“Heart of LA Democratic Club Criticizes City Council Over Abortion Controversy”

[Issues #1250 and 1251]

In [the Issue #1250 cover story] it states: "DuPont Clinic offers elective abortions during the third trimester through 31 weeks and six days gestation."

What the article failed to mention is that California's law on abortion, only permits abortions up to fetal viability or 24 to 26 weeks, not the almost 31 weeks of the DuPont Clinic. Therefore, the DuPont Clinic would be breaking the Calif. abortion law and the Democratic Club is guilty of advocating breaking the Calif. law on abortion.

Moreover, if [landlord] Douglas Emmett, Inc. and the City of Beverly Hills allowed the DuPont Clinic to open, they would be guilty of conspiring to break the Calif. law on abortion.

Thus, both Douglas Emmett, Inc. and the City of Beverly Hills did the right and legal thing in not allowing the DuPont Clinic to open.

I read with great curiosity your cover story from [Issue #1250] and a follow-up letter in [Issue #1251], which falsely attributed the organizing action of local activists calling for an investigation into collusion between city officials and far-right anti-choice activists and legislating protecting women's reproductive rights to the Heart of LA Democratic Club (HLA), of which I am president.

I listened to the recording of the meeting, and not a single speaker identified themselves as speaking on behalf of HLA. Nor did I recognize the vast majority of the 30 or so names of people who submitted written comments before the noon deadline. It is therefore odd to me that your publication would attribute the action as having been organized by HLA, when there was no evidence to support that assertion. In reality, the action was actually organized by a passionate group of locals, which I would have been happy to confirm had anyone reached out to me or the club for comment. We were alerted to the issue by them, and simply encouraged our members to add their voices - as it is our Constitutional right under the First Amendment to petition our government.

That being said, the fight for reproductive freedom and reproductive justice is always one we're willing to have. We welcome all Democrats - regardless of their gender identity - to join us.

Lindsay G. Carlson
Heart of LA Democratic Club President
Los Angeles

In response to the 'Letter to the Editor' [in Issue #1251], entitled "Heart of LA Democratic Club Criticizes City Council Over Abortion Controversy", I would like to clarify the information from the original article as well as respond to the misinformation that the author asserts.

My letter is long. As I researched information on the phrase 'late term abortion' and the effects on reproductive care in a post-Roe world, I learned a lot. I hope that readers will read through this letter and perhaps do their own research to understand the complexities and challenges that this decision has thrust on women, medical professionals, and others.

Addressing the first point, the original article from issue #1250 inaccurately stated "that activists from Heart of LA Democratic Club criticized the City Council at Tuesday's meeting regarding DuPont Clinic, an all-trimester abortion clinic in Beverly Hills."

To clarify, I was one of the residents that made a statement that evening regarding the rescinding of the DuPont Clinic lease. I am not a member of Heart of LA Democratic Club nor were the other speakers. It is my understanding that the Heart of LA Democrats had highlighted the opportunity to speak at the City Council Meeting regarding DuPont Clinic and Reproductive Rights in a newsletter to members. They were not involved in any formal organizing. To be clear, the statements and sentiments made by me and the other residents that evening were strictly our own.

The statements that the author of the 'letter to the editor', issue #1251 made about 'late term procedures' are misleading and inaccurate.

According to the California Health and Safety Code:

'California only limits abortions after the point of viability, which is when a physician determines based on a good-faith medical judgment that there is a reasonable likelihood the fetus can survive outside the uterus without extraordinary medical measures. Abortions can only be performed after the point of viability if a physician determines based on a good-faith medical judgment that continuing the pregnancy would pose a risk to the life or health of the pregnant person. These determinations are individual to the person and their situation.'

To correct another misleading comment; it is the position of many major and respected organizations such as the ACOG (American College of Obstetrics and Gynecologists) that the fetus can't feel pain until at least 24-25 weeks.

Further clarification regarding 'late term abortion': The phrase 'late term abortion' is misleading. The procedure is generally performed during the latter part of the second trimester approximately during the 21st to 24th week of gestation. Anti-abortionists purposely use the term to confuse and alarm the public.

The latest findings from CDC (Centers for Disease Control and Prevention) and the Guttmacher Institute, a leading research organization suggests that approximately 1.1% to 1.3% of abortions were performed at or greater than 21 weeks of • Research has long indicated that abortion bans have the greatest impact on people in marginalized groups <<https://www.gutmacher.org/2023/01/inequity-us-abortion-rights-and-access-end-roe-deepening-existing-divides>> who already struggle to access health care, including abortion.

• Fetal health issues that are often serious or fatal cannot be medically determined until the third trimester leading to catastrophic situations and challenges facing the mother.

• Significant health issues develop later in the pregnancy that risk the life of the mother and/or the fetus.

• Obstacles for women seeking abortion procedures earlier in their pregnancy lead women seeking these services to be forced to terminate later than desired.

The reasons are the following: Abortion procedures are greatly restricted or banned in the states that they live; Unable to receive the necessary approvals from doctors in time to meet the policy cut off restrictions; Have families and jobs that limit their availability to travel to a state where the procedure is legal; And do not have the financial resources to travel out of state to receive the safe medical treatment needed.

Fourth- [The letter's] statement referring to 'deference given to any political party of affiliated clubs to be avoided' has already been proven inaccurate since the Heart Of LA Democrats neither influenced any of the statements that evening and certainly did nothing to change the outcome for the DuPont Clinic. In addition, it appears that the City of Beverly Hills did give deference to a political party and club. An anti-abortion group called "The Survivors of the Abortion Holocaust" petitioned and met with one or more of our city officials with demands to close DuPont Clinic before it opened leading to the rescinding of DuPont's lease. It is a fair guess that the anti-abortion extremist group aligns with our current Republican Party's platform and not with The Democratic Party.

In conclusion, it is the author's first amendment right to refer to a 'late term abortion' procedure as "murder". It is my right to remind the author and the readers that those are sentiments and not facts. This country stands by the rule of law and abortion is legal in California up to the point of viability. It is not for you or me to decide that fact based on personal ideology. In 2022, Californians voted to leave that personal decision in the hands of the mother and the medical professionals.

For too long, anti-abortionists propagate disinformation and false narratives to gain support for their agenda to not only limit but to end reproductive freedom in our country. This subject of abortion will continue to be debated. It is a very sensitive and personal subject that I do not take lightly. I realize that many people reading this letter will disagree and may be offended. I will take that chance because I will no longer be silent while facts are distorted and a minority of Americans who have strong ideological beliefs are forcing their values on others. I say with all sincerity, I hope that no woman or young girl close to you ever finds themselves in these tragic circumstances and are forced to face these dire challenges. They are entitled to the option of receiving safe medical care. They deserve our empathy, not our judgment nor our malice.

Judge Rules in Favor of Nonprofit Over Housing Plan

Beverly Hills has submitted an updated plan, but Californians for Homeownership, a nonprofit housing group, brought a suit against the city as a way to force the issue into the courts.

Following a September 12 hearing, a judge granted the organization's petition for writ of mandate, finding that Beverly Hills had not complied with its legal duty to plan for housing under the regional housing needs allocation (RHNA) and housing element system.

The organization first sued the city over its housing element in January. The city amended its housing element in February, and the lawsuit was amended to challenge the new version.

State law requires housing elements to identify sites that are likely to be developed into housing over an eight-year period. For sites with existing uses, such as office buildings, cities must provide evidence that the existing uses will be discontinued during that time, according to the nonprofit. It is alleged that Beverly Hills has not complied with these obligations.

"This is a milestone decision in state housing law," President Jennifer Branchini said. "For far too long, cities and counties have used unrealistic and underdeveloped housing plans to skirt around state planning rules. This case proves that the Legislature's recent improvements to housing element law go a long way toward solving this problem, so long as these new laws are vigorously enforced."

The nonprofit claimed that the City's 2013-2021 allocation was just three units. And that recent changes have made the RHNA allocation process more robust, and the City was assigned a 2021-2029 RHNA of 3,104 units, including 1,688 units of housing for low and very low-income households.

It was further alleged that the city shifted its approach and chose to identify "broad swaths" of the commercial corridors as potential sites for housing, even though most of these sites contain established office and cultural uses that have "little potential: for residential development by 2029, according to the nonprofit.

The nonprofit also claimed that the city "drastically" overcounted the development potential on these sites, using a calculation method that assumed that the existing buildings on all of the sites will be replaced with ground-up residential developments, at the maximum density allowed by law.

In opposing the lawsuit, the city argued that it was entitled to "broad discretion" in crafting its housing element, despite "recent changes to state law designed to limit that discretion," according to the nonprofit.

"Approximately 60% of the residential units in the City of Beverly Hills are rental units and in excess of 40% of those rental units are occupied by lower income individuals. Thus, Beverly Hills was one of the State's earlier adopters of rent stabilization. As a consequence, the City's Housing Element directs new residential development to commercial areas," Beverly Hills City Attorney Larry Wiener said.

The City has appealed the decision.

"The City has established a mixed-use zone in order to direct new development away from multi-family areas to preserve rent stabilized units and avoid displacing tenants. Additionally, the City is working with the State Department of Housing and Community Development to further revise its housing element," Wiener said.

The nonprofit has filed lawsuits against a total of 10 Southern California cities claiming they violated state laws that require cities to plan for the development of housing.

Planning Commission to Discuss Mixed Use Overlay Zone

At their Thursday meeting the Planning Commission is expected to discuss a draft ordinance to amend the municipal code to change the maximum density calculation applicable to residential conversion projects in the Mixed Use Overlay Zone.

The proposed amendment to the Mixed Use Overlay Zone regulations would allow a residential conversion project to utilize the minimum unit size of 500 square feet to determine the maximum number of units allowed to be created within a conversion project, in which an existing commercial building located within the zone may be converted to a mixed use project.

The proposed density calculation would be applied to a residential conversion project by taking the existing building floor area, minus the ground floor footprint and dividing this by the minimum unit size, 500 square feet. The existing floor area would be determined after non-residential floor area is defined and the ground floor footprint would not be included, as the regulations generally require that this area is used for commercial uses only.

This differs from the existing maximum density calculation, which allows one dwelling unit per 550 square feet of lot area, according to the staff report. However, the proposed change would allow a conversion project to maximize the number of units that are able to be created within an existing commercial building.

On Nov. 17, 2020, the City Council adopted an ordinance to establish standards to guide future mixed use development proposals along specific commercial corridors within the C-3 Commercial Zone.

At their July 18 meeting, the City Council reviewed the progress of the implementation thus far, and discussed whether the regulations should be modified in the future. As part of this discussion, city staff identified an existing issue in the conversion section, as it does not allow existing buildings to calculate density based on the existing building envelope, rather than the size of the property.

The Council provided direction to develop a draft amendment of the regulations in order to allow the use of the minimum unit size of 500 square feet to calculate the maximum density allowed for conversion projects.

The Planning Commission is expected to discuss the draft ordinance and possibly recommend approval to the City Council.

Board Approves New JPA Agreement

The Board of Education approved the Joint Powers Agreement (JPA), with the City, at Tuesday's meeting.

The Joint Powers Agreement specifies mutual responsibilities, uses, and compensation, which has typically been termed for up to four years.

The City will make annual payments to the BHUSD in the following amounts:

- FY 23/24: $13,700,000
- FY 24/25: $14,100,000
- FY 25/26: $14,500,000

Each year also includes $300,000 for Crossing Guard reimbursement.

The City Council also previously approved an amendment to the JPA with the BHUSD for the first quarter of fiscal year 2023-24 and approved the purchase order for just under $3 million. The purpose of the amendment was to extend the current agreement for one quarter while negotiations for a three-year agreement take place.

BHUSD Board members and Council Liaisons have been meeting to discuss the terms of the agreement as well as the funding request brought forward by the District. The former JPA expired on June 30 but the amendment extended the current JPA until Sept. 30.

The City Council is expected to approve the agreement at its meeting next Councilmember Lili Bosse, Vice Mayor Les Friedman, Consul General Israel Bachar, Mayor Julian Gold, Councilmember John Mirisch, and Councilmember Sharona Nazarian.

Citywide Electrical Resilience Committee to Hold Second Meeting

The Mayor's Citywide Electrical Resilience was expected to hold its second meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 27 to discuss moving forward in identifying key solutions for different community segments.

The discussion was planned to take place after the Weekly's deadline.

The purpose of this Committee is to identify and examine ways for the City to become more resilient on energy due to the growing demand for power.

The Aug. 30 kickoff meeting included review of an evaluation criteria matrix ranking. After that meeting each Committee member completed the matrix indicating Committee priorities.

Electricity resilience and reliability are expected to be the highest priorities to the Committee, with renewable energy and reduction of carbon footprint also being high priorities. Bill savings and various types of power sales to the broader grid are ranked lower, according to the staff report.

Results indicate that alternative energy development is a priority for the City, but not at the 'expense of resilience and reliability.' Which indicates other energy sources, such as diesel backup generation, could be an option, possible in an emergency situation or for sites where businesses and residences are more vulnerable in an outage situation and where 'installation of solar is not feasible,' according to the staff report.

The Committee was also expected to provide input on moving forward with incorporating a Resiliency Audit Program into the Committee's final plan., which is expected to reveal risks in the event of electricity loss, as well as identify opportunities to mitigate the worst impacts of an electricity outage through critical loads, threats to service loss, and potential for installation.

Item Pulled That Would Have Hired Samadi as Bullying Parent Liaison

The Board of Education pulled a professional services agreement with Elham Samadi to work as a Parent Liaison to address bullying Districtwide, at Tuesday's meeting.

The item was pulled from the agenda and not approved. Board President Noah Margo, Board Vice President Mandy Stern, and Board member Rachelle Marcus voted to pull the item.

Board members Mary Wells and Judy Manouchehri voted against pulling the item.

During Board Comment, Marcus, who attended the meeting virtually, said she was not ready to vote on the item because the full description was not read out loud when the item was pulled. Marcus said that although she voted yes to pull the item, she actually meant to vote no, and just wanted to clear the record.

"It was pulled before I could even realize what I was voting for," Marcus said.

Manouchehri requested to amend the agenda during the public comment period so that the board could subsequently "vote the other way now" because "it would be a good idea to do so that [the board] can move on with [other] business," Manouchehri said.

Since the item was removed from the agenda, Margo said that item cannot be brought back. But the item would be on the agenda at the next meeting.

"Anything can be undone through an amendment. It is not like it disappeared into thin air," Manouchehri said.

Wells then questioned that since Marcus was unaware what the Board was voting on, what other options they could do before adjourning the meeting.

Margo clarified that there is room for comments and questions during the time the motion is made to approve the agenda.

"Like any other motion, I gave it its fair due. Since the agenda is approved already, you cannot add things," Margo said.

Mary then questioned again on what the protocol is as Marcus was attending the meeting via Zoom.

"You cannot bring the vote back to the table. You can bring it back to another agenda, but not this one," Margo said.

The contract would have had Samadi work as a parent liaison to address bullying districtwide. It would have establish a referral system for therapy for families that need support; establish community support groups among parents; provide parent education seminars on bullying; facilitate community centered outreach by "empowering parent groups to address community members; form a task force to assist parents and known families with issues related to bullying; and provide emergency MFT services."

Superintendent Michael Bregy revealed the idea for a Parent Liaison came from the Behavior and Accountability Advisory Panel. Samadi is a member of that committee.

Earlier in the meeting, Margo expressed

LACO's 2023-24 Season to Open At the Wallis Sept. 30

Los Angeles Chamber Orchestra opens its Chamber Series with a program curated by Concertmaster and Director of Chamber Music Margaret Batjer.

You are involved in three separate LACO concerts at The Wallis in conjunction with LACO's 2023-24 season opening concert on Sept. 30. Tell us about that.

We're so happy to be in this collaboration with The Wallis, because it's such a great hall and such a needed hall across the city. It's so wonderful to be able to play three concerts this year. I basically curate this series - meaning that I design the programs. I cast the programs and try to come up with concepts both in our chamber music programs and our Baroque series that have some commonality between the different programs and the chamber music program. The Baroque programs this year were especially fun for me because I decided to focus on two really great pianists living today, Anne-Marie McDermott and Marc-André Hamelin, who are just fantastic chamber musicians and collaborators.

The first program that we are doing is an interesting mixture of composers. Samuel Coleridge-Taylor was the first of his kind. He was a British born, mixed race composer, born in 1875, and he died very early, which definitely impacted his output of scores and music. But he was a violinist and composer. When he came to America, they called him the 'African Mahler.' So his music is very rich in texture. Edward Elgar helped his career because at the time it was very difficult for Black skinned, mixed race composers to get onto the main concert stages. It was unusual for a composer to not be a white male [at that time]. He really did make a lot of inroads into concert life both in England and when he came to America. This Clarinet Quintet that we're doing is one of his more major works. It's actually a long piece. It's 30 minutes in length. It's a beautiful, complex and compelling work. Brahms wrote his clarinet quintet, which was a major work in the Czech music repertoire. Clearly, Coleridge-Taylor was inspired by that work because he wrote his clarinet quintet directly after Brahms wrote his. So there had to be a lot of inspiration from that other clarinet quintet, which is one of the great works in the repertoire. We're really thrilled to be able to put that work on our program.

Lineage is so interesting to me in terms of composers who have children or relatives who take on their role of being a composer. Coleridge-Taylor's daughter, Avril Coleridge-Taylor, became a composer and unfortunately for her, she suffered some of the same injustices as her father and even wrote under a male synonym for some of her works because it was hard to get her works played. But her children have been great champions of her, composed of her works. They found boxes of music from her works that were actually never performed. So there's kind of a renaissance for her. And in some ways a basis based on the renaissance of her father's works being played much more regularly on the concert stages. So those two together make a wonderful combination, a deal for flute and piano and then the clarinet quintet.

In the second half is a Chausson. I've always had a great opportunity for his music. I find it so fascinating. His life was interesting and he didn't become a composer until very late in life. His father came from a wealthy family. His father insisted that he go to law school, but he held on to this belief that [he has] to write music. He, of course, played organ and piano as a young boy, but he didn't really start writing music and studying at the Conservatoire until he was almost 26 years old. So he really had a thirst and a very interesting harmonic language, very chromatic in a way, and lyrical. His music is extremely dramatic, and this piece, particularly the concerto for Violin Piano and String Quartet, which is in itself a very unusual combination for a chamber music piece, is almost in a way like a concerto grosso. It's the solo parts, the violin and the piano part sort of sit together. And then the String Quartet is more like the concerto grosso part. So it is one of the most difficult pieces in all of the piano literature. And we are just so excited to welcome back Anne-Marie McDermott to LACO. She hasn't been here for many years and she is one of the most wonderful and prolific performers of solo and chamber music concerts. She's the artistic director of the Bravo Vail Valley Music Festival. She's a very powerful performer and musician. So that is our program for September [and] October.

"I really do hope that everyone enjoys these three concerts because I particularly have enjoyed programming this season, and I think it's a rich and varied program of all of these great works"

You are Los Angeles Chamber Orchestra's Concertmaster and Director of Chamber Music. Tell us about that.

I've been at LACO for 24 years. I can't keep count anymore. And when I came, I had never been in an orchestra. I joined the orchestra very late. I think I was probably close to 40 years old and I had been mainly playing chamber music and solo works and teaching a little bit. When I had children, I decided I needed to find something locally, something in Los Angeles that would give me a nice base instead of traveling nine or ten months out of the year. When the opening for concertmaster of the Chamber Orchestra came open, I decided to take it. And it's been a really amazing ride for me. I have loved every minute. I love my colleagues. I was hired by our former music director Jeffrey Kahane who is a wonderful friend, colleague and pianist and music director. Now I am working with Jaime Martin, who is our new music director. I can't say enough great things about him. He's just so much fun to play for and such a great music director. Many years ago, they decided to start a chamber music series and they asked me to be the director of that. Chamber music being part of my main background [made it] a very nice fit for me. I have enjoyed it so much over the 15 years.

We started with a series called Westside Connections, which was a series on the West Side at the Broad Stage. The reason it was called Westside Connections was because I decided to do a series with 'music and something,' in other words, music in the brain or music and food or music and some other artistic discipline at work. And we had guest speakers. It was a fascinating series which went on for many years. And then we changed it to other things. We've gone through different venues and now it's just basically a straight ahead chamber music series, not based on anything other than trying to give a platform to our wonderful musicians to go out on the stage and shine on their own. When you play in an orchestra, you're one of several in a section. And this gives a lot of our members an opportunity to play some great works of chamber music and really bring the light on to them.

What do you hope to accomplish this season?

We are an orchestra that doesn't have a home. Orchestral series are split between the Alex theater on the east side and then Royce Hall on the West Side. We want to expand our chamber music to the West Side and really welcome some of these new audiences. I think The Wallis is one of the most interesting and one of the great halls that we have in the city. I think it's a perfect size hall for chamber music because it's not large enough for an entire orchestra, but the acoustics lend itself very well to chamber music and all our programs. Expanding our audience base is one of the most important things for us. Getting people that perhaps have not gone to any LACO concerts at Royce Hall, it gives them an opportunity to become familiar with our musicians and our mission.

In terms of the Baroque program that's coming to The Wallis, it's really thrilling to be able to have Thomas Bauer, the wonderful bass singer who we've never had at LACO. This will be his debut. And it's such a beautiful program of all Bach, which is at the heart of our orchestra. It's the DNA of our orchestra. I think that's going to be a really special program. I really do hope that everyone enjoys these three concerts because I particularly have enjoyed programming this season, and I think it's a rich and varied program of all of these great works.

FBI SUED AFTER ALLEGEDLY LOSING HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS IN RARE COINS DURING RAID IN BEVERLY HILLS

Security Deposit Box Renters Demand FBI Return Missing Property

By Danielle Berjikian

The Institute for Justice filed two lawsuits Friday on behalf of clients who had property seized from their safety deposit boxes in a March 2021, FBI raid on U.S. Private Vaults, a Beverly Hills-based company that was located at 9182 West Olympic Blvd.

According to the Institute for Justice, Don Mellein was never accused of a crime, but his security deposit box was seized in the FBI raid. They allege that after the government gave up on trying to take his savings, it failed to return 63 precious metal coins worth more than $100,000.

It is further alleged that the same thing happened to Jeni Pearsons and her husband Michael Storc. The FBI returned some of their property, but not the $2,000 cash they stored below a liner in their box, according to the suit.

In each instance, the FBI claimed there was no property to return and said it had done nothing wrong by failing to return it, the institute alleges.

The plaintiffs are filing separate lawsuits demanding that their coins and cash be returned.

“If normal people are held accountable for stealing or losing your property, then the government should be, too,” IJ attorney Joe Gay said. “Don, Jeni, and Michael did nothing wrong. The government never should have broken into their safe-deposit boxes, but once it did, it became responsible for keeping their property safe. If it doesn’t give it back, there must be a legal remedy.”

The three plaintiffs rented security deposit boxes from US Private Vaults. They claim that they were unaware that the business was being investigated by the FBI. After the raid, they received notices stating that the government was seeking to keep their property through civil forfeiture, according to the Institute.

Plaintiff Jeni Pearsons

“After effectively proving his own innocence, the government gave up on forfeiting Don’s savings. But the FBI did not return 110 gold coins stored in the box. In fact, the FBI’s inventory receipt for his box did not list any coins. But after Don sued, agents conveniently “discovered” 47 of the coins that had gone missing and returned them,” according to a statement from Institute for Justice.

The class action lawsuit further alleges that the agent in charge of forfeitures testified that months before seeking a warrant for the raid, the FBI had already planned to try to take any box with property worth more than $5,000 using civil forfeiture. And that the FBI sought forfeiture of more than $85 million in cash and tens of millions of dollars’ worth of precious metals, jewelry, and poker chips.

“Unfortunately, civil forfeiture creates a powerful incentive for law enforcement to seize money since the proceeds flow into accounts that are controlled by the agencies, not Congress,” IJ Senior attorney Rob Frommer said. “Law enforcement does not have to convict or even charge someone with a crime to take property. It’s a flawed system that turns citizens into ATMs.”

A federal judge ruled two years ago that the search and seizure was constitutional. The now-defunct company was fined over $1 million last year for money laundering after admitting it sought drug traffickers and other criminals as customers who would keep cash that was obtained illegally in their deposit boxes.

According to the criminal indictment, U.S. Private Vaults was raided by the FBI who broke open boxes, seizing drugs, firearms and large amounts of gold bullion and cash, as well as other valuables, from about 396 of the rented boxes.

Many box holders have denied criminal culpability and were able to successfully petition to have their property returned.

FBI spokesperson Laura Eimiller declined to comment due to a policy regarding not speaking on pending litigation. However, they provided the following statement issued by the Los Angeles office previously in response to reporting on court rulings in this case:

“Today’s District Court ruling makes it clear that agents investigating criminal activity at U.S. Private Vaults did not mislead the court and affirms the FBI’s position that the investigation was conducted without malice and in a manner consistent with the law, FBI policies and the U.S. Constitution. As a result of the investigation, U.S. Private Vaults, Inc. pleaded guilty to conspiring with its customers to launder money. From the outset, FBI Agents outlined evidence of widespread criminal wrongdoing in court filings while establishing a simple procedure to return safeguarded contents to box holders who were not otherwise subject to asset forfeiture. The FBI stands by its ongoing investigation of U.S. Private Vaults, a business that criminally facilitated drug trafficking and money laundering, and which allowed customers to store their criminal proceeds anonymously in safe deposit boxes. As the court’s comprehensive ruling today makes clear, claims made by the plaintiffs’ attorneys and amplified in news reports are not supported by the facts.”

collection, captured in Los Angeles through the lens of photographer David Sims.

“We are excited for the launch of the Rodeo Drive Celebrates Timepieces and Fine Jewelry event which pays homage to the brilliant craftsmanship of designers whose shops call Rodeo Drive home,” Mayor Julian Gold said. “Once again, the Rodeo Drive Committee has put together an exciting event which will inspire everyone to experience the luxury Rodeo Drive has to offer.”

Sixty Hotel Requesting Rooftop Permit

The Sixty Hotel has requested an extended hours permit to reauthorize operations of hotel rooftop facilities and to reauthorize operation of the rooftop space during extended hours at 9360 Wilshire Boulevard.

On Oct. 12, 2021, the City Council renewed entitlements for operations on the hotel’s rooftop. The applicant did not formally accept the conditions of approval and the entitlements are no longer valid. The applicant has now requested new entitlements to reauthorize rooftop operations, and requested minor modifications to the previously approved conditions, according to the staff report.

Specifically, the entitlements include a permit to allow outdoor recreation and dining facilities, as well as to allow an increase

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of AUSTEENE GEORGE COOPER

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Kristi Courtois in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Kristi Courtois be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Oct. 2, 2023 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 2D located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Any information obtained may be used for that purpose. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (800) 758-8052 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site - www.Xome.com - for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case: 149555. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (800) 758-8052 for information regarding the trustee's sale, or visit this internet website www.Xome.com for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case 149555 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.
