Neighbors say "Hollywood Regency" inspired project on Roxbury needs revisions

Neighbors submitted letters and spoke during the last Design Review Commission meeting to express concerns over the proposed construction of a new home at 911 N Roxbury Dr.

One of the main issues brought up by was that the façade of the building gives it the appearance of three stories, when the building is actually two stories high. A neighbor who spoke felt the proposed project "dwarfed" the Spanish style homes adjacent to the building.

The property is currently owned by Ben Neman. Previous property owners include academy award winning actor Warner Baxter.

Architect Hamid Gabbay, who represented the property owners at the May 4 meeting, wanted the Commission to know that he and take the concerns of the neighboring residents very seriously

"We heard the concerns of neighbors and

"Teacher's Union: Salary Formula is Not the Problem" [Issue 918]

In Issue 918, I am quoted in a way that makes it appear that I am being critical of Beverly High Principal Dave Jackson's receiving a salary increase for the 2016-17 and retaining this salary for his new position as Assistant Superintendent of Facilities.

While the quote is accurate, my main point was not about Mr. Jackson but rather about the Board of Education claiming to have financial difficulties and then making decisions that are in contradiction of this. Decisions that include creating new administrative positions such as Communications Director at $120,000 a year, maintaining staffing levels since 2009 instead of gradually reducing the number through natural attrition, considering an elementary textbook adoption program at a cost of $800,000 when twenty-three teachers have received layoff notices, and yes, increasing Mr. Jackson's salary.

The district increased Mr. Jackson's salary as high school principal to exceed those of all district administrators except for the superintendent. This decision is the reason why the district felt compelled to offer the same salary to Mr. Jackson for his new role as Assistant Superintendent of Facilities next year despite the fact that the salary range for this position was supposed to be at a maximum of $180,000.

I have no problem with Mr. Jackson's salary increase. As principal, he has been professional, supportive, and collaborative. We have a positive relationship and I have enjoyed working with him both as a classroom teacher and as a labor representative. The district clearly holds Mr. Jackson in high esteem as well. My concern, and BHEA's concern, has always been that the district picks and chooses when it has a financial problem and it wants to unfairly blame the teachers' compensation (#72 out of 74 in the county in terms of average salary) as the main reason for this.

The proposed style is identified as Italianate with inspiration from John Elgin Woolf’s Hollywood Regency architectural style. However, the project does not adhere to a pure style so it was submitted for the Commission’s review.

The Commissioners suggested the project come back to them with revisions made to the roof to help reduce the building’s perception of mass.

The project is expected to return to the Commission at the next meeting on June 1.

TAKE TWO

Mayor Lili Bosse on being mayor a second time

By Madelyn Pariser

What's different about being mayor the second time around?

For me, it's understanding and knowing the tremendous time commitment that's involved. When I was mayor the first time, it was literally an 18-hour per day job. It was something that I thoroughly enjoyed, but it's a tremendous time commitment. [Going into my second term as mayor,] I knew what to expect.

But just like the first time around, every day is a new surprise. There are always new residents to meet and new challenges to overcome. No day is ever boring and no day is ever the same. I like that. I'm somebody who thrives on challenge. Being the mayor gives you the opportunity to problem-solve and overcome obstacles.

My motto in life is start with "yes" then figure out how. I'm a very optimistic person by nature. As each day transpires, I get to help residents and businesses find solutions to their problems. The way I look at it, there's nothing we can't solve.

Why the emphasis on health?

It started when I was mayor the last time. It was [the City's] Centennial year, our 100th birthday. We all reflect on where we are in life when we have a monumental birthday. When I was mayor in 2014, I was thinking about what we need to do to get to the next 100 year mark. I thought about what we need to do to remain a healthy city.

That doesn't change. Each year of our lives, we have to pay attention to how we are on the inside. Health starts from the inside. I think that's true with government as well. For me, a healthy city includes healthy people, a healthy economy and a healthy government. It's all connected.

It's something we need to maintain always, not just when I'm mayor. Healthy government, to me, is about having a very open government.

Something I've done this year is request that we televise the Mayor's Cabinet meetings. [Once a month,] the mayor meets with all the chairs of all the commissions to receive reports on what's happening on everyone's commission.

For the first time ever, the Cabinet meetings are now being televised. It gives an opportunity for the public to see what is happening in City Hall.

I've also asked for our [Council] calendars to be placed online, so people know what it is that we're doing during the day. Anybody can check the calendar online to see the mayor is doing an interview with [the Weekly] right now.

[I wanted to do] this so that people don't feel like what we do is behind closed doors. It's a great way for the community to see what's happening in City Hall.

What did you learn during your last term that you'll use now?

I'm probably one of the most accessible [and] open elected officials this City has seen. I've always given everybody my cell phone number. People know that every Monday they can come and talk to me at "Walk with the Mayor." I'm on social media.

That's what I did last time and I think that's the key to being a productive leader. I want to let people know that I'm available and I'm here to listen. The community, by and large, knows that I am somebody who will not just listen, but also hear them.

I do my homework, and I'll continue to do my homework [because] I am the representative of the residents. To be a great mayor, you have to let the residents know that you really are representing them. Then, they'll feel confident knowing that I'm there voice for what they're vision is for Beverly Hills.

You served on the Planning Commission before getting elected the first time. Tell us about that.

I consider the Planning Commission to be the bedrock and the foundation of our city. When I was on the Commission, we were addressing significant development issues that had never been looked at before. Projects like the [Waldorf Astoria], the Wanda project, [and] the William Morris project [gave me] the opportunity to help craft what the future of Beverly Hills would be.

[The Commission] is a training ground for learning balance. You have to manage truly opposing visions. People are giving very valid and "I consider the Planning Commission to be the bedrock and the foundation of our city" passionate opinions on an issue and [it's up to you] to try to merge both because one is not right or wrong.

You get [to take] all of the those opposing views and visions [and] come up with a shared vision that's going to take Beverly Hills into the future. [The Commission] also works to maintain the Beverly Hills of the past.

Part of why people love our community so much is because we haven't lost our identity. The Commission tries to maintain the identity and quality of life in Beverly Hills. There's a responsibility to both.

Are there any advantages to being the only woman on the Council?

I don't know that there's necessarily an advantage. I love women in leadership. I'm a real girls' girl. I've always been that way. I hold my friendships with women sacred and I'm the biggest cheerleader when a woman is succeeding.

I do generally think women tend to lead with intuitiveness. I think men tend to be much more cerebral in their analysis. I use both. I have a very strong work ethic. I will work hard or even harder than most people. But I'll also include a very strong intuitive sense. That's a quality I think women generally possess by nature. Women are generally very people oriented and also tend to lead with their heart a bit more. That's my nature as well.

I think I'm able to balance that. I'm very open hearted and spiritual, but I can be really tough and strong if something is wrong and needs to be righted.

The only disadvantage [to being the only woman on the Council] is that I would like to see more women in leadership. I do know that women did run [for Council this term]. It wasn't an election where women didn't run; they didn't win.

If there was an election where women didn't run, then I would say that's a problem.

Tell us what's new about the walk?

We're going to new places. Similarly to my day as the mayor, no walk is ever the same. We're always going somewhere new. There's always new people that are joining us. There's always new energy. There are always new issues that people bring up to me that need to be solved. That's why people come back.

Last Monday is going to be different from the next Monday. There's always going to be new people and a new way of seeing our city. That's what I love too. Whenever you walk through our city you never see it the same way twice. I think that's part of why [the walk] is so successful. There's always a new vibrancy and that's why Monday is the best day of the week.

What's your favorite thing about Beverly Hills?

Honestly, it's our community. Our community is truly about heart, passion, pride and connection.

Swimming

Beverly High swimming coach Donald Graham has resigned after three seasons, athletic director Kevin Brown announced Monday.

Graham is "looking at other coaching opportunities," Brown said. Graham did not respond to a message seeking comment.

Graham is also a fashion and portrait photographer and owner of Cerberus Productions, where he heads the visual advertising division. Applications for the position are being accepted, Brown said.

The school is seeking a coach who "can develop our swimmers," "understands about teaching," and "whose job aligns with the coaching hours," Brown said.

"We're looking at someone who possesses good organizational skills and good management skills as the swimming program generally has about 80 to 90 kids," Brown said.

Brown said that his goal "is always to hire teacher-coaches" and assembling "a staff that together they form a great group with different skill sets."

"We'd love to have as many people who are here on campus," Brown said.

The coach will be assisted by three assistants, Brown said.

"After careful consideration with my family, I have decided to forego my remaining eligibility at the University of Arizona," Comanche tweeted.

"I'm thankful to coach (Sean) Miller for giving me an opportunity to play and be part of such a great program as I have thoroughly enjoyed my time in Tucson. It's been a life-long dream of mine to play in the NBA and I am looking forward to showcasing my talent during the draft process."

The tweet went on to thank members of the Wildcats coaching staff, his teammates "who have always believed in me," C.A.T.S. Academics, which provides customized services to student-athletes, "for helping me academically" and to "the greatest fans in the country."

Comanche declared for the 2017 NBA draft on April 8, but kept the option of returning to Arizona for his junior season by not hiring an agent. The deadline for players to withdraw their names and maintain their college eligibility is May 24.

The 6-foot-11-inch Comanche averaged 6.3 points, 3.6 rebounds and 18.1 minutes in 37 games during the 2016-17 season, including two starts.

Arizona Daily Star sports columnist Greg Hansen wrote that Comanche "likely wouldn't have increased his playing time" during the

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF CAROLBETH KORN
Case No. 17STPB03391

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of CAROLBETH KORN

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Lester B. Korn in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Lester B. Korn be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on May 22, 2017 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 99 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section

58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF TURKI BIN ABDULAZIZ

Case No. 17STPB03408

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of TURKI BIN ABDULAZIZ

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Eli Blumenfeld in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Eli Blumenfeld be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on May 19, 2017 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 5 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

The Cheese Store of Beverly Hills has been a nurturing destination for folks who live to eat for over 50 years, providing premium concierge service with carefully selected varieties of traditional and artisanal cheeses, a boutique selection of food friendly wines and gourmet foodstuffs. Owner Norbert Wabnig and his staff take great pride in welcoming guests to his store from all over the world and often surprising them with cheeses from their home regions, right here in Beverly Hills! This local mecca for cheese aficionados continues to serve Beverly Hills hospitality in its own unique and delicious way.
