds. The district's instructional assistants (IA) were granted raises between $0.50 and $1.50 an hour, also contingent on the tax increase.

The OTBS and IA tentative agreements were approved the same night the board approved the teachers union's first raise in three years.

OTBS staff has also gone three years without a pay raise. In the past, BHEA OTBS Unit President Margo Bender said the OTBS, IA and certificated units all received raises at the same time.

"The district was not willing to give OTBS a salary increase as they did the teachers, so just going to call it what it is—is anti-Semitism. [A previous IOC head and his vice president were known to be] Nazi sympathizer[s]. New information came out [recently] that a Nazi group helped the PLO get weapons, fake ID's and get into the Olympic Village. Not only that, but three [weeks] before the Olympics, they had somebody in [Lebanon] who was an informant, warned him about it, that it was coming because Black September was very angry that the IOC did not allow the Palestinians to join in the festivities of the Olympics. They decided, "Well, let's disrupt the Olympics and pretty much give them the middle finger and let's kill some Israelis while we're at it." There's a lot of Nazi connection and I just got new information that I'm not going to share quite yet, because it's probably bigger than what I found out so far. So the IOC has a lot to hide. Their hands are bloodied. They have used their PR machine to make everybody believe that this is just an Israeli-Palestinian issue and it's not.

Tell us about last Friday's press conference with Israeli Consul General David Siegel.

They held a memorial [for the Munich 11] on Friday at the Coliseum downtown and we had the Simon Wiesenthal Center come down, Rabbi Abraham Cooper and Rabbi Marvin Hier. We had a bunch of Los Angeles City Council[members] come down and they all showed their respect. They all made speeches. It was very nice and very touching.

What do you think is the enduring legacy of this tragedy?

Well, I think that hate is bigger than everybody thought in the world. Everybody thought that this hatred toward Jews was over after World War II was over and it's not. It's actually more prevalent now than it has been in years, and it shows with the IOC and who's behind the IOC. I don't think a lot of people knew the Nazi connection of the IOC and the connection between the IOC and the Palestinian terrorists. I think that the legacy will actually change in the near future when people find out more about the people behind the IOC. It's about corruption as well. They don't want to hurt their fiscal bottom line, in any way, shape or form.

Any closing thoughts?

This year the amount of support we've gotten worldwide has been more than ever. The fact that countries like the U.S., England, Italy, Spain, Germany, Australia—just to name a few—have stood up and said that they want a moment of silence and it's about time and have been disgusted with the IOC's decision not to do it, has been heart-warming and I believe that that's just the beginning, and after 40 years, it's really nice to see people starting to get disgusted with the IOC's decision not to do it.

--Interview by Melanie Anderson

they made ours contingent upon something we have no control over," said Bender, who is an attendance assistant at Beverly High.

Bender said her fellow OTBS members, including secretaries, technical support staff and business clerks in the district office, felt slighted.

"They feel we should all be united and when you divide and give a certain group something and you make the other group less, it's very disrespectful," Bender said. "They just don't understand how the district can give out raises that they give to management at the district office and to teachers, and the people that make the lowest amount in the district were denied."

Bender said a 3-percent raise for the approximately 45 OTBS members would have amounted to approximately $90,000. The teachers' salary increase amounted to approximately $1 million.

Board of Education Vice President Jake Manaster said the board did not authorize simultaneous raises for all units due to the current budget situation.

"The comments I heard were, 'what impacts the classroom the most?' and I think everybody can agree, teachers impact the classroom the most, which is not to diminish the contribution that our office, technical, business staff and our instructional aides bring to our educational community, but we simply didn't have the money," Manaster said.

Manaster, who called the potential cuts the BHUSD may have to make in the coming year "unpalatable," expressed frustration at the budget situation. At a study session in July, Manaster proposed submitting a "self-qualified" budget to send a message that BHUSD would not be able to find between $3.3 million and $6.2 million in cuts to balance the budget over the next three years.

State Historical Resources Commission coming to Beverly Hills this week

Approximately one year after Beverly Hills was making headlines for the near demolition of master architect Richard Neutra's Kronish House on Sunset Boulevard, the State Historical Resources Commission (SHRC)—California's body in charge of designating historic landmarks for the state and national registers—will hold its quarterly meeting Friday in Beverly Hills at City Hall Council Chambers at 9 a.m.

The SHRC will also host a workshop and training session at Greystone Mansion this morning at 10 a.m. Both meetings are open to the public.

"The Cultural Heritage Commission and our city are honored that the State Historical Resources Commission has chosen Beverly Hills as the location for their upcoming quarterly meeting," Beverly Hills Cultural Heritage Commission Chair Noah Furie said. "In less than a year, the city has gone from not being involved in historic preservation to being fully engaged in this effort. Having the commission's meeting in Beverly Hills will further publicize our commitment to preservation."

State historian Jay Correia, who supports the activities of the commission, said the SHRC holds its quarterly meetings all over the state.

"We try to meet in different communities so that different preservation organizations and preservationists have the opportunity to attend meetings," Correia said. "For two years we have been talking about meeting in the Beverly Hills area. It all came together and we ended up meeting in Beverly Hills this quarter. And I shouldn't leave out the fact this meeting in Beverly Hills coincides with the establishment of Beverly Hills' local landmarking program."

The SHRC's primary responsibility is to review applications for listing historic and archaeological resources on the National Register of Historic Places, the California Register of Historical Resources, and the California Historical Landmarks and California Points of Historical Interest registration programs.

At Friday's meeting at City Hall, the SHRC will recognize Beverly Hills' historic preservation ordinance, which was approved by the City Council in January; Friends of Greystone; Friends of Robinson Gardens; and The Beverly Hills Hotel, which was approved last week as the City's first local historic landmark. Mayor Willie Brien will make a welcome address.

Nearby places up for consideration for the National Register on this week's agenda include the Yamashiro Historic District in Hollywood, the First Congregational Church in Long Beach and the Boulevard Heights Historic District in Los Angeles.

Furie said in the future, the Beverly Hills Cultural Heritage Commission and the SHRC would likely be in touch if properties designated on Beverly Hills' local register apply for state or national register designation.

"To familiarize [the SHRC] with our wealth of historic resources in our city is beneficial to the owners of these resources," Furie said.

Canon Gardens at 8 p.m.

Free parking is available to patrons of the shows: Get a coupon at the concert or movie and redeem it for parking in the Beverly Gardens parking structure. The gardens feature plentiful seating and a large, grassy area for picnic blankets. Tables and chairs will be available on a first-come, first-served basis. Patrons are encouraged to enjoy outdoor dining at Bouchon or The Montage, enjoy special pre- and post-show discounts at Beverly

UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. Notice is hereby given that RECONTRUST COMPANY, N.A., as duly appointed trustee pursuant to the Deed of Trust executed by CHRISTOPHER NAMSOO LEE, a MARRIED MAN AS HIS SOLE AND SEPERATE PROPERTY, dated 12/14/2006 and recorded 12/22/2006, as Instrument No. 20062850085, in Book , Page , of Official Records in the office of the County Recorder of Los Angeles County, State of California, will sell on 08/13/2012 at 11:00AM, By the fountain located at 400 Civic Center Plaza, Pomona, CA 91766 at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash or check as described below, payable in full at time of sale, all right, title, and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust, in the property situated in said County and State and as more fully described in the above referenced Deed of Trust. The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 120 SOUTH CRESCENT DRIVE #302, BEVERLY HILLS, CA, 90212. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein. The total amount of the unpaid balance with interest thereon of the obligation secured by the property to be sold plus reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is $971,524.26. It is possible that at the time of sale the opening bid may be less than the total indebtedness due. In addition to cash, the Trustee will accept cashier's checks drawn on a state or national bank, a check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state. Said sale will be made, in an "AS IS" condition, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession or encumbrances, to satisfy the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust, advances thereunder, with interest as provided, and the unpaid principal of the Note secured by said Deed of Trust with interest thereon as provided in said Note, plus fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust. If required by the provisions of section 2923.5 of the California Civil Code, the declaration from the mortgagee, beneficiary or authorized agent is attached to the Notice of Trustee's Sale duly recorded with the appropriate County Recorder's Office. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on a property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, this information can be obtained from one of the following two companies: LPS Agency Sales & Posting at (714) 730-2727, or visit the Internet Web site www.lpsasap.com (Registration required to search for sale information) or Priority Posting & Publishing at (714) 573-1965 or visit the Internet Web site www.priorityposting.com (Click on the link for "Advanced Search" to search for sale information), using the Trustee Sale No. shown above. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF CHARLES FLACK
Case No. BP135900

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of CHARLES FLACK
A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Andrew Merrill Flack in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Andrew Merrill Flack be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on August 29, 2012 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 5 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Turn your old life policies into assets for your heirs and favorite charities.

If you are over age 70 and own an old life insurance policy, you may be able to make large gifts to charity and increase the legacy you leave for your heirs. Without ever writing another check!

You may believe your old policy is worthless or has very little cash value left. You may think your policy is too old, or that it can't be improved upon because your health has changed too much. You may be wrong!

Estate tax laws have changed significantly in your favor and today's insurance plans offer many new innovations. Now you may be able to considerably improve your dated policies.

One of our clients owned $900,000 of life insurance with an equity (cash value) of over $530,000. We showed him how he could gift his policy to charity and use his tax savings to buy a new one that would provide an even greater legacy for his heirs.

An 80-year-old client did not think she could improve upon her ten-year-old preferred issue policy, because she had developed significant health challenges. With our help she sold her policy for triple its cash value! We then showed her how she could use the proceeds from the sale to buy a new policy that provided more guarantees and cost 20% less. She used her savings to make donations to her favorite charities.

Ask for a complimentary report and let us help you decide whether to keep your old insurance policies or sell, surrender, or replace them, enabling you to leave more for your heirs and favorite charities.

For a complimentary consultation and policy appraisal, by phone or in person

Alan Kaye Insurance Agency, Inc. and NFP Securities, Inc. does not provide tax or legal advice. The case study results are for illustrative purposes and applies to this client's specific set of facts. Your results may be different. Guarantees are based on the claims-paying ability of the issuing company. Any decisions whether to implement these ideas should be made by the client in consultation with professional financial, tax and legal counsel. Investors should consult with their own professional advisor regarding the potential tax, estate, and legal considerations that may arise in connection with entering into life settlements transaction. Proceeds from a life settlement transaction may be taxable under federal or state law to the extent the proceeds exceed the cost basis. The proceeds from a life settlement transaction may be subject to claims of creditors. The receipt of proceeds from a life settlement transaction may adversely impact eligibility for government benefits and settlements. The amount received from the sale of the policy may be impacted by the circumstances of the particular purchaser of the policy, the insured's life expectancy, future premiums, the death benefit, the term of the policy, and the current market for insurance policies, among other factors. The amount received for the sale of the policy may be more or less than what others might receive for the sale of a similar policy. There may be high fees associated with a life settlement transaction.
